$900,000 Given by Legge for Farmers

FOUNDATION SET UP WITH LOWDEN AS CHAIRMAN

Aim Is Co-operation and Research.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

Farmers of the United States as a whole will be the principal beneficiaries of the estate of Alexander Legge, president of the International Harvester company and former chairman of the federal farm board, who died last Sunday.

Mr. Legge, a son of a farmer of Dane county, Wisconsin, and himself a farmhand before he turned to selling agricultural implements, has left the sum of $500,000, the principal bequest of his will, to an organization of his own creation known as the farm foundation, it was disclosed yesterday. The avowed purpose of the foundation is "to improve the social, cultural, and economic conditions of rural life."

Earlier Gift of $400,000.

Announcement of the bequest and of the fact that Mr. Legge had already given $400,000 to the foundation prior to his death came from his friend, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois. Mr. Lowden is to be chairman of the board of trustees of the foundation.

Twenty capitalists, industrialists, educators, and farm leaders of the country have shared with Mr. Legge in planning the purpose and contributing to the financing of the foundation, Mr. Lowden said, although Mr. Legge was its moving spirit. With his last bequest bringing his total contribution to $900,000, the success and usefulness of the foundation, Mr. Lowden said, are now assured.

Awaiting Additional Gifts.

"The Farm foundation was organized only recently," Mr. Lowden announced, "and it was intended to defer any public announcement until all those active in its organization had made their contributions to the initial endowment. Now that the sudden and untimely death of Mr. Legge has disclosed his great interest in the project, a statement of the board of trustees seems appropriate.

"For many years Mr. Legge felt the need of some agency free from local or political considerations which could act as a clearing house and testing ground of ideas for the improvement of farm conditions and farm life, and encourage experimentation and coöperative effort along sound lines.

Ample Endowment Needed.

"Such an agency should be adequately endowed and equipped to carry on research and educational work and directed by trustees chosen for their diversified experience, recognized ability, and interest in farm problems.

"The same need was voiced in the report of the business men's committee appointed in 1927 to study agricultural conditions, by joint action of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the National Industrial Conference board.

"While Mr. Legge was developing interest in this plan, another group in New York, in which Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey and George McDonald were active, had reached the same conclusion.

Trust Agreement Executed.

"The result was the formation of the organization committee which formulated a plan along the lines suggested by Mr. Legge and the setting up of the farm foundation by execution of a trust agreement.

"The governing body is a board of twenty-one members, seven to be chosen at large and the other fourteen to be classified and chosen as experienced in and representative of farming, manufacture, merchandising, transportation, finance, the farm press, the radio, and the state universities maintaining agricultural departments.

Hope to Help Solve Problems.

"The foundation is permanent and it is the hope of the founders that it may become a helpful factor contributing over the years to the solution of many problems affecting the welfare of the farming and rural population of our country.

"Its field, which is not duplicated by any other existing foundation, is broad, covering any social, educational, economic or cultural problems of interest to any substantial portion of the rural population and including the sound coördination of the agricul-

MURDER WARRANT FOR ALLEGED LEADER OF ST. JOSEPH LYNCHING

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 6.—(AP)—A warrant charging first degree murder was issued here tonight for John Zook, a former St. Joseph policeman held in connection with the lynching last Tuesday night of Lloyd Warner, 19 year old Negro who confessed attacking a young white woman.

Zook, according to the charges, is the man who poured gasoline on the Negro's body after it had been strung up to a tree near the jail, where the mob obtained possession of him after a three hour battle.

Zook will be arraigned tomorrow. A packing plant employé, Zook denied he participated in the lynching. Officers said, however, he had been identified by witnesses as a mob leader.

CHICAGO POLICE BRINGING TOUHY GANGSTERS BACK

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, and a heavily armed squad slipped out of St. Paul last night with Roger Touhy and three other hoodlums to bring them to Chicago to stand trial for the kidnaping of John Factor, millionaire speculator.

The Chicago policemen arrived in St. Paul earlier in the night and guarded carefully their plans for the removal of the gangsters. Minnesota police remained with them. The officers then contrived to remove the prisoners from the county jail, where they had been held for many weeks, to the public safety building. It was not long afterward that the entire group departed, evading newspaper men and others who had been watching.

Where they went or how they went was not made known except that the destination was Chicago. With Touhy were Gus Schafer, Eddie McFadden, and Albert (Poly Nose) Kator. Willie Sharkey, who was also to have been removed here, hanged himself in the jail last week. Sharkey, Touhy, McFadden, and Schafer were acquitted two wekes ago of the kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., wealthy brewer.

State's Attorney Courtney announced that he would ask the government to delay the extradition of Factor to England until he has testified in the kidnaping trial. The United States Supreme court has ordered that Factor be sent to England to be tried for the alleged swindling of British investors.

Horner Acts; Liquor Control Bill Is Rushed

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner tonight called upon the legislature for action on a liquor control bill and the house of representatives responded in speedy fashion during the course of a stormy session which ended at midnight.

Seventy-five amendments to the state commission bill were considered by the house and most of these were adopted as the bill was advanced to third reading.

In the senate Harold G. Ward's home rule bill with the backing of the Cook county Democratic bloc likewise was passed to third reading, a roll call revealing twenty-four votes in favor of the measure with seventeen against it.

Adopt Important Amendments.

An attempt by the Cook county delegation to eliminate the state commission from the house bill, which was drawn up by a house committee of fifteen, met with defeat earlier in the day.

The labeling of all whisky containing less than 75 per cent of more than four year old distillate as "imitation whisky" likewise was approved by the lower house. This measure was fathered by Representative William W. Powers [Dem., Chicago].

Representative Leroy Green [Rep., Rockford] introduced nine amendments imposing manufacturers' taxes on importing distributers. Earlier in the day the gallonage levies were cut in half, the tax on wine being reduced to 5 cents per gallon, while that on spirits was cut to 25 cents per gallon.

Governor Sends Message.

Late tonight the governor sent the following message to the legislature:

"It is my privilege to call to your attention the proclamation issued on yesterday by the President of the United States. Every portion of this proclamation is of significance and of great import in connection with the subject of regulation and control of liquor at this time.

"May I call your attention particularly to the advice contained in the following paragraphs of this important and guiding message of the chief executive of the nation, viz:

"'I enjoin upon all citizens of the United States and upon others resident within the jurisdiction thereof to coöperate with the government in its endeavor to restore greater respect for law and order by confining such purchases of alcoholic beverages as they may make solely to those dealers or agencies which have been duly licensed by state or federal license.

President Asks Support.

"'I ask the wholehearted coöperation of all our citizens to the end that this return of individual freedom shall not be accompanied by the repugnant conditions obtained prior to the adoption of the eighteenth amendment and those that have existed since its adoption. Failure to do this honestly and courageously will be a living reproach to us all.

"'I ask especially that no state shall by law or otherwise authorize the return of the saloon, either in its old form or in some modern guise.

"'The objective we seek through a national policy is the education of every citizen towards a greater temperance throughout the nation.'

"It is because I realize the problem before you is a difficult one that I have taken the liberty of calling to your attention for your guidance and earnest consideration these expressions of the President's proclamation."

DRY EDITOR STARTS TO GET WET; THEN PROVES HIS POINT

Rockingham, N. C., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Scott M. Thomas, editor of the Richmond County Journal, published his own account of being arrested for being drunk in this week's edition of his paper.

Appearing on the front page under a double column head reading "Richmond Journal Editor Goes Wet; Lands in Jail," the story said:

"Scott M. Thomas, dry co-editor of the Richmond County Journal, mixed South Carolina corn liquor and Pennsylvania beer, drank too much of both and landed in jail here a few minutes after midnight Saturday.

"He remained incarcerated two hours, being bailed out by a friend at 2 a. m. Sunday. In Mayor's court yesterday he was taxed with the costs, $5.85. He was charged with being drunk, but from general reports he could have been charged also with being disorderly."

The story winds up with the assertion that "an editor who won't put his own misfortune in print has no right to publish another's."

FARM CHIEFS' ROW IS SETTLED BY ROOSEVELT

Peek's Radical Aid Protest Rejected.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was called upon tonight to settle a major dispute within his official family—whether Secretary Wallace or George N. Peek of Illinois shall direct the agricultural adjustment administration.

GEORGE N. PEEK.

Mr. Peek went to the White House tonight at the request of the President after having delivered to Secretary Wallace a virtual ultimatum that he must have a freer hand in the conduct of the AAA or he would quit.

The issue which brought the President into the dispute was the flat stand taken by Mr. Peek that he would resign unless Secretary Wallace or the President remove Jerome Frank, counsel for the AAA.

White House Statement.

"Following a conference tonight with Secretary Wallace, George Peek, and Gen. Johnson, the President authorized the statement that, for the purpose of coördination, all codes under the NRA, including those under negotiations by the AAA, will be turned over to the administrator of the NRA."

This would appear to indicate that the President has turned the authority over to Gen. Johnson, though reports also indicated that he leaned toward the brain trusters and against Peek.

Opposed to Radical Wing.

Mr. Frank was appointed by Secretary Wallace at the suggestion of Prof. Felix Frankfurter of the Harvard Law school, and preceded Mr. Peek in the administration.

Mr. Peek was appointed AAA administrator, however, at the specific request of the President. He made known his position to Secretary Wallace before the latter's departure for Warm Springs recently and, although Administrator Peek was invited to discuss the point of difference with the chief executive at the "Little White House" he declined the invitation.

The controversy was not so much between Mr. Peek and the secretary as between Mr. Peek and what is known as the "radical wing" of the adjustment administration, headed by Assistant Secretary Tugwell and Mr. Frank.

Differed on Program.

The argument also involves differences of opinion as to the manner in which the farm recovery program should be administered.

Secretary Wallace is known to regret that the differences between his subordinates could not be composed without placing the matter before the President. But he will not request the resignation of Mr. Frank or compromise his views respecting agriculture and the best way of bringing about farm recovery.)

Moreover, the issue was whether the AAA is to continue to be a part of the department of agriculture, with Secretary Wallace in charge, or an independent agency such as the old farm board with complete authority vested in Mr. Peek.

Secretary Wallace would be unwilling to continue as secretary of agriculture if deprived of the reins of agricultural recovery, and is believed to have advised the President of this position when he visited the White House this evening shortly before the arrival of Mr. Peek.

Food Processing Involved.

The controversy had its roots in the stand by Messrs. Frank, Tugwell, and others that the farm program, to be successful, must include strict government control over food processing industries.

This would be obtained through marketing agreements with all processors and distributors and would extend even to the profits of business, salaries and executives and expenditures for various purposes.

For this reason, and because Mr. Peek is uncompromisingly opposed to restricting business profits, his opposition has extended to all the "radi-

Three Couples Lose $7,500 to a Holdup Gang

Two members of the Board of Trade and the president of a steel company and their wives were held up on the south side by three men last night and robbed of approximately $7,500 worth of jewels and other valuables. One of the women saved two rings valued at $4,500 by dropping them to the street unnoticed by the gunmen.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell Hutchins of the Drake Tower apartments, 179 Lake Shore drive; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Rycroft of 6735 Oglesby avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Thoresen, of 2231 East 67th street.

Mr. Hutchins is a grain broker. Mrs. Hutchins is the former Mrs. Ann Clore Thorne. Mr. Rycroft is a broker, the son of the late Herbert E. Rycroft, president of Bartlett, Frazier & Co.; Mr. Thoresen is president of the Great Western Steel company, 2300 West 58th street.

Bound for Live Stock Show.

The three couples were bound for the live stock show at the stockyards from the Rycroft home when they were held up.

The Hutchinses had picked up the Thoresens in their car and proceeded to the Rycroft home. Apparently they had been followed from the near north side by the bandits. After a short visit in the Rycroft home the three couples entered the Hutchins car, which was parked in front of 6718 Oglesby avenue.

As they were about to drive away three men stepped up to the car, two carrying revolvers and one carrying what appeared to be a sawed off shotgun. All held their coat collars high, masking their faces. The leader stepped up to Hutchins.

Ordered Out of Car.

"No yelling," he ordered. "Just keep your hands up and get out of the car."

Without a word or noticeable sign of fright the three women and men alighted as commanded. Mrs. Hutchins managed to slip two rings off her fingers and drop them in the gutter. Then she joined the others and raised her arms. The bandits worked swiftly. One tore a bracelet from Mrs. Rycroft's wrist and made her remove a ring. These two articles were valued at $5,300. Then the gunman turned to Mrs. Hutchins.

Gives Up $1,800 Coat.

Mrs. Hutchins took off her mink coat, valued at $1,800. She also surrendered her purse, worth $15 and containing $7. The same robber gave his attention to Mrs. Thoresen, but got nothing. Then he searched Mr. Hutchins and the other two men. From Mr. Hutchins he took $200, from Mr. Rycroft $110, and from Mr. Thoresen $20.

Then at a signal the three robbers jumped into their car and sped away. The Hutchinses, Thoresens, and Rycrofts hurried into the Rycroft home and called the police. They gave a list of their losses and a description of the bandits. The men, they said, were between 30 and 35 years old and well dressed. One wore a Derby hat.

PRESIDENT HITS AT LYNCHING AS GROUP 'MURDER'

Outlines His Creed to Churchmen.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt in an address here tonight before representatives of 22,000,000 Protestant churchmen of the country lashed lynching as a "vile form of collective murder." But the cure for lynching, he cautioned, does not lie in preachment but in reëstablishment of quick and certain justice.

The President's first pronouncement on lynch law had been reserved for the 25th anniversary meeting of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, composed of delegated representatives of 25 Protestant denominations.

Rebukes Lynch Law Supporters.

Without naming Gov. Rolph of California or other supporters of lynch law, President Roosevelt rebuked those who condone its practice.

"The new generation, for example, is not content with preachings against that vile form of collective murder—lynch law—which has broken out in our midst anew," the President declared. "We know that it is murder, and a deliberate and definite disobedience of the commandment 'Thou shalt not kill.' We do not excuse those in high places or in low who condone murder."

The President's rebuke of lynchers and their supporters was made in connection with an appeal to the churches on behalf of "the new generation," whose importance in setting up the new deal was stressed.

Seeks Support of Youth.

The President asked the church leaders to capitalize the energy of the new generation even though it may have rebelled against traditional forms of church life. He asserted that the new youth will give strong support to the fundamentals of social betterment, even though they may have deserted the outward requirements of the churches.

After reference to the birth of the Christian church in an early era of social stress, President Roosevelt pointed out that the goal of both the churches and the government should be toward what he termed "the abundant life." This goal as sought by Christianity through spiritual means, the President explained, is the same as is being sought by the new deal through social and economic means.

Refers to "Social Creed."

In this connection it is understood that President Roosevelt was referring to the famous "social creed" of the Federal Council of Churches and to the recent encyclical, "Quadragesimo Anno," of Pope Pius XI. as well. Following the address, federal council members asserted that the President had presented a "practical commentary" on the social aims of the churches as expressed in the council's social creed.

The President urged modern churchmen to emulate early Christians who challenged the pagan ethics of Greece and Rome. He asserted the readiness both of the government and the religious forces to join in the condemnation of pagan ethics which have carried on into present day life. The abundant life between all elements of the community, he said, will become more equitable when enlightened business judgment, the understanding of labor and intelligent agriculture are called to react against pagan elements in present society.

Create "Needed Union."

"I am honored," the President said, "by the privilege of speaking to the delegated representatives of twenty-five Christian denominations assembled here on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. In this quarter of a century you have surrendered no individual creed, but at the same time you have been creating a much needed union that seeks to better the social and moral conditions of all the people of America.

"During a quarter of a century more greatly controlled by the spirit of conquest and greed than any similar period since the American and the French revolutions you have survived and grown. You have come through to the threshold of a new era in which your churches and the other churches—gentile and Jew—recognize and stand ready to lead in a new war of peace—the war for social justice.

Gulf of Past Cited.

"Christianity was born in and of an era notable for the great gulf that separated the privileged from the underprivileged of the world of two thousand years ago—an era of lines of demarcation between conquerors and conquered; between caste and caste; between warring philosophies based on the theories of logicians rather than on practical humanities. The early churches were united in a social ideal.

"Although through all the centuries we know of many periods when civilization has slipped a step backward, yet I am confident that over the sum of the centuries we have gained many steps for every one we have lost.

"Now, once more, we are embarking on another voyage into the realm of human contacts. That human agency which we call government is seeking through social and economic means the same goal which the churches are seeking through social and spiritual means.

For "More Abundant Life."

"If I were asked to state the great objective which church and state are both demanding for the sake of every man and woman and child in this country, I would say that that great objective is 'a more abundant life.'

"The early Christians challenged the pagan ethics of Greece and of Rome; we are wholly ready to challenge the pagan ethics that are represented in many phases of our boasted modern civilization. We have called on enlightened business judgment, on understanding labor and on intelligent agriculture to provide a more equitable balance of the abundant life between all elements of the community.

"We recognize the right of the individual to seek aid to obtain his own fair wage, his own fair profit, in his own fair way—just so long as in the doing of it he shall not push down nor hold down his own neighbor. And at the same time, we are at one in calling for collective effort on broad lines of social planning—a collective effort which is wholly in accord with the social teachings of Christianity.

Tells Way to Help.

"This new generation of ours stands ready to help us. They may not be as ready as were their fathers and mothers to accept the outward requirements or even many of the ancient observances of the several churches, yet I truly believe that these same churches can find in them a stronger support for the fundamentals of social betterment than many of the older generation are willing to concede.

"This younger generation is not satisfied with the exposure of those in high places who seek to line their own nests with other people's money, to cheat their government of its just dues or to break the spirit of the law while observing its legalistic letter. This new generation seeks action—action by collective government and by individual education, toward the ending of practices such as these.

Makes Attack on Lynching.

"This new generation, for example, is not content with preaching against that vile form of collective murder—lynch law—which has broken out in our midst anew. We know that it is murder, and a deliberate and definite disobedience of the commandment, 'Thou shalt not kill.' We do not excuse those in high places or in low who condone lynch law.

"But a thinking America goes further. It seeks a government of its own that will be sufficiently strong to protect the prisoner and at the same time to crystallize a public opinion so clear that government of all kinds will be compelled to practice a more certain justice. The judicial function of government is the protection of the individual and of the community through quick and certain justice. That function in many places has fallen into a state of disrepair. It must be a part of our program to re-establish it.

Sees Time of "Great Gain."

"From the bottom of my heart I believe that this beloved country of ours is entering upon a time of great gain. That gain can well include a greater material prosperity if we take care that it is a prosperity for 120 million human beings and not a prosperity for the top of the pyramid alone. It can be a prosperity socially controlled for the common good. It can be a prosperity built on spiritual and social values rather than on special privilege and special power.

"Toward that new definition of prosperity the churches and the governments, while wholly separate in their functioning, can work hand in hand. Government can ask the churches to stress in their teaching the ideals of social justice, while at the same time government guarantees to the churches—Gentile and Jew—the right to worship God in their own way. The churches, while they remain wholly free from even the suggestion of interference in government, can at the same time teach their millions of followers that they have the right to demand of the government of their own choosing the maintenance and furtherance of 'a more abundant life.' State and church are rightly united in a common aim. With the help of God, we are on the road toward it."

Approves Recovery Program.

Dr. Albert W. Beaven of Rochester, N. Y., president of the federal council, in his anniversary address preceding the President's message to the council, declared that the national recovery program embodies Christian social ideals for which the churches long have struggled. Dr. Beaven asked the members of the constituent Protestant churches to give wholehearted and unselfish support to the coöperative enterprises initiated by the President.

The sessions of the council which continue through tomorrow, were opened this afternoon with an address by Dr. Albert W. Palmer, president of the Chicago Theological seminary. Dr. Palmer predicted that "a new sense of the reality and contemporaneousness of God is just about to burst upon the world." He said the prophets of this modern spiritual recovery are the philosophers and scientists, whose findings it has been which have thrown the common people out of joint with religion.

Bishop John L. Nuelsen of Zurich, Switzerland, a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, said Hitler has "turned the current that was sweeping Germany into the chaos of Godless communism." He said that the new Germany is a revolt of youth and asserted that "Hitler has put a new spirit into millions of hopeless, aimless, almost despondent young men and women."

Gov. Rolph Silent.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Gov. James Rolph Jr., who voiced approval of the recent San José lynchings, declined to comment tonight on President Roosevelt's Washington speech.

CHURCH STUDIES TREND TOWARD 'PAGAN HOMES'

M. E. Commission to Urge Marriage Courses.

A trend toward "pagan homes" in the United States occupied the attention of pastors who attended a preliminary meeting of the commission on Christian homes of the Chicago area council of the Methodist Episcopal church in the Chicago Temple yesterday. More than 1,000 ministers and laymen will attend the three day meeting of the council.

"The recent 100 per cent increase in the number of apartment building dwellers, the vast increase in double income families with wage earning wives, and the trend toward companionate marriage threaten us with many dangers," the report of the homes commission stated.

Threat to Child Welfare.

These trends were termed a threat to "child welfare and the stability of the family itself." The effect of movies upon the American youth was also discussed in the report, which will be read in full at this afternoon's session. In a recent survey, it was revealed, only 1.8 per cent of 10,052 children attended movies which were selected by their parents. The remainder exercise their own choice.

"In trying to meet the modern divorce problem," the preliminary report continued, "we recommend that the church prepare its young people for marriage; that in cases of imminent discord within a church family there be no hesitancy in calling in an expert secular adviser to coöperate with the religious counselor, and that the church establish life adjustment clinics, where individual and family problems may receive expert advice."

The religion of college youth was discussed by speakers before the council's commission on Christian education meeting in the Morrison hotel last night. Harold Livingstone, a student in Illinois Wesleyan university at Bloomington, told the clergymen that the student attitude was in favor of a church which brought spiritual values to the solution of practical problems.

Demands Fearless Minister.

"The youth in college demands a minister who is fearless in looking problems of the day in the face," he said, "ready to propose new and untried solutions, politically and economically."

The world population of Methodists is now 4,616,049, according to a report. In the United States the total was 4,035,516 for 1933. The estimated number belonging to the church in Illinois is 331,162 at present.

Among other reports to be read today are those of the stewardship commission, by Chairman C. C. Hall; the finance commission, by Chairman W. G. Pulliam, and the world parish commission, reporting on missionary work, by chairman W. E. Shaw.

DAIRY FARMERS URGED TO SOLVE OWN PROBLEMS

A warning to dairy interests that problems had best be solved at home, without "running to Washington for help" was issued yesterday by Henry N. Woolman, Philadelphia, chairman of the dairy industries committee of the National Dairy council, which met in its 15th annual session at the Palmer house.

From his experience in conferences and programs at Washington, Mr. Woolman pointed out dangers in setting market prices so high that consumption would lag further behind production, thus increasing the present surpluses of butter and cheese.

Urging the milk industry to concentrate on the consumption of milk rather than on production control, Don N. Geyer, secretary of the Pure Milk association, told an afternoon meeting of the dairy council that the main job of the industry should be to educate the public to use more dairy products. He further pointed out that while the sale of dairy products grosses more than four billion dollars annually, only a million dollars is spent on advertising. An extension campaign would increase the butter consumption a quarter of a pound a month for each person and wipe out a surplus of 100 million pounds of butter, he said.

NOTABLES ATTEND RITES

Funeral services for Mr. Legge were held yesterday at the Fourth Presbyterian church. The body will be cremated and the ashes placed beside those of his wife in the Katherine Legge memorial, located near the Legge estate in Hinsdale.

Mr. Legge died suddenly in his home in Hinsdale last Sunday. He left no children. Three nephews, James C. and Alex E. Legge of Schuyler, Neb., and Roy Legge of San Francisco, attended the services. Present also as honorary pallbearers were former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, former Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, Melvin A. Traylor, Harold F. McCormick, James R. Leavell, George A. Ranney, Cyrus McCormick Sr., and Cyrus McCormick Jr.

Former President Herbert Hoover, another of the honorary pallbearers, could not attend, but sent a telegram read by the Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson, pastor of the church. "We shall not soon see his like again," Mr. Hoover wrote in extolling Mr. Legge's "wise counseling."

Sender of Threat Letter Gets Suspended Sentence

George P. Stevens, 65 years old, 4819 North Lawndale avenue, received a suspended sentence of one year in the penitentiary and was placed on probation for five years yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson for sending a threatening letter through the mail. Stevens demanded $6,000 of Mrs. Katherine Thilo of Baltimore, widow of Dr. George W. Thilo, who was slain by robbers in a Chicago robbery. The letter said that the money was to be used to finance the appeal of the killer from his sentence for the murder of Dr. Thilo.

TWO SCOTTSBORO NEGROES GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE

Both Deny Guilt as Appeal Looms.

Decatur, Ala., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Formal sentence of death in the electric chair was pronounced today by Judge W. W. Callahan on Heywood Patterson and Clarence Norris, convicted within a week by two Morgan county juries of participating in an attack on a white woman.

Judge Callahan set Friday, Feb. 2, as the date of execution, but this was stayed through a notice of appeal by Samuel S. Leibowitz, chief of counsel for the Negroes. That lawyer announced that the cases will be taken to the United States Supreme court, if necessary.

Jury Out 41 Hours.

Passing of formal sentences followed by a few minutes the verdict returned by a jury in the trial of Norris. It had been out more than 41 hours.

When the legal formalities of passing sentences and making motions had been finished, Leibowitz asked the court that the two condemned Negroes be kept in the Jefferson county jail at Birmingham pending appeal.

"I am merely forwarding the request of the defendants, who claim they were mistreated in Kilby prison," Leibowitz said, when the court informed him that the law required that condemned men be kept at Kilby.

Counsel Leaves First.

"I ask that counsel for the defense be permitted to leave the room before the spectators," Leibowitz said, with a quick glance over the room in which there were many vacant seats. There was no indication of disorder through the whole proceedings.

Trial of the other defendants on charges of attacking Mrs. Price and Ruby Bates was indefinitely postponed yesterday at Leibowitz's request.

VALLEE VICTOR IN DIVORCE FIGHT WITH HIS WIFE

New York, Dec. 6.—[Special.]—The attempt by Faye Webb to restrain her husband, Rudy Vallee, the orchestra leader and radio entertainer, from going to Mexico or anywhere else outside of New York state to get a divorce, was denied today by Supreme Court Justice Isidor Wasservogel.

"The plaintiff," said Justice Wasservogel, "failed to established that the defendant is seeking or is about to seek a divorce in another jurisdiction in evasion of the laws of this state, in violation of her rights or in consummation of a patent fraud."

When Miss Webb sought the injunction last week, it was explained that she fears her interests under a separation agreement will be affected if Vallee should get a divorce outside this state. Under the separation agreement, she is to get a half interest in a $30,000 home in California and an income of $100 a week for life, in consideration of her promise not to obtain an income from stage, radio, movie or writing.

LINDY AND WIFE SPAN ATLANTIC; THRONGS CHEER

NATAL, Brazil, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, alighted on the harbor here at 3:10 p. m., Brazilian time [2:10 p. m. Chicago time], today after flying from Bathurst, Gambia, Africa, 1,875 miles away, in 16 hours 10 minutes. It was the longest overwater flight of their aerial survey tour, which began at New York last July 9 and has taken them to Greenland, Iceland, many countries and in Europe, and to Africa.

The whole population of Natal, its stores and offices closed for the fiesta of welcome, its streets decorated, packed the waterfront.

At 2:50 p. m. a keen eyed watcher caught the first glimpse of the great red monoplane as it headed in from the Atlantic. Launch whistles blared and from the crowd arose a mighty roar of "viva."

Flies Over Cheering Throng.

Straight in toward the harbor the plane flew, and passed above the cheering throng. Lindbergh banked it gracefully over the town and set it down smoothly in the harbor.

With the alighting of the ship, Mrs. Lindbergh became the first woman ever to fly in an airplane across the South Atlantic.

When welcoming delegations reached the anchored monoplane, Lindbergh's words, as usual, were few.

He said he would inspect his plane tomorrow and decide then on a date of departure from Natal. Replying to questions about the flight, he said:

"We had the most favorable flying conditions. There was no trouble with the plane. Our average speed was 100 to 130 miles an hour. The only ship we met during our flight was the Caparcona. We exchanged radio messages with her."

Gets Greeting from President.

Lindbergh was greeted by the government "interventor," Mario Camara, who extended an official welcome in the name of President Getullo Vargas and the state of Rio Grande do Norte, of which Natal is the capital.

The official launch carried Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh to the docks, where police held back the excited, happy crowds. The launch was escorted by a parade of boats.

The scene was comparable only to the coming of the Italian air squadron, led by Italo Balbo early in 1931. Vessels in the harbor blew their sirens and whistles. Thousands of persons fought for advantageous positions on the docks. Police and military were forced to hold back the throngs to enable the flying couple to enter an automobile.

The crowd continued to follow the car to the residence of the British consul, A. D. Scotchbrook. There is no United States consulate at Natal. The crowds gathered in front of the consul's home, cheering the couple. The throngs remained until long after the front door had been closed in their faces.

Refuse to Receive Visitors.

The flyers declined to receive visitors or take part in festivities which the Brazilians had planned for them, explaining that they were very tired. Scotchbrook said that after they had washed up and eaten dinner they retired almost immediately to rest. He explained that Lindbergh intended to get up early tomorrow morning to inspect his plane.

Anne Lindbergh made a strong impression on the women of Natal. They admired her cheerfulness and composure and were voluble in their praise of her courage. They were particularly impressed by her constant vigilance at the wireless during the long flight from Bathurst.

The South Atlantic flight, as was their previous flight across the North Atlantic, was part of the survey work the Lindberghs are carrying on for Pan-American Airways, for which the colonel is technical adviser. The 75 wireless stations of the American International Air Line, which direct its passenger and mail planes on their South American flights, kept a close watch for signals from the Lindbergh plane.

As the time for the landing drew near, all radio communication between the airways stations was silenced and the news of the landing was reported through an ether cleared of other wireless messages directly to Miami, whence it was relayed to New York.

At the wireless instrument, keeping in close communication with Rio de Janeiro through the long flight, sat Mrs. Lindbergh. The skill with which she operated the key was commented on by veteran experts who listened in on her signals.

She made her reports at regular intervals and through them the waiting aviation technicians were able to chart a course for the plane which they said varied only slightly from a straight line between the taking off and alighting points.

The language of the messages was that of the airways. Mrs. Lindbergh reported, precisely at 9 a. m. eastern standard time:

"Position 01.00 south latitude, 30.10 west longitude. Speed 100 knots. Course 226 true. Eight-tenths overcast. Sea light. Visibility unlimited."

Plane Sighted Once.

Only at one point on their long journey was the monoplane reported seen from land. That was when it passed over Fernando Noronha, a rocky island 125 miles from their goal.

They had left many hours before dawn from the lower Gambia river at Bathurst, aided by a light breeze blowing out of the interior of the African continent.

In bright tropical moonlight the veteran flyer lifted the heavily laden pontoon-equipped craft, after days of unsuccessful attempts to get it from the surface. An absolute calm, with no ripples to break the surface tension of the water and no head wind to contribute added lift, had delayed the flight since last week.

Daylight overtook the flying couple while still in the northern hemisphere. Gradually they approached the equator and slid across into the other half of the world. Mrs. Lindbergh sent no special message to mark the occasion, although other messages, at 7 a. m., Chicago time, and at 8 a. m., indicated the crossing must have been made between those hours.

Shows Progress of Aviation.

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Lindbergh has flown the Atlantic again—and no one is very excited about it!

That shows how far aviation has come since the day in 1927 when the flying colonel arrived in Paris with his uneaten sandwiches in his pocket and his letters of introduction in his hand.

The gulf between the first horseless carriage and the modern motor car is hardly greater than the difference between ocean aviation of 1927 and of 1933. Flying the Atlantic six years ago was high adventure, fraught with peril every mile of the lonely way. Lindbergh's present jaunt, besides being much shorter, lacked daredevil thrills—thanks to science.

Winging from New York to Paris, Lindbergh was lost to the world for more than 36 hours. He had no wireless. Flying from West Africa to Brazil, he communicated frequently with wireless stations strung along the South American coast.

In the old Spirit of St. Louis he sat cramped in a closed cockpit, squinting at the world through a periscope. Now he and his wife ride in open cockpits with convertible tops, enjoying the tropical breezes.

The earth inductor compass, marvelous gadget in 1927, is obsolete in 1933. Now Lindbergh uses a Gatty navigation sight, a device which enables Mrs. Lindbergh to peer down through a glass and through a revolving belt with holes in it to the waves below, thereby determining drift and speed. This apparatus makes dead reckoning, the simplest form of navigation, a pretty sure thing.

O'Brien, film technician, was held to answer today before the Superior court for the murder of her two sons, William, 15, and Willis Jr., 14. Police said she feared she soon would die, leaving her sons behind, and that caused the shootings. Her bond was set at $15,000 and arraignment fixed for Dec. 22. The hearing was in the general hospital, where she is recuperating from a self-inflicted bullet wound.

J. P. REND ASKS $1,500,000 FOR STOCK LOSSES

Sues Former Affiliate of New York Bank.

An echo of the big boom days in Wall street resounded yesterday in the United States District court here when Joseph P. Rend filed suit for $1,500,000 damages against the City company, formerly the National City company of New York.

Rend is a Chicago financier. He is the brother-in-law of Charles E. Mitchell, former president of the National City company and the National City bank of New York, once affiliated institutions which have been forced by law to walk separate paths.

Specifically, Rend seeks to recover losses he incurred in buying and holding stock of the National City bank, on the ground that he was fraudulently misinformed by officials of the National City company about the value of this stock.

Charges False Statements.

One of the "false, fraudulent and deceitful" statements, the Rend petition stated, was an assertion that Mitchell intended to merge the National City bank and the Corn Exchange bank of New York, and that this merger would greatly enhance the value of the stock.

Mitchell, whose wife is the former Elizabeth Rend, sister of the plaintiff in the damage suit, resigned both the National City presidencies during the senate investigation last winter. Since then the National City company's name has been changed to the City company.

Indicted for alleged income tax frauds, Mitchell was brought to trial last June in the District court in New York and was acquitted. Rend appeared as one of the defense witnesses in that case.

Purchases of Stock Told.

The Rend suit against the City company, filed by Attorneys Clarence Darrow and Walter E. Beebe, related that on Nov. 1, 1929, Rend purchased 1,000 shares of National City bank stock at $450 a share. Five days later the market quotation was $340 and Rend sold, taking a loss of $110,000. The following day, the suit said, the price of the stock was $295 and officials of the bank's security affiliate induced him to repurchase 1,000 shares at that figure in an effort to recoup his losses.

At the time, the suit declared, the actual value of the stock was only $50 a share. Later, on further representations of the strength of the bank stock, Rend declared he purchased 1,000 shares at $215; 2,000 shares at $214, and 1,000 shares at $225. He still owns the 5,000 shares, which has a present quoted market value of about $20 a share. His last purchase was made on Feb. 5, 1930.

Telegram Is Quoted.

In discussing the arguments for the purchase alleged to have been advanced by the officials of the National City company, the suit asserted that on Nov. 1, 1929, Rend was shown a telegram from H. B. Baker, an influential stockholder of the National City bank. This telegram, a copy of which was incorporated in the suit, quoted Mitchell as recommending buying of the stock, and added that "the low price was being maintained to permit customers of the National City company to make a profit."

The telegram, it was charged, was indorsed by officials of the bank and the security affiliate. Rend's suit also averred that at this time he was told by the Chicago representatives of the National City company that the Corn Exchange bank merger would boom the price of the stock $50 a share.

It was further alleged in the Rend petition that the security affiliate, to create a false value, had the National City bank purchase 70,000 shares for $30,000,000, thus violating national banking laws, which forbid a bank to speculate in its own stock.

On learning these facts, it was stated, Rend demanded a return of the money he had lost and was refused. Altogether his losses in the purchase of 6,000 shares of stock were given at $1,023,000. This amount, with interest added, brings the amount sued for to $1,500,000.

The separation of the National City bank, which has assets of $1,448,000,000 and is the second largest bank in the country, and the City company has not yet been completed. Offices of the City company have been moved from the bank building, and it was announced on Tuesday that efforts to dispose of interests in the company are being continued by the bank. Under the law there is still considerable time left for the severing.

Son of Coal Magnate.

Joseph P. Rend is a son of the late Col. William P. Rend, who was a dominant figure in the coal industry in the middle west for many years. Joseph Rend is president of the Standard Hocking Coal company, the W. P. Rend company, and the W. P. Rend Transportation company, all of which were founded by Col. Rend. The family home is at 70 East Scott street.

Pogue's wife, Helen, also was held. Wexler said Miss Bigger drove the bandit car.

LINDBERGHS' PLANE IS A VETERAN OF HIS FLIGHT TO THE ORIENT

New York, Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Col. Lindbergh's plane, christened Tingmissartoque, or "big bird" by Greenland Eskimos during his stay there a few weeks ago, has carried him far without any serious accident.

A low winged Lockheed Sirius monoplane, it is powered with a 700 horsepower Wright Cyclone engine. The colonel took delivery of the plane in Los Angeles in January, 1930. In April of that year he flew it across the country for a transcontinental record.

Built as a land plane, he had it fitted with pontoons for his tour with Mrs. Lindbergh to the Orient in 1931. New and larger floats were fitted for this year's survey trip. They are divided into water tight compartments and have water rudders. The big plane is equipped with a little outboard motor so that taxiing is facilitated.

A new engine of greater horsepower was fitted before the colonel left the United States on his present tour. He also put on a Hamilton controllable pitch propeller. With light load, he said after tests, this power plant gave him a climb of 2,000 feet a minute. The plane, which cruises under heavy wing loading at 149 miles an hour, has a forty-four foot wing span.

MEDICS CONFIRM FIRST AUTOPSY IN WYNEKOOP CASE

Dr. Dwyer to Be Called as State Witness.

Dr. Jerry Kearns and Dr. John G. Frost of the staff of Coroner Walsh returned from Indianapolis yesterday with an announcement that their autopsy on the body of the slain Rheta Wynekoop showed no material change from the findings of the original autopsy by Dr. Thomas L. Dwyer, since dismissed from the coroner's staff.

Both denied having asserted that the first autopsy was "bungled," and thereby vindicated Dr. Dwyer. Their conclusion, Dr. Kearns said, was the same as that of Dr. Dwyer, who found that Rheta died of a bullet wound, not from an overdose of chloroform, as Rheta's mother-in-law, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, had inferred. Dr. Wynekoop has been indicted for the murder.

Examine Brain Tissue.

"We are making a microscopic examination of brain tissue to determine whether there migh be indications of a mental disorder," said Dr. Kearns. "There is nothing to indicate to the unaided eye that such was the case."

Coroner Walsh said the complete report on the second autopsy would be ready by the end of this week. He reiterated that Dr. Dwyer's dismissal from his staff had no connection with the Wynekoop case.

Corroboration for Dr. Dwyer.

"There is no foundation for inferring that Dr. Dwyer was dismissed because of an unsatisfactory autopsy," the coroner said. "The second examination was ordered to provide corroboration for Dr. Dwyer in the event the defense called a number of medical witnesses. Dr. Dwyer's dismissal is a closed incident, and I have nothing to add."

In further vindication of Dr. Dwyer, Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty denied reports from the state's attorney's office that the state would not call Dr. Dwyer to testify. Dr. Dwyer, as pathologist on the original autopsy, will be one of the state's main witnesses, he said.

CITY COMES UP SMILING FROM MORNING AFTER

Only 27 Are Arrested in Repeal Night.

As drinking passed from the repeal celebration stage and came to be accepted casually, as an attribute of living, public officials, police and hotel keepers yesterday surveyed the results of the night before and morning after, and found them gratifying.

Mayor Kelly and Police Commissioner Allman, both of whom made tours of inspection during the night, said Chicago celebrated in a dignified manner, a statement which was borne out by police records showing that only 27 persons were arrested for intoxication.

"The celebration was quiet and conservative," said the mayor. "Nowhere did I see any rowdy or boisterous behavior."

Hotel Men Are Satsified.

Hotel men joined in these expressions of satisfaction, declaring that even the comparatively few who overdid the business of celebrating were jovial and not belligerent.

A different note, however, was sounded by the Women's Christian Temperance union, whose national headquarters issued a statement decrying the return of legal liquor and predicting "the doom of drink and the drink traffic and all its train of evils."

"In this hour," said the W. C. T. U. statement, "we have greater confidence than ever in the ultimate victory of the truth we have championed for sixty years. The temperance cause, defining temperance properly as total abstinence from whatever is harmful, and the moderate use of things healthful, goes straight on."

View of the Bartenders.

Veteran bartenders, back at their old posts in the leading hotels after 14 years, ceased polishing the glinting bars long enough to philosophize on the drinking habits of mankind. It is their opinion that after a few days of indiscriminate drinking, a sampling of all the fancy drinks on the list, the novelty will wear off and the people will adjust themselves to a saner course.

John Burke, manager of the Congress hotel, said that celebrants drank 100 cases of champagne, 75 cases of whisky, 75 cases of gin, and 100 cases of assorted wines at that hotel. Consumption at the Palmer house was reported as 150 cases of bourbon, 50 cases of gin, 25 cases of Scotch, 75 cases of champagne and Bourdeaux wines, 50 cases of liqueurs, and 40 half barrels of the new full strength beer.

10,000 Served at the Sherman.

Frank Bering of the Hotel Sherman said that approximately 10,000 persons were served in the three hotel bars, the Bal Tabarin and the grand ballroom.

The hotels were doing a good, steady business yesterday and last night, but the drinking was more moderate and less noisy. An old custom was revived at the Palmer house. A lone patron walked in as the bar was opened at 7 o'clock, and ordered an "eye opener."

By 10 o'clock a dozen elderly men were sitting in the barroom, sipping Scotch and soda and discussing the world's affairs, before going about the day's business. J. A. Petrash, head waiter, said he recognized among the gathering three pre-prohibition customers whom he had not seen during the long drouth.

Several Motorists Arrested.

The police had been instructed to be on the lookout for tipsy automobile drivers, and several arrests were made. Twelve of the persons arrested for plain intoxication were arraigned before Judge Alfred O. Erickson in the South State street court and he discharged all of them except Attorney Raymond Canaday, who was fined $1. Canaday hit a Congress hotel waiter in the eye, according to a house detective who insisted on the fine.

The other fifteen celebrants arrested by the police were arraigned before Judge Frank M. Padden in the Town Hall and Chicago avenue courts. All were discharged except Charles Dyer, a casual, who was sent to the Bridewell to work out a $200 fine. Men like Dyer, the judge explained, need the cure.

Predicts Decline in Killings.

A dropping off in the homicide rate, as a result of repeal, was predicted by Lieut. Otto Erianson, veteran of the police homicide squad. He produced records showing that before prohibition the number of homicides in Chicago averaged 200 a year, with the exception of 1919, the year of the race riots.

The year 1920, which saw the beginning of prohibition, had only 172 homicides, but the number passed the 300 mark in 1924 and has been there since. There were 337 homicides in the first eleven months of 1933, including 14 policemen killed by holdup men.

Mayor Kelly praised the new liquor control bill introduced in the legislature on Tuesday by State Senator Harold G. Ward. The bill provides for home rule and local option. The mayor predicted that the measure would receive enough votes for passage, although perhaps not a sufficient number to make it effective immediately instead of on July 1.

The mayor announced that he had instructed Police Commissioner Allman to order the closing of all taverns which have not made applications for 1934 city liquor licenses by Dec. 20. The $250 fee for the first six months must accompany the application.

Some aldermen, the mayor said, have requested that applications for licenses be held up to give districts in their wards a chance to vote on the liquor question. These requests are being granted.

Asks Ruling on Hyde Park.

Ald. Thomas J. Daley [7th] introduced an order in the council instructing Corporation Counsel Sexton to give an opinion on the status of Hyde Park. This district was dry before prohibition, but it is the opinion of many legal experts that the old local option law and the wet and dry boundaries prescribed under it are dead. Meanwhile, parts of Hyde Park are wet and parts dry, according to the activity of aldermen in getting licenses held up.

The council deferred and ordered published an amendment to the retail liquor ordinance giving druggists the right to sell liquor on payment of a $30 annual license fee. Mayor Kelly suggested that the license provision be made to run from month to month until the city authorities make sure that druggists confine themselves to the sale of medicinal liquor and do not invade the field of general sales.

Stores Start Package Sales.

Two of the large loop grocery stores and one department store are selling liquor in packages, a survey disclosed, and some of the other department stores are considering it. Those handling liquor have all kinds of wine, whisky, gin, and liqueurs.

Fruit Industries, Inc., wine distributors at 1440 South Canal street, announced that they were so far behind in filling orders that it was necessary to adopt the "next" system of the barber shops. Customers are handed checks in the order of their arrival.

Railway officials said they were awaiting the outcome of state licensing regulations before deciding what to do about liquor on trains, but they added that the pre-prohibition practice probably would be resumed. Before prohibition liquor was not sold in all dining cars, but the supplies were locked up when a train reached a dry state. In one state, Ohio, liquor was not sold on trains, because the license fee was prohibitive. Upon reaching Ohio the liquor was locked up as if it were a dry state.

16 Wine Producing Nations Hail U. S. Dry Law Repeal

PARIS, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The joy of wine producing countries at the abolition of prohibition in the United States was expressed today by Deputy Edouard Barthe of France at the opening of the thirteenth international wine congress.

"It is a great day for us," Barthe told representatives of sixteen nations, declaring prohibition was "solemnly condemned" by the three nations which had adopted it.

"We share the joy of the American people," the deputy said. He expressed thanks and congratulations to the American people and to President Roosevelt.

French wine producers, however, curbed their enthusiasm with the self-warning not to build up hopes of greatly increased trade.

The newspaper Republique observed that in view of wine production in California France "can count only on a limited quota."

"Americans in Paris celebrated repeal only mildly. One American bar offered all the champagne a customer could drink for 50 francs [$3], but business was about as usual.

Repeal Dominates British News.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Repeal of prohibition in the United States battled the tense Irish situation today for "top play" in London's morning newspapers.

Some newspapers placed repeal news under their biggest headlines, and others divided prominence of position and display equally with the Irish question.

So uniform was the dominance of repeal in the reporting of the day that an uninstructed reader could be excused for supposing the eighteenth amendment had been a British institution. Long, detailed dispatches from America described the dying hours of prohibition for London readers.

"Prohibition," said the Post in an editorial, "promises to become the classic example of the folly of legislating against nature and attempting to reform mankind by grandmotherly acts of parliament."

Germany Records Event.

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Wet Germany chronicled the repeal celebrations of the United States with gusto today. The various phases of prohibition have for years supplied inexhaustible material for German comment.

Front page streamer headlines, such as "U. S. A. Wet After 14 Years"; "End of Prohibition"; "The Last Dry Hours," and many others, were to be seen in all papers.

The Vossische Zeitung pointed out that there "are two parties who are not sharing in the general rejoicing—namely, the numerous drys and the smugglers."

The Deutsche Allgemeine expressed the opinion that "the joy over the end of prohibition probably will be undimmed."

TASTE OF LIQUOR UNKNOWN TO LAST VOTER FOR REPEAL

Salt Lake City, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The taste of liquor is still unknown to Sam D. Thurman, Salt Lake City attorney, who cast the last vote in the convention that made Utah the thirty-sixth state to ratify the twenty-first amendment.

Before voting, Thurman expressed his appreciation of the honor which was conferred upon him alphabetically.

BROADWAY GETS ONLY 19 STORES TO SELL LIQUOR

New York, Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Broadway, though it may be one of the world's most famous and traveled avenues, will have only nineteen retail wine and liquor stores on its fifteen miles from Bowling Green to the Yonkers city line, the state alcoholic beverage control board decided today in issuing licenses for that number.

New York's main thoroughfare will support only that number, it was explained. About 120 applications had been received for the street, but there are wide stretches of it for which there has appeared no call for a store. The licenses approved must be for places 1,500 feet apart.

Later on, should applications be made for sites 1,500 feet away from those licensed at present, Broadway's situation will be reopened, it was said. Meanwhile consumers will find stores near Broadway on the principal cross-town streets, such as 42d, 72d, 79th, and 86th streets.

U. S. BOARD ACTS TO BRING CUT IN LIQUOR PRICES

Plans to Publish Scales of Wholesalers.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—The new federal alcohol control administration was planning today to turn the spotlight of publicity on liquor costs in the United States in order to drive down the high retail prices quoted from many localities the first day after repeal of prohibition.

Distillers, wholesalers, and importers will post with the administration within a few days the prices at which their relegalized products are being sold to retailers. Officials plan to make those figures public so that the American people may be made fully aware of the profits being derived by retailers, be they private individuals or state or local dispensaries.

Consider Prices Too High.

Members of the alcohol control administration, as well as spokesmen for the distilling and wholesale liquor industries were much displeased today at the reports of high prices from practically every section where repeal of the eighteenth amendment made liquor a legal product. The liquor suppliers contended that at current cost quotations whisky could be sold far below these quotations, adding that with the quotations soon to be posted, a number of brands of good blended products could be supplied at retail for $1.50 a quart, plus state taxes.

Publicity is the only weapon the FACA has to use against exorbitant retail prices. It can control the prices charged by the distillers, wholesalers or importers under the terms of fair competition codes promulgated for those branches of the industry. Those codes provide that the manufacturing and wholesale prices of the various brands be posted with the FACA, and further that the administration may deny a specific price if it is so high as to be exorbitant or so low as to constitute price cutting.

Believe Public Will Act.

Officials were of the opinion that the mere publication of manufacturing and wholesale quotations would mean an instant readjustment of retail prices. It was their belief that the public would force the downward movement if retail quotations indicated profiteering.

The administration was disposed to allow a few days, but only a few, for the liquor trade to adjust itself. Officials anticipated that "a chaotic condition must be expected for the next few days," but they intended, too, to take action to right that condition.

Dr. James M. Doran, director of the Distilled Spirits institute, the code authority for the distillers, said this afternoon that he would post prices for the manufacturing side of the spirits industry within a few days—just as soon as they have been collected from the individual plants.

Supply Believed Adequate.

There was no official fear that the demand for spirits and wines would keep up so nearly with the supply as to justify economically the high prices as quoted on the first day of repeal. The presence of large importations within the next few days is expected to have a relieving effect so far as the proximity of supply and demand is concerned.

A blanket permit authorizing importers to whom quotas have been allotted to bring in their beverages was issued today by Joseph H. Choate Jr., director of the federal alcohol control administration.

This will permit importation of about 4,800,000 gallons of intoxicants, or a four months' supply. In addition, a substantial quantity of American type bourbon and rye whisky will be imported from Canada for blending with green whisky in this country.

It was announced that beer of more than 3.2 per cent alcoholic content would be taxed at the rate of $6 per barrel under the old revenue law, as compared with the tax of $5 per barrel on 3.2 per cent beer.

Distillers whose plants are in operation and which were producing medicinal liquor prior to yesterday received thirty day licenses to continue until permanent license may be issued. Other distilleries will be licensed as soon as they qualify under the codes.

Some of the import quotas as established for countries of origin are expected to be increased early if not immediately. This is to result from successful trade negotiations by which certain countries will agree to give more favorable status to American farm products in exchange for an increased share in the newly made market for alcoholic beverages.

Secretary Wallace confirmed reports today that discussions already are in progress in London whereby the British government will increase the quota for pork products from the United States in exchange for a larger quota of Scotch whisky and gin.

U. S. May Control Taxing.

President Roosevelt is seriously considering a plan for the federal government to monopolize the gallonage taxation of liquor and then refund to the consumer states a percentage of the receipts, it was learned authoritatively today.

Revelation of the seriousness with which this plan is being considered followed rapidly upon the proclamation of the President on repeal in which he ends on Jan. 1 the special taxes provided by the national industrial recovery act and in which he appealed to the nation for a banning of the saloon and abstention from patronizing bootleggers.

Customs Duties Mount.

New York, Dec. 6—[Special]—A total of $385,000 in customs duties on foreign wines and liquors today brought the customs collections for the first day of repeal well above the recent average of daily collections at the New York customs house. Still wines constituted the majority of the imported products on which duties were collected.

What You Pay for a Drink Depends on Where You Buy

It all depends on where you buy it whether you'll pay a dime or half a dollar for a drink of liquor. A survey of representative drinking establishments in various sections of the city yesterday revealed that a drink of gin can be purchased for 10 cents or 50 cents and a whisky straight for prices ranging from 15 cents to 50 cents.

The 10 cent gin, of course, was found in Madison street saloons west of the river. But blended whisky at 15 cents a drink is being sold not only on the near west side, but on the south and north sides of the city.

One saloonkeeper at Peoria and 14th streets explained that he could buy 90 proof whiskies such as "Liquid Gold" and "Old Mellow" for $24 a case or at the rate of $1 a pint. By selling each of a pint's 16 ounces for 15 cents he would gross $2.40 on the pint and make a profit of $1.40.

20 Cents in Rogers Park.

In Rogers Park, traditional dry territory because of the Northwestern university four mile limit on liquor sales, plenty of taverns were found selling liquor. The prices were moderate. One dispenser, in a presentable establishment, was retailing an ounce and a half of whisky for 20 cents.

The higher prices were found in the loop and in the large fashionable hotels, where atmosphere and rent also come higher. In a downtown night club straight whisky was listed at half a dollar for bonded and 40 cents for blended, with liqueurs at 50 cents and gin at 25 cents a drink. Highballs were 60 cents each and cocktails 35 cents.

A loop hotel's liquor menu listed gin at 35 to 50 cents a drink, blended whisky at 35 cents, and bonded stock at 35 to 50 cents. Cocktails, cordials, and fizzes also ranged for 35 to 50 cents a drink.

Prices in Hyde Park.

In Hyde Park, another traditional dry area, the following prices were listed in one saloon: 15 cents for gin, the same for blended whisky, and 35 cents for bonded whisky. In the same district a hotel, whose officials were still a bit uncertain about whether the old Hyde Park local option law is now in force, quoted prices as follows: 50 cents for bourbon, 45 cents for Scotch, 60 cents for Bacardi rum, 25 cents for gin, 30 to 50 cents for highballs, and 35 to 70 cents for cocktails.

In the average run of loop drinking spots whiskies were being sold at 20 to 45 cents a drink; gin at 15 and 20 cents, and mixed drinks at 25 to 50 cents.

A number of bartenders predicted that the price of liquor would drop considerably within a few months, and that a small drink of blended whisky could soon be sold in the cheaper establishments for as low as 10 cents. One bartender said he was notified yesterday that a certain brand of whisky in which he was interested had already dropped $4 a case.

RINGS CURFEW, PLEDGE TO DEAD, AS DRY ERA ENDS

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Keeping a promise he made to his father shortly before his death several years ago, Otto Botz, retired printing company head, for an hour last night rang a curfew bell to announce that national prohibition was at an end.

"I promised father shortly before he died that when the eighteenth amendment was repealed that the old Sedalia curfew bell would ring again," Botz explained.

His father, Charles J. Botz, was long a wet leader and published the Sedalia Journal, a German language newspaper, until the world war.

The 50 year old bell was purchased from the city of Sedalia when the tower in which it had been hanging was razed.

TAVERN OWNERS TO FIGHT N. U.'S 4 MILE DRY ZONE

Preparing to fight the four mile dry limit established around Northwestern university by the university's charter from the state, members of the Tavern Owner's Four Mile Limit association met last night in the Ship restaurant, 1767 Howard street. The charter, granted to the university in 1848, makes all territory dry within four miles of the campus in Evanston.

The association, made up of tavern owners in Evanston, Niles Center and the northern part of Chicago—all within the limited area—now has 125 members. John Muno, 7221 North Western avenue, is president.

Capt. Patrick Harding of the Rogers Park police station, who is in charge of territory within the four mile limit, attended the meeting as an observer.

20 HELD UP IN TAVERN.

Five masked bandits, armed with sawed off shotguns and revolvers, obtained $108, a diamond ring valued at $125, and two watches early yesterday in a robbery of 20 persons in a tavern at 1433 East 63d street.

2 U. S. JUDGES GIVE DIFFERENT RUM DECISIONS

While one federal judge yesterday fined three defendants in prohibition cases $10 each, a second judge dismissed another prohibition defendant on the ground that the dry law is no longer constitutional.

William J. Bunn, 8610 South May street; Thomas Bain, 6012 Loomis street, and James Hanley, 5700 South Halsted street, were fined by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson on charges of transporting and possessing liquor.

At the same time Michael Caruso, 5327 West 25th street, Cicero, appeared before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley on charges of possessing liquor and maintaining a nuisance. Both Assistant United States Attorney Eugene A. Tappy and the defense attorney announced themselves ready for trial.

"If I were the defense attorney," Judge Lindley said, "I would enter a plea that the law is unconstitutional." The plea was entered and the case dismissed. After the hearing Judge Lindley said that with repeal the Volstead act became unconstitutional.

SILENCE KEPT ON SERVING OF WINE AT WHITE HOUSE

District of Columbia Still Is Officially Dry.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—(AP)—No less than 1,800 White House wine glasses, all safely barreled in storage, await word as to whether guests will again be wined as well as dined in the executive mansion.

Repeal brought no comment from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She had previously announced that she would issue a statement on whether wine would be served at the White House when repeal became an accomplished fact in the District of Columbia, and that depends on action of Congress after it meets Jan. 3.

When beer came in, Mrs. Roosevelt, who herself drinks nothing with alcoholic content, said that those who desired beer could be served at the White House.

"I should not dream of imposing my own convictions on other people as long as they live up to the law of the land," she said then.

Glasses Now in Storage.

Should she take that attitude on wine, she'd have to do some preparedness in the way of unpacking and polishing. The glasses were sent off to storage early in the Hoover regime.

Under the strict White House system of accounting for government property, they had to be counted, goblet by goblet, in the twice-a-year inventory.

If one glass chanced to get broken, it had to be saved until the next inventory to be condemned and destroyed. So the housekeeper custodian called in commercial packers, who put snugly into barrels the wine glasses that had sparkled through many a pre-Volstead administration.

Glimmering here and there in books is the story of the part these wine glasses, or perhaps their predecessors, played in White House hospitality.

In Jefferson's Time.

"The First Forty Years of Washington Society" tells how Thomas Jefferson, in his famed Fourth of July fêtes, had four large sideboards in the dining room, "covered with refreshments such as cakes of various kinds, wines, punch, etc.," where his guests could "partake without intervention of servants."

This custom must have long prevailed, for the W. C. T. U. hailed as the greatest innovation and triumph the action of Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes, who not only turned down her own glass but cleared wine from the White House sideboards while she was mistress from 1877 to 1881.

But a Washington etiquette book of 1889 shows a White House state dinner in full swing, with a full array of wine glasses at each plate. This book specified: "The wines are served with references to the courses—white wines with raw oysters, Madeira with the soup or fish, Champagne with the meats, clarets with the game, and Burgundy with the dessert; the liquors are served after coffee."

Urges Drinkers' Strike to Cut Price of Liquor

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Representative Cochran [Dem., Mo.] today urged a drinkers' strike in an effort to keep whisky prices down. He charged holders of warehouse receipts were gouging the public and said "$7 a quart for whisky, no matter how old, is outrageous."

BYRD TO SAIL FOR LITTLE AMERICA BASE TUESDAY

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd probably will sail for the south pole next Tuesday, it was said here where his antarctic flagship was in harbor today.

As it is too early for his flagship to approach the ice barrier, Admiral Byrd plans to carry out his oceanographic work on a wooden vessel which will precede his flagship through the ice. The main camp of the expedition will be in Little America, where hope it still held that a plane left by the admiral's last south pole expedition will be found.

An advance base will be established 400 miles south of Little America, where two men will spend the winter in the world's loneliest outpost observing weather conditions.

45,000 NEW JOBS AWARDED STATE BY CWA HEADS

Raises Total in Illinois to 232,000.

Authority to employ an additional 23,753 persons in Cook county was granted yesterday by the federal administration to the Illinois civil works administration. This will be the county's share in 45,000 jobs added yesterday to the state quota.

The original state quota was 187,000. The addition of 45,000 jobs makes a total of 232,000 as Illinois' share of the 4,000,000 jobs ordered created by President Roosevelt when he announced formation of the CWA a month ago.

Cook county had already been allotted 99,260 jobs as its share under the CWA program. The addition of 23,753 makes a total of 123,013 persons who will be given jobs by the CWA. The county's quota is worked out on a basis of population and the number of persons on the relief rolls.

108,987 Outside County.

Downstate had already been allotted 87,740 jobs. Its share of the new batch of 45,000 jobs is 21,247, making a total of 108,987 jobs outside of Cook county.

The state administration has still many thousands of jobs to distribute from the original quota. All possible speed will be made, R. J. Dunham, administrator, announced, in an endeavor to fill all the jobs before Jan. 1.

Projects of thirteen local governmental units in Cook county were approved yesterday by the CWA, Mr. Dunham announced. As a result, 1,736 persons will be given employment at a total wage expenditure of $77,187.

811 Get Road Jobs.

The largest project approved was for the state department of highways. It called for the employment of 811 persons and a total wage commitment of $25,550. These men will be engaged in repairing state roads in the county. Another 361 men will be employed in the forest preserves, improving drainage, repairing bridges and building forest shelters, and repairing roads, parking spaces, pedestrian and bridle trails.

Projects placing 1,471 men to work under the Du Page county highway department were also approved yesterday. In North Chicago 93 men will start work in landscaping and improving the city's sewer and drainage system. Waukegan will use 84 men on two civil works projects. In Lake Forest 60 men will be put to work trimming trees and shrubbery and planting bushes in the city park system.

Forest preserve officials yesterday reported that approximately 9,000 men would be at work in the preserves under the CWA before the end of the week.

City Transfers Funds.

A transfer of $1,015,000 in accounts to make funds available for the purchase of materials and supplies for use on city CWA projects was approved yesterday by the council. The transfer was recommended at a morning session of the council finance committee after Mr. Dunham had explained how money was to be spent. The committee then gave Mr. Dunham a vote of confidence.

A recreational program for the south park system through an allotment of civil works money was announced yesterday. Projects will be carried out in ten shops of the park system by 105 persons technically qualified but now unemployed.

DAY AFTER REPEAL FINDS NO HANGOVER IN THE CAROLINAS

Charlotte, N. C., Dec. 6.—(AP)—The Carolinas, only states to vote down the repeal amendment, awoke today without a hangover.

There was no public celebration, no spontaneous outbreak of revelry. Native corn whisky of varying grades was available at the usual price of $2 a gallon, but there was a usual scarcity of "real stuff."

The minute the death knell of prohibition was sounded North Carolina automatically reverted to its stringent bone dry act, a virtual duplicate of the Volstead law.

South Carolina's old quart-a-month law was revived after a long slumber, but no pre-repeal rush to obtain liquor permits from county judges was noted.

The law permits each male over 21, provided he is not a college student, to "import" a quart of spirits a month for medicinal purposes.

Girl Is Found Unconscious After Accepting Auto Ride

Suffering from a skull fracture and a dislocation of the shoulder, Miss Dorothy Kuepacki, 25 years old, 2136 North Irving avenue, was found unconscious last night at Cicero and Foster avenues. She was taken to the county hospital and revived. She told police she had accepted a ride in the car of a man she had never seen before and that he struck and beat her in an attempt at rape. She lost consciousness, she said, and was later thrown from the car.

Great Falls, Mont., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Federal District Judge Charles N. Pray today dismissed a score of cases against defendants charged with violating the national prohibition act. He said the act is dead and suggested that if the government desires to press the prosecution new indictments should be obtained under the revenue act.

COME, let us thumb through together this grand old volume. It is labeled "Friendships." Its binding shows much use—yet it never wears out. Each page—comfortably dog-eared, yet everlasting—has at the top the name of a friend; and below are the frequent entries—affection, kindliness, thoughtfulness, little remembrances and acts of service—life's true values.

Here is our chance—yours and ours; to post new entries; to make up for time lost through relentless pressure of things to do and worry about.

Now is the time. Christmas is a day set aside for sentiment, a time to renew ancient pledges of loyalty. You will do this; and so will we.

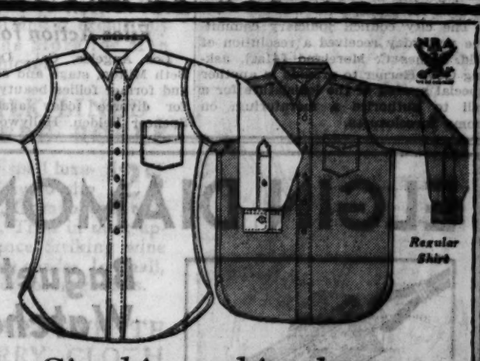

The obligations of business are exactly the same as those of friendship. You get in proportion to what you give. It's an ancient truth—the way to have and to hold a friend is to be one.

No store can give away merchandise, nor sell it regularly at less than cost. But a store can give many things—an assurance of good quality; ability to buy at best advantage; values which mean profit to you as well as us; fair dealing; friendliness.

So now, as Christmas draws close, we take stock of ourselves and restate the desire and intent to serve which has always actuated this business, realizing that service is never created by claiming it and that genuine friendly service needs no identification.

HOLC MANAGER ADMITS KIN IS IN FAVORED FIRM

Donne Defends High Fees Paid to Appraisers.

BY AL CHASE.

William G. Donne, Illinois manager for the Home Owners' Loan corporation, government financed organization, yesterday made public figures showing that 45 per cent of the local appraisal work ordered by his office since it was established went to the Central States Appraisal company. Donne also admitted that his brother-in-law, Arthur S. Dritsch, was one of the incorporators of this company.

Allegations of favoritism toward selected appraisers by Donne's office were made recently by Harry Cutmore and associates, another appraisal firm, and as a result the entire system of appraising has been revised. It was alleged by the Cutmore company that the Central States Appraisal company not only got the lion's share of the work but was paid $15 an appraisal while less favored concerns had to take $10.

Defends Higher Fees.

Donne defended the higher fees for Dritsch's concern, in which James J. Sullivan, Democratic committeeman for the 8th ward, is also interested. He said that a series of tests of the work done by the six appraisal companies employed showed that the Central made the best appraisals and consequently deserved more pay.

Also he denied emphatically rumors that he was himself instrumental in the formation of the appraisal concern or that any political pressure was used in having the appraisals shifted to the "most favored" company.

"Dritsch," he said, "lives in the same building I do. I only heard about a month ago, though, that he was interested in the Central States Appraisal company. I know Sullivan quite well, but I did not know until a month ago that he also was interested. He never talked to me about that."

Work Given to Politician.

Donne said he had given the work to James P. Walsh, a former deputy assessor, who is, like himslef and Sullivan, prominent in 8th ward politics. Walsh, he said, was a capable appraiser. Sullivan, Walsh, Dritsch, and Charles G. Robinson, a Republican politician, are the owners of the Central States firm.

The list of appraisals jobs given out by the local HOLC office, requested of him several days ago, was made public yesterday by Donne. It covers the period beginning Aug. 5, when the office was opened, until about two weeks ago, when the government set a maximum fee of $5 an appraisal.

Central States Appraisal company	1,515
Realty Appraisal company	699
Charles E. Fox & Co.	710
First Appraisal company	223
Charles R. Bixby	167
Harry S. Cutmore and associates	53
Total	3,367

Jobs Awarded to Others.

Following the Washington decision that $5 was a proper price, Donne awarded appraisal jobs to other firms, as follows: John F. McCarthy, 52; Michael J. Leyden, 43; Robert J. Mitchell, 36; Leo Daily, 30; Edward G. Venard, 24; John F. Dempsey, 20; George E. Chapman, 18; H. C. Kingsbury, 6; H. A. Campbell, 5, and Henry Greeley, 5.

From headquarters in Washington an order was received last week stating that all appraisal work in Illinois should be done hereafter by the Chicago real estate board at a flat fee of $7.50 an appraisal. It was said yesterday that the board has 600 appraisals ready.

Examines HOLC Office.

D. C. Hair, a deputy member of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, was in Chicago yesterday examining the affairs of the local office, but declined to make any comment on his findings. It is known, however, that the department of investigation, bureau of justice, is investigating charges of mismanagement in the handling of applications for loans.

The city council judiciary committee yesterday received a resolution of Ald. James C. Moreland [41st], asking Gov. Horner to provide in another special session of the legislature for a bill to authorize a moratorium on home foreclosures.

SEEKS ANNULMENT

MABEL POWELL.

Mabel Powell, 22 years old, daughter of William Powell, 1945 Sherman avenue, Evanston, an official of the Santa Fé railroad, filed a bill yesterday in the Circuit court to annul her marriage, the outcome of a college romance, to Charles Leroy Major, 23 years old, of San Diego, Cal.

Her bill, filed by Attorney Franklin D. Trueblood, states that the couple met at the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, where Miss Powell studied archaeology and where Major was graduated last spring as an engineer.

On June 5, the bill charges, they went on a drinking party in celebration of his graduation and eloped to Bernalillo, N. M., where they were married. Immediately after the ceremony, the bill states, her husband told Miss Powell that it was "just a joke," and left for California.

FOES OF DRY LAW, HEADED BY SHOUSE, AGREE TO DISBAND

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment today decided to disband, considering that its work had been accomplished.

The vote to disband out of the way, directors approved a suggestion of Jouett Shouse, president, that a Washington office be maintained to oppose too extensive federal regulation of the liquor traffic and to advise states which have not yet adopted control legislation.

The Washington office will be under the direction of Capt. W. W. Stayton. Under the plan the Washington office will not continue the name of the organization, but the group backing it will be substantially the same.

COUNCIL OBJECTS TO TRUCK OWNER TAKING CWA POST

Members of the city council finance committee raised such strenuous objections yesterday to the appointment of William J. Newman, contractor, as a $1 a year man in charge of allocation of trucks which the city will hire for use on federal civil works projects in Chicago that the nomination was withdrawn.

Instead Robert J. Dunham, who is head of the state relief commission and administrator of CWA projects in the state, asked Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt to assign John P. Wilson, deputy commissioner, to the task.

Objectors to Newman raised the point that he owns 35 trucks himself, although he had said that he would not put any of them to work until all other idle trucks had been given work.

ICKES DOLES OUT 9 MILLION MORE U. S. EASY MONEY

Wilmette Gets $117,000, Peoria $1,022,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Doling out $9,000,000 of the fast waning public works easy money fund, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes today alloted more than a million dollars to three Illinois municipalities.

Another $347,550 of the day's grants, Secretary Ickes spread out over 10 more cities in the Chicagoland area.

Peoria, given $1,022,000 for sewer projects, took the largest share of the Illinois allotments. Wilmette was given $117,000 for a water system, and Peru was handed $19,000 to extend its water plant.

Push Canal Application.

While Ickes was passing out these smaller Illinois allocations, his subordinates were seeking to whip the Chicago sanitary district's application for $29,000,000 into shape for action at tomorrow's meeting of the public works board.

In making a combination loan and grant totalling $117,000 to Wilmette, Secretary Ickes estimated that the money would give 100 men work for four months. The funds will go for construction of a water supply line from the water plant now being built on Lake Michigan to the present distributing system.

To secure that part of the allocation, which is a loan, the village of Wilmette is posting 4 per cent general obligation bonds with the public works administration.

Peru's Is Outright Gift.

The allocation to Peoria also is a loan and grant arrangement. It is to be spent for sanitary and storm sewers, giving work to more than 500 men.

The $19,000 given to Peru is entirely a grant not to be repaid. The city asked for no loan.

Other Chicagoland cities which received allotments in today's list of 66 non-federal allocations were: Aurora, Ind.; Ottumwa, Ia.; Titonka, Ia.; Morning Sun, Ia.; Kimballton, Ia. Rake, Ia.; Two Rivers, Wis.; Kaukauna, Wis.; Grand Haven, Mich., and St. Clair, Mich.

M'NUTT SAVES SLAYER FROM ELECTRIC CHAIR

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—James Anderson was saved from death in the electric chair today by Gov. McNutt, who changed the sentence to life imprisonment. Anderson was convicted of the slaying, Dec. 30, 1929, of Herman Lange, sheriff of Dearborn county. He was to have been electrocuted on Thursday.

It had been testified Anderson shot and killed the sheriff, who attempted to question him about a murder case under investigation.

The governor said he decided to commute Anderson's sentence after a study of the evidence and in consideration of Anderson's previous good record.

This was the second commutation of a death sentence since Gov. McNutt took office last January. Three persons have died in the Indiana electric chair for murder this year.

RULES 'ULYSSES' IS NOT OBSCENE WORK; MAY BE IMPORTED

New York, Dec. 6.—[Special.]—James Joyce's "Ulysses" may be imported into the United States, Federal Judge John M. Woolsey ruled this afternoon.

Upsetting the contention that the work was obscene, Judge Woolsey asserted that although it was "undoubtedly somewhat emetic" it was not "an aphrodisiac."

"A sincere attempt to devise a new literary method for the observation and description of mankind," he held, the book in order to be understood must be "read in its entirety."

The decision was a victory for Random House, Inc., represented in the proceedings by Morris L. Ernst.

"I am quite aware," Judge Woolsey held, "that, owing to some of its scenes 'Ulysses' is a strong draft to ask some sensitive though normal persons to take, but my considered opinion, after long reflection, is that whilst in many places the effect on the reader is undoubtedly somewhat emetic, nowhere does it tend to be an aphrodisiac.

In this group are included Mordecai Ezekiel, economic adviser to the secretary; Frederick Howe, consumers' counsel of the administration, and others.

Usually aligned with Mr. Peek are Chester Davis, director of the production division; W. I. Westervelt, director of food processing and marketing; Frank Theis, chief of the wheat processing division, and Oscar Johnson, finance director.

Mr. Peek contends that his "brain trust" aids are delaying the adoption of codes by insisting that their views looking toward regimentation of all business be written into them, while they attribute the delay to Mr. Peek and his refusal to recognize that what they are insisting upon is necessarily a part of the New Deal.

Whatever the causes, Mr. Peek said today that far from half of the 700 codes and marketing codes submitted to the administration had been approved.

FEAR IS DEFENSE IN KANSAS CITY KIDNAPING TRIAL

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Clarence Click, whom the state seeks to send to the gallows as an accused kidnaper of Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager, today pleaded intimidation at the hands of Walter McGee, who is under sentence of death in the case.

Ralph T. Harding, Click's attorney, said it would be shown McGee threatened Click with a gun and also that McGee's former wife "had an invisible power over Click."

The state rested after getting into the records a reputed confession of Click that he shared in the $30,000 ransom paid for Miss McElroy's release last May.

"I was frightened and did not know what I was doing," Click said in repudiating his statement.

RIVIERA MYSTERY VICTIM IDENTIFIED AS BRITON'S WIFE

MONTE CARLO, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Frederick Elkington, an Englishman, came from Nice tonight and identified the body of his wife, whose death created a two day mystery here.

After jazz music, loudly played on a phonograph, had led to discovery of the body in a hotel room, the dead woman's 17 year old son at first posed as her brother, gave the name of "Wilson," and asserted they were both Americans.

His excuse for not reporting the death, police said, was that he thought his "sister" asleep. An examining doctor said after performing an autopsy that the woman was poisoned by an overdose of sleeping potion.

British consular officials said both Mrs. Elkington and her son, Frederick Charles Elkington, were born in London. It was understood they traveled frequently in America, being known there, as they had been here, as brother and sister.

SET UP BUREAU TO EXPLAIN NEW DEAL TO PUBLIC

Complaints Also Will Go Through It.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—President Roosevelt today announced the setting up of a new "national emergency council," with extraordinary central powers, to disseminate information on the New Deal throughout the country.

Federal information bureaus will be set up in all counties of the nation, and in principal cities, the bureaus to be managed under orders from the central bureau, at Washington.

Henceforth statistics, reports, Presidential orders, actions of congress, departmental regulations and similar information will flow from the capital bureau directly into the local agencies in the field.

Will Act on Violations.

The national emergency council will also assume control over violations of the NRA codes, the present voluntary compliance boards to be abolished. The NRA state, county and city "recovery boards" will be abolished to give way to new local agencies to be set up under the national agency.

President Roosevelt disclaimed any intention of using the extensive information set up for spreading propaganda on the New Deal. He asserted that the local bureaus would function to provide convenient information for citizens who inquired about various local applications of the NRA, the AAA, PWA, and other new government agencies.

However, when the President was asked if the local bureaus might be used to distribute statements or general explanations, he replied that such occasions might arise.

Causes Sensation in Capital.

The President's order created a fair sensation in Washington, where it was viewed as setting up an organization with a scope comparable in range with the information and propaganda bureaus of Stalin, Mussolini, and Hitler.

The President asserted, however, that his only purpose is to provide a means of giving quick, easy, and accurate information to citizens in their own localities.

In the past months Mr. Roosevelt has been gradually and quietly revolutionizing the newsgiving agencies of the government. In every department of the government, and particularly in every one of the emergency agencies set up by the President, a director of information has been appointed, and given a staff of assistants to aid him in his important duties.

These new officials are charged with preparing and distributing information to newspapers, magazines, trade publications, the radio, motion pictures, to special mailing lists of influential citizens, and to the public generally.

Sets Up Central Control.

The NRA and AAA both have large staff of "reporters," who "cover" all phases of the hearings and other work of the agencies, and then prepare news releases to be issued by their directors of information.

But in the wide scope of governmental activity divergencies of information occurred, especially in the degree of success the drive to relieve unemployment was progressing, and to correct this, the President formed a central statistical board."

An executive order was issued to all departments, bureaus, and administrations that henceforth all news and other releases which contained statistics susceptible of interpretive comment must be submitted to the central statistical board before being made public.

The chairman of this board, Winfield W. Riefler, has denied that he would require changes to be made by any department head, in the event he found the information in any release did not jibe with his other information.

"I would discuss the matter with them," he explained.

The new national emergency council is to be headed temporarily by Frank C. Walker, who is executive secretary of the President's executive council.

A permanent director will be appointed soon, Mr. Roosevelt said today.

The other members of the council as created are the secretaries of interior, agriculture, commerce, and labor; the administrator of agricultural adjustment; the administrator of federal emergency relief; the administrator for industrial recovery; the chairman of the Home Owners' Loan corporation; the governor of the Farm Credit administration, and a representative of the Consumers' council.

"The functions and duties of the council shall be prescribed by the President," it was stated in the President's executive order creating the council.

The order provided that "all volunteer field agencies" which had been established under the various emergency organizations would be abolished 30 days after the date of the order, and that the activities of these agencies would then henceforth be assumed by the council.

The order was dated Nov. 17, 1933, and no explanation was given for keeping it secret during the last three weeks.

In a formal statement accompanying the order, issued at the White House, it was declared that the purpose of it was "for consolidation, coordinating and making more efficient the productive and emergency activities of the federal government, and for the purpose of assisting in carrying into effect the provisions of the various emergency acts."

Discusses Local Bureaus.

Discussing the formation of local bureaus, the White House statement said:

"In order that local activities may be linked directly and effectively with the federal administrative power, there will be appointed state directors for the national emergency council, as well as county councils.

"The council will set up in Washington a central information bureau for the purpose of conveying to the general public all factual information with reference to the various governmental agencies.

"It will set up similar bureaus throughout the various counties in the United States. It will also provide machinery, temporary in character, for the adjustment of such controversies as may arise from the operation of the national industrial recovery act and the agricultural adjustment act.

"The creation of this organization will bring about the elimination of a number of committees and agencies necessarily created during the early stages of the emergency and will thus effectively consolidate and coördinate the field activities of the government."

Chicago Cafe Loses Its Blue Eagle

FIRST CHICAGO MAN DEPRIVED OF BLUE EAGLE

Cafe Owner Accused of Violating Code.

Andrew A. Bruce, chairman of the Chicago NRA compliance board, announced yesterday that the Blue Eagle of the Royal café, 3905 Cottage Grove avenue, had been recalled for failure of the café owner to comply with the President's reëmployment agreement. The removal of the Blue Eagle is the first action of the kind taken against any Chicago business.

Peter Coconis, head of the Coconis Restaurant company, which operates the Royal café, was ordered to surrender the NRA insignia to the Chicago postmaster. The order was issued in a telegram sent from Washington by Administrator Hugh S. Johnson after he had received the recommendation of the Chicago board.

Charge He Falsified Records.

Coconis was charged with working employés in excess of the stipulated 48 hours a week for women and 54 hours a week for men; paying less than the stipulated wages of 28 cents an hour; falsifying records and books, and using subterfuge to defeat the spirit of the reëmployment agreement. All of the charges were denied by the restaurant owner, Chairman Bruce said.

"The employer denied that he worked his help longer than the stipulated hours or underpaid them," Mr. Bruce said. "He showed his books to prove his point.

"It was proved, however, through the testimony of two witnesses, that he kept his records fraudulently. The employés, we learned, were required to sign their hour sheet on Monday for the week in advance, and Coconis filled in the records himself."

Eight Employés Complain.

The action against Coconis was taken on complaint of eight of his employés. A dishwasher in the café testified that he had worked from twelve to fourteen hours a day seven days a week for only $5 a week.

Two waitresses told the compliance board that they received $8 a week for a forty-eight hour week and $7 a week for a 42 hour week. Under the code they should have been paid $13.44 for the longer week and $11.76 for the shorter week.

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green announced yesterday that he would appear today before Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff at Rockford and ask that an injunction suit brought by the National Lock company of Rockford against the Chicago regional labor board be transferred to the federal court at Freeport.

Attorney Green will argue that the state court has no jurisdiction.

ALASKAN MINERS ASK U. S. FOR 'GRUBSTAKE'; PROMISE MUCH GOLD

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The Anchorage Igloo of Pioneers of Alaska today sent to all other igloos a resolution advocating a great drive for prospecting Alaskan gold, with the federal government entering into partnership with the miners by "grubstaking" them.

"The most logical and feasible way for America to secure an adequate supply of gold, or silver and gold, as monetary metals at home," the resolution said, "is to engage directly in development of its mineral lands by outfitting qualified prospectors acquainted with local conditions on a partnership basis, under suitable provisions for sale of government interests and transfer of title to those who will engage in the actual mining."

Another Alaskan gold rush will open to American producers a vastly expanded market in the north, the Pioneers said.

ARTIST BARCLAY ADJUSTS CLAIMS OF FORMER WIFE

New York, N. Y., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Settlement of the alimony difficulties between McClelland Barclay, artist, and his former wife, Mrs. Nan Barclay, was announced tonight.

Richard Steel, attorney for Barclay, said the artist made a "substantial" cash payment to his former wife and established a trust fund to take care of all future alimony payments.

Denying Mrs. Barclay's recent charges that more than $30,000 was due her in arrears, Steel declared Barclay "never was more than $3,000 in default and that amount was in the bank for her whenever she wanted to collect it."

Steel said Barclay had paid his former wife more than $100,000 since they were divorced, in 1930. She was awarded alimony at the rate of $1,000 a month.

Barclay, who has since remarried, spent several days in a Bridgeport, Conn., jail last October when his first wife had him arrested on a charge of nonpayment of alimony.

NEW YORK M'QUADES MUST NOW DEPEND ON $7,500 PENSION

New York, Dec. 6.—[Special.]—The staff on which the thirty-four McQuades have leaned for so many years, in time of sickness and trouble, is himself preparing to lean upon the city for support for the rest of his life. Sheriff James A. McQuade of Kings county was disclosed today as among the 120 Tammany jobholders who applied on Saturday for retirement on the day the new fusion administration comes into office, Jan. 1.

Sheriff McQuade will draw a pension for life of about $7,500 a year. During the Seabury investigation accountants showed that he banked $547,000 between 1925 and the fall of 1931, but he explained that it was all a bookkeeping illusion and that he had kept the small sums moving in and out of his bank account in the process of supporting the thirty-four members of the McQuade family who depended on him to keep food in their mouths and clothes on their backs.

TEACHERS' FUND IN ILLINOIS CUT TO $73,600 A MONTH

All Taken Out of Vocational Class.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Illinois today received a monthly allotment of $73,600 from the federal relief administration for the employment of jobless school teachers throughout the state.

The quota, formally approved by Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, is the largest yet granted to any state under the new government program to give jobs to unemployed teachers. The amount, however, was $16,400 below the $90,000 a month budget submitted by F. J. Blair, Illinois superintendent of education, and Wilfred Reynolds, state relief administrator, yesterday.

Vocational Work Loser.

The entire slash in the state request was taken out of the amount proposed for vocational rehabilitation work. The state budget called for a monthly expenditure of $18,000 in this work, but the approved allotment provides only $1,600. Relief officials pointed out that in this category of educational activity, case workers and not teachers are given employment.

The initial monthly allowance will be made available to state officials immediately upon receipt of a formal application from Gov. Henry Horner, it was said. A letter informing Mr. Blair and Mr. Reynolds of the allotment was mailed today, and receipt of Gov. Horner's application, a mere formality, is expected before the end of the week.

How It Is Divided.

The $73,000 made available to Illinois will be expended as follows, under the budget submitted by state officers yesterday.

For the instruction of adult illiterates, $17,000 a month; employing 300 teachers to teach 3,000 persons.

For vocational training in trades and industries, commerce, agriculture, and home making, $20,000 a month; employment for 380 teachers and instruction for 4,000 persons. For vocational rehabilitation, $1,600 a month.

For general education of unemployed and other adults "who are in need of further educational activities to make them well informed, responsible, and self-supporting citizens," $25,000 a month; employing 500 teachers and providing instruction for 6,000 persons.

For nursery schools $10,000 a month; jobs for 200 teachers in 200 new nursery centers, and instructions for 3,000 children and 500 parents.

Refuses to Work in Relief Garden; Given Six Months

Vincennes, Ind., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Because he refused to work on the made work program, Elmer Moore, 60, was fined one dollar and costs and sentenced to six months at the state farm today by Mayor J. W. Kimmell. The specific charge against Moore was vagrancy. Poor relief officials said he refused to work when assigned to employment in community gardens here.

URGES GROWING MORE HORSES TO EAT CROP EXCESS

Dobbin's Decline Linked to Farm Hard Times.

Declaring that horses as well as humans are ultimate consumers of farm products, Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America, called upon business men yesterday to consider his suggestion for solving the problem of the growing surplus in farm products. He would increase the number of horses and mules in this country from 17,000,000 to 20,000,000. The association held its annual meeting at the Blackstone hotel.

The number of horses in this country has decreased by 10,000,000 and this has lost the farmers a market for 40 million acres of farm products, considerably more than his total exports of wheat, corn, oats, rye, and barley. The farmer is awakening to the cause of his difficulties and the remedy, Mr. Dinsmore said, but city men have not reached this stage.

Other Animals Are "Factories."

"All other animals are merely food factories," he said, "converting pasture, hay, forage, and grains largely into meats and wool. There are only three things farmers can produce, aside from horses and mules. These are raw materials for food, clothing, and industrial uses; and these are produced all over the world, creating competitive conditions beyond the possibility of control."

Encouraging to the members of the association is the fact that the demand for farm horses increased in the last year. Stallions were bringing $100 more a head, and mares and fillies $15 and $20 more than formerly.

Some city gains have been made in use of horses in milk deliveries and other short-haul, frequent stop work, Mr. Dinsmore said.

Says Tractors Cut Farm Prices.

Speaking along similar lines, A. B. Hancock, president of the organization, said the American farmer was suffering from "too much gas engine." The ultimate cost of tractors to the farmer, he warned, is in lower prices for his products.

Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Lincoln Fields race track, spoke on the growing use of horses for riding and driving, of which a recent survey revealed there are at least 100,000 in the United States. Of the estimated 10,000 race horses, Mr. Peabody said that the race course was now, as it was 2,000 years ago, the final proving ground for many breeds.

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, who yesterday was elected to the board of directors of the association, described the qualities wanted in polo mounts. He said that better "grammar school education" must be given polo ponies on the ranch than they now receive. However, players who saw the recent East vs. West matches here are convinced America has produced as good horse flesh for the game as can be found anywhere in the world, he declared.

LEWIS PREDICTS PARIS WILL QUIT GOLD STANDARD

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois predicted here today that France would go off the gold standard within two weeks and return to her bimetal system of two years ago, and that England would adopt the controlled monetary policy of the United States. He hinted that a new adjustment of the whole war debt question would result.

The Democratic senate whip also said that it is likely "the United States will unite with its controlled gold standard such proportion of silver as will meet the demands of the small trade."

Eight Animals at Live Stock Exposition Trace Four Centuries of Beef History

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Pictures that moo, bellow, stamp, shake their massive heads, gaze at you with eyes at once solemn and luminous, and, when they patiently sigh, blow a gust of sweet, warm breath in your face.

They tell you at a glance the story of beef cattle in North America from a time soon after a grief-stricken old man named Columbus died to the time of the compact little prize winning steer that today makes prime beef at six and a half cents a pound—on the hoof—for your table.

When you get down to the rock bottom fact of existence—and that fact is food—there is not in the annals of mankind a story more important than the transition from tough, stringy beef tissue to the prime beef of today. That transition is man's triumph. The cattle did not achieve it unaided. It is the miracle wrought by stock breeders of our time.

First Thing to See at Stock Show.

This series of eight living pictures, at once so instructive and so fascinating that even laymen linger long before them, are on an upper floor in the twenty-two acres of the current International Live Stock exposition at Union stock yards.

Ask the way to them when first you reach the vast beauty show that brings the gala week in all Chicagoland's calendar.

Ask first for these living pictures because they are the best possible introduction to the whole show's wonders and beauties. They tell basic things. A child can understand them and a man of science will stand reverent before them.

For the benefit of visitors they ought hourly to be lectured on by veteran stockmen or by some of the numerous professors of agriculture who have come to the beauty show from universities of Chicagoland and from foreign universities.

But as no stockman or professor is on the job, I will do the best I can. My cautious steps are guided by young Mr. William Ogilvie, one of the coming men of the yards and son of the late Robert Burns Ogilvie, who was a yards grandee and founder of the Ruth gold, silver and bronze medal contests named in honor of biblical Ruth, who gleaned in the fields of Boaz, contests which have produced valuable monographs on American agriculture.

From Buffalo to "Baby Beef."

In stall No. 1—panel No. 1 you might say—of this living history in living pictures is a buffalo.

His kind produced for the American Indian of the plains, and for American explorers, the equivalent of beef. The sad truth that this noble animal is nearly extinct is indicated by the fact that the specimen in stall No. 1 was brought to the beauty show not from the plains where his ancestors once roved by millions but from our Lincoln park zoo. He seems a comfortable, mannerly beast with a genius for minding his own business. But threaten him and he shows courage and skill in defense. In India the owner of domestic buffaloes will even drive his herd through a jungle where tigers are, well knowing that his beasts will swiftly horn the life out of any tiger that attacks them. Indeed the tiger, unless wild with hunger, will usually slink away from them, and some hunters say that a buffalo can topple over even an elephant.

Our Indians Tamed No Buffaloes.

The wild American brethren of oriental buffaloes were food and raiment to the Indians of the plains. Curiously enough, our Indian had no domestic live stock of the bovine genus before the white man came, and in none of our cattle of today is there any strain of the old, indigenous American buffalo. There never was.

Now to stall No. 2.

From it a gaunt, scrawny beast looks out at you. He is a long horn steer and his kind is now hard to obtain in Chicagoland for exhibition or any other purposes. Mr. Ogilvie said that it is hardly too much to say that the kind is nearly extinct. He gazed upon the huge animal with disfavor, pointing to the scraggy hinder parts and exclaiming, "Look at those cat hams!"

But this beast was once a boon.

They Fed the Conquistadores.

His kind fed the white men who first explored the western hemisphere. His ancestors were an importation, first being landed from Spain in the island of Santo Domingo [western end of which is Hayti] not long after the discovery of America.

In 1521 Governor General Villalobos had a shipload of the calves of this Spanish type of cattle brought from Santo Domingo to Mexico. They were landed near Vera Cruz.

Forthwith the story of beef cattle in continental America began.

The type spread over the southwestern and western plains of what is now the United States and it was the beef of western pioneers up to so late a period as 1850.

The descendant of that type in stall No. 2 is a terror when aggrieved or alarmed. It took a corporal's guard of strong men—and that, roughly, is a dozen or so—to get him into his panel in the living picture series. Before he was brought into the hall where he is now on view all but one of the doors of that hall were locked and armed police were placed on guard.

Police Clear the Hall.

They kept out all but lively herdsmen. Then the beast, roped and tied, was dragged in by two men on horseback, one before and one behind. Twice he broke away and the corporal's guard went into action.

When it was all over and the longhorn was—except for a gash over the ribs—successfully stalled his remark was, "Well, what's this all about?" and he gloweringly fell to feeding.

During the melée somebody said, "Suppose he makes a rush for this rather flimsy door?"

"O, that'll be all right!" was the reply—"you see we've got a policeman on the door."

The policeman grinned rather a sickly grin and said, "Sure"—without enthusiasm. A stockyards policeman at that.

Now stall number three.

Improvement begins.

You are looking at a big steer. His type, too, is practically extinct. This one is from the Williams brothers' farm, Crescent City, Ill., and the builders of the living history exhibit had to make a long search for him. He is less than four years old and weighs twenty-six hundred pounds. Fine beef cattle today should weigh not much more than twelve hundred pounds at the most.

Days of Lake Front Stock Shows.

This giant, five feet high at the shoulders and ten feet long, is a survival of the type that was extolled at the old fat stock shows on the lake front as late as the early nineties. It produced a large quantity of tallow and large cuts. The excessive tallow was wasteful and the day was not far distant when the small, apartment dwelling, city family, with its little gas range and kitchenette, would not want the large cuts. Furthermore, three to five years were required to finish an animal of this type for the market. Now the highbred animal that produces baby beef is finished in from eighteen to twenty-four months, partly as a result of highly scientific feeding. See how much quicker a turnover he is!

But Mr. Ogilvie spoke with respect of that "big steer type," saying, "He was the beef of the empire builders and he served a mighty purpose in his time. Today he is considered a wasteful monstrosity.

"As to breeding, this big steer type was to some extent the result of the crossing of the old Spanish longhorns of the plains with good shorthorn, Hereford, and Aberdeen-Angus bulls from England and Scotland in the last half of the nineteenth century."

Now the Story's Climax.

Move on to stalls number four, five, six, seven, and eight. Here is beauty. Here is richness. Here are economical little animals that represent the mounting triumphs of animal husbandry during the last thirty years. They are the result of improved breeding and intensive early feeding.

They mean science and thought.

The living pictures now are telling you the story of baby beef producers. The living specimens in the various stalls into which you are looking are graded from "prime beef"—the best—which will sell at six and a half cents a pound on the hoof, on down through "choice," six and a quarter cents a pound; "good," five and a half cents a pound, and "medium," four and a half cents a pound. The animals representing "medium" have not received perfect feeding and hence have not been "built out." Even if a layman, you can see the difference at a glance.

And there is your living history of four centuries of beef growing in America. Your compact tidy, five-pound roast of beef and your beefsteak that is delicately "marbled" with fat instead of being loaded with fat did not "just grow." Science made them.

When Land Grows Costly.

The even larger lesson of the living pictures was pointed out by President Leonard of the yards and of the International.

"On costly land," said he, "the big steer that it took four to five years to finish just wouldn't do. Now the stock raiser gets two bites at the cherry with his tidy animal that can be finished in from eighteen to twenty-four months.

"And it was the International that had to bear it in upon all breeders that this could be done by showing them animals which farsighted, learned breeders had finished rapidly as a result of careful selection, pure breeding, and scientific feeding. Thus the supreme value of the International lies in its rigorous selection of prize animals and in its generous recognition of the 'proved types' of live stock. Those types become patterns the world over."

OKLAHOMA BOYS WIN POULTRY JUDGING TITLE

Oklahoma won first place in poultry judging among 4-H club boys and girls at the International Live Stock exposition, it was announced yesterday. Competing against 4-H teams from seven other states, three Oklahoma boys carried off the honors with a score of 1,710 points. They are Elvis McCraw of Delhi, Jimmie Russ of Lookeba, and Alvin Newmann of Granite, Okla. Michigan ranked second with 1,615 points, and Illinois third, with 1,550 points.

This morning at a breakfast for 4-H club delegates at the Montgomery Ward & Co. plant, the winner of the 1933 home economics $400 scholarship given by that company will be announced.

The 4-H club members attended a matinée horse show at the International Live Stock exposition yesterday and assembled at a party in the Auditorium hotel last night. In the morning they toured the city in buses. The farm youths and girls are attending a National Boys and Girls' 4-H Club congress being held in connection with the exposition this week.

ILLINOIS FARMER IS NAMED CORN KING OF WORLD

BY PAUL POTTER.

Illinois and Indiana corn growers shared the bulk of premiums meted out at the grain and hay show, held in connection with the International Live Stock exposition in its fifth day at the Chicago stockyards yesterday.

An Illinois corn grower, C. Worth Holmes of Joy, Mercer county, was named international corn king, while Gilman Stewart, 15 years old, Greensburg, Decatur county, Ind., was crowned the 1933 corn prince. It was the first time either had won such a title, although young Stewart has taken second place at two previous international grain shows.

The title of corn king had been won by Indiana farmers each year since 1928.

Holmes is the first man in history to win with a sample of ten ears of Krug Utility type corn. Previous corn kings have displayed a rough kernel type called "show type," while the Holmes corn is smooth kerneled and yellow.

Ex-Champion Wins Reserve Title.

Peter J. Lux, who has won three international corn championships, won the reserve title yesterday among adult growers with ten ears of Johnson county white corn. Lux lives at Shelbyville, Ind., and has competed with high honors in Canadian grain shows in recent years. Holmes, who shipped his hand picked corn to Chicago's premier show, was surprised at his home yesterday to learn of his victory and plans to come to the exposition today to receive the award personally.

Young Stewart, son of Arthur C. Stewart, past president of the Indiana Corn Growers' association, lives on an eighty acre farm. He joined a boys' corn club when he was 10 years old.

"Dad has grown corn ever since I can remember," he said, "and he taught us what was good corn and what wasn't. We have three fields of 25 acres each and grow corn, wheat, and clover, with the corn always coming in a clover sod. I took care of 10 acres this year and it averaged between 70 and 72 bushels to the acre. We always gather our seed in the early fall before hard freezes and I picked out the ten ears myself from what had been saved for seed. It was quite a job, but I find it pays to stick to it until I get the best ten ears in the whole lot."

Another Hoosier Boy Wins.

Reserve sweepstakes among the young corn growers also went to an Indiana boy, Gerald Foster of Sharpsville, Tipton county, on a sample of Reid's yellow dent.

The 1,200 4-H club boys and girls from forty-three states attending the national club congress were guests of the exposition yesterday at the matinee horse show, also viewing the new champions in live stock and grain for 1933, now housed in fancy decorated pens about the twenty-two acres of show grounds.

The crowd of 55,000 passing through the gates yesterday brought the total attendance of the five days to 207,000, with exposition officials looking forward to setting a new all time attendance record before the fair closes Saturday night. Afternoon horse shows will be held tomorrow and Saturday, as well as tonight and the next two nights.

Raymond Ickes, son of the secretary of the interior, drew cheers from yesterday's crowds as he starred in the University of Chicago Polo club's game against the Stalford Polo club, the former winning by a score of 7½ to 7.

Canadians Win Meat Title.

The championship award of the show in the intercollegiate meat judging contest went to the Ontario Agricultural college of Guelph, Canada, the first time a dominion school has ever won the National Livestock and Meat board trophy.

New champions of note winning yesterday include:

Senior and grand champion Shorthorn female—Red Rosebud, by Milky Way farms, Pulaski, Tenn., owned by F. C. Mars of Chicago.

"MR. JONES, YOU HAVE ASTHENIA!"

"Don't worry! You can get rid of that pepless, rundown feeling in a few days"

"Yes, I can understand how worried you've been—that constant dull headache and that nervous, irritable feeling could easily make you think there was something seriously wrong. You'll be surprised how quickly you'll feel your old self again."

It's Asthenia

(Run-down condition, usually caused by Constipation)

Millions of men and women are in the same lamentable plight today . . . and not one in ten can guess the cause. That's the insidious thing about Asthenia . . . it drags you down, slows your mind, robs you of your joys and pleasures, yet you hardly realize you're slipping.

Would you like for once to brush the cobwebs from your eyes . . be ready and eager for any task . . experience all the glories of this glorious old world? Then rid yourself of Asthenia—and stay rid of it.

You think that you're not the least bit clogged—you say that you're "regular" as can be—but physicians will tell you that it is only too easy to deceive yourself in this respect and stay doped with poisons. Thus millions of micro-organisms accumulate in the intestinal tract and produce that dull, achy, pepless feeling known as Asthenia.

Decide right now to turn the tables on Old Man Gloom. Take Pluto Water every morning for ten mornings, and see a new world in ten days.

The NEW TASTELESS WAY TO TAKE PLUTO

Taken as directed—one-fifth glass

in four-fifths glass of hot water

Gentle, Effective

Don't miss a day. Take it before breakfast as recommended—one-fifth glass Pluto Water in four-fifths glass hot water—for ten straight days! Cleanse your system of every vestige of health-destroying impurities. GOOD FELLOWS' TASK DOUBLED THIS CHRISTMAS

It's Their Job to Make Poor Children Happy.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

We may say of children that they have an a priori knowledge of a world that is all beautiful. They come to us, as Wordsworth says, trailing clouds of glory. All too soon the drab human reality closes around them and clouds the heavenly blue of trust and confidence in their eyes. What has been regarded as a mere extension, a natural right, becomes a separate and walled off thing.

It is only occasionally that we can help lift this cloud, and Christmas time offers an opportunity that the Good Fellows of Chicago have never failed to meet. They have begun to meet it this year, but there are twice as many applications for baskets of toys and food as there were last year at this time, while the number of Good Fellows is slightly smaller.

The depression of the last three years has fallen with especial weight upon those who are the least to blame —the children. How many empty plates and empty stockings! It is a veil that we would draw. Letters coming into THE TRIBUNE Good Fellow department tell part of the story.

No Santa for Two Years.

"We have had no Santa Claus for whose brothers and sisters are as two years," writes one little girl of 9, numerous as the children of the old lady who lived in the shoe.

"So please, Santa Claus, listen to my plea," she continues, "so my little sisters won't get up Christmas morning and cry like they have for two years."

In sublime faith another child writes:

"I am a little girl. I will be 9 years old Christmas day. I am in the fifth grade. I want you to bring me a big baby doll and a buggy. Uncle Bob will give you my letter."

Christmas and birthday on the same day. Imagine that. Even old Scrooge might toss out a copper for that.

Bringing Joy to Poor Homes.

The government and the charity organizations have nothing to do with this sort of giving. People may be on the relief rolls and still have a vital need for the little extra something that makes joy on Christmas morning. Pork and beans and shoes will not bring the star of Bethlehem to the fireside of all those humble brown homes in the great neglected districts of Chicago. It may take only a 50 cent toy to do that.

The evidence accumulates year by year that those who give in this way gain more than they give. They gain in proportion as they give. Inasmuch as you have done it unto one of these little ones you have done it unto Me. Of such is the kingdom of heaven. Thus may the old lines be adapted to the present case. The Good Fellows make this spirit live, year after year, in a quiet way, without advertising either the giver or the families which open the door at their hearty knocking.

Chance to Cheer Aged Folk.

This, the 25th year of the Good Fellows, calls for a new effort. Despite the times, this remains the richest civilization in the world. All the empty stockings would be filled if people only knew. There are old couples, too, who are writing in. Perhaps, in memory of mother and father, some one would like to add a bit of brightness to their lives at Christmas time.

THE TRIBUNE furnishes the clearing house for this effort. All you have to do is to designate what sort and size of family you wish to take care of, and a name or names will be furnished to you. Cash will be used by THE TRIBUNE to fill stockings that would otherwise be neglected. Each family is visited and its needs investigated before the names are turned over. The Good Fellow department of THE TRIBUNE or The Tribune service bureau at Dearborn and Madison streets will respond to all applications.

Resolution by City Council.

The following resolution, introduced by Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], was passed unanimously by the city council yesterday:

"Whereas, the Good Fellows have opened their silver anniversary campaign to bring happiness to less fortunate children and parents, and

"Whereas, the Good Fellows plan to deliver baskets of food to lonely and destitute old people, and

"Whereas, this work has been carried on for 24 years in our city, enhancing the yuletime spirit with thoughts of generosity and kindness,

"It is hereby resolved, That the city council of the city of Chicago extend its felicitations to the Good Fellows and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for this unselfish activity, and wish for all Good Fellows the greatest reward of all, the thanks of a grateful people.

"It is hereby further resolved, That every citizen of this city who finds it possible should join with other Good Fellows."

'Tip, Contract,' Judge Says, 'Collect for Overcoat'

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Judge Edward Brand today ruled that a 10 cent tip given by Henry Klintworth to the hat check girl constituted a contract for service and that the hat check girl's employer must therefore recompense Klintworth $32 for a missing overcoat despite signs, "We won't be responsible for missing articles."

WINS CONGRESS SEAT; OFFERS TO QUIT, RUN AGAIN

Long Candidate Ready to Give All a Chance.

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 6.—(AP)—A motherly, soft spoken woman, past middle age, who never made a public speech in her life, today threw consternation into Louisiana politics by offering to cancel her disputed victory in yesterday's Sixth district congressional election and run again in a primary in which all aspirants for the post would be given an equal footing on the ticket.

In a surprise statement, which left her friends and foes alike stunned with amazement, Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, put up and elected as "the unopposed nominee" by the state administration and Senator Huey P. Long, said she acted to restore peace in her district, scene of riotous anti-administration demonstrations for the last eight days.

Seeks to Restore Peace.

"I find myself, through no fault of my own, enmeshed in a factional campaign," said Mrs. Kemp, widow of the Sixth district representative who died six months ago. "And so in opposition to the judgment and wishes of my political advisers, and in a spirit of compromise to the end that we may have peace, I have submitted a proposition which I pray may be accepted."

The proposition, briefly, was that she would resign from the congress seat to which the administration declared she was elected yesterday, on condition that the protesting citizens of her district could in turn cancel plans for holding "a citizens' popular election" for congress on Dec. 27. Then she proposed that all candidates for the Sixth district seat should go into the race together through the routine procedure of elimination primaries and a general election.

Long Dodges Interview.

Both Senator Long, who threw the full support of his political organization behind her candidacy, and Gov. O. K. Allen, who called yesterday's sudden election without allowing time for a primary, denied themselves to interviewers after the Kemp statement, which Mrs. Kemp made clear was issued on her own initiative.

State authorities, however, continued to compile yesterday's slim vote in the district, with indications that only about 5,000 persons had voted on the ticket which contained only the name of Mrs. Kemp. All of the district did not participate in the election, but the 5,000 votes were cast in an area with a normal voting strength of more than 45,000.

Convict 3 Election Officials.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Three election commissioners who served in the general election in New Orleans Nov. 8, 1932, were found guilty of falsifying election returns today by Judge Frank T. Echezabal in Criminal District court. Sentence was deferred.

The defendants convicted were Harold Pujol, C. J. Lusk, and S. W. Huck.

The commissioners reported an official vote of 562 for an amendment and five against while a recount in court showed the vote to be 84 votes for and 50 against.

HOMES OF TWO MINERS BOMBED.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Houses owned by two Riverton miners were bombed last night in what officials feared was a renewal of mine warfare in Sangamon county.

MAYOR LAUNCHES CHARITY BENEFIT DRIVE AT BANQUET

To 300 Chicago business men gathered at the Palmer house last evening Mayor Kelly was introduced "not as the mayor of Chicago but as Ed Kelly a lover of children." The occasion was a banquet given by the mayor to inaugurate a campaign to raise $200,000 to clothe 40,000 destitute children at Christmas time.

The business men were told that the money was expected to be raised at a performance of "Chicago's Own Benefit," with a cast of stage and radio stars, to be given at the Chicago Stadium on Dec. 20.

Other speakers were Britton I. Budd, D. F. Kelly, George O. Fairweather, F. J. Lewis, Robert J. Dunham, Robert L. McInerney, and Barnet Hodes, secretary of the benefit.

FEDERAL COUPONS GIVEN

EXPECT ARREST OF INSULL AFTER HE QUITS GREECE

Little Chance of Escape, Say U. S. Officials.

Federal officials here indicated yesterday that Samuel Insull has little chance of escaping arrest and trial in a Chicago federal court. This attitude was taken as the result of reports from Greece that the former utility magnate would be deported at the expiration of his police permit for residence in Greece on Dec. 31.

His only chance to evade return to Chicago, it was pointed out, would lie in a successful departure from Greece without knowledge of the officials. Even though he should manage to do this, officials said he would have difficulty in finding a haven in another country. The only countries in which Insull would have hope of safety, it is said, would be Cuba and Honduras. The United States has not recognized the present government in Cuba. Honduras has no extradition treaty with the United States.

In the normal course of events, officials said, Insull will be arrested as soon as his ship cleared the jurisdictional boundary of Greece.

May Be Tried on All Charges.

Insull's status as a deportee will make possible his trial on all charges against him without further formality. Had the efforts of the state or federal government to extradite him been successful Insull could have been tried only on the charge listed in the extradition order.

In view of the reports from Greece and the recent order of Canadian court that Samuel Insull's brother, Martin, must return to face trial on state charges, officials are hopeful of an early trial in both federal cases growing out of the collapse of the Insull utility empire.

Must Include U. S. Charges.

The government, in order to bring Martin Insull to trial, must have the federal charges included in the extradition order. Immediate action to accomplish this is expected before the Canadian court rules on Martin Insull's appeal from the extradition order.

Failure of the government to obtain a favorable ruling on the extradition of Insull for federal trial would mean that he could not be arrested by the government while in the United States. If acquitted on the state charge Insull would be allowed a month under the law in which to return to Canada.

The federal case in which the Insull brothers and 16 others are charged with using the mails to defraud has been set for trial on Jan. 26. The other case, in which the defendants are charged with concealing assets in bankruptcy, has not been set for trial. Nothing will be done in this case, it was said, until the moves to return both the Insulls are completed.

Overrules Receiver's Plea.

Judge Evan A. Evans of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday overruled the motion of attorneys for Calvin Fentress, receiver for the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., to strike objections to the payment of $50,000 in receiver's fees. Attorney Samuel Ettelson, in his objection to payment of the fee, charged that there was collusion in the receivership.

Attorney Ettelson charged that the receivership litigation was dominated and directed by the Insulls. The effect of the ruling of Judge Evans is to allow Attorney Ettelson to bring in proof of his charges.

"It is sufficient if the objection challenges the allowance of the presented claim and apprises the court of the general ground of objection," Judge Evans said. "The facts necessary to show collustion must be established."

HEAD OF CHILE ASKS FOR POWER TO DEPORT FOES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 6.—Threats to overthrow the year old government of Arturo Alessandri today prompted the president to send an urgent message to congress asking special powers to suppress attempts at rebellion.

He claimed that prominent politicians are linked with communistic elements and the lower ranks of the army in a plot against the government and demanded powers to imprison or deport offenders without trial and to muzzle the press for a period of six months.

It is expected that his demands will be granted.

The regular army alleges that the President is partial to the Fascists and is aiding their development of a superior fighting force. It is reported that a majority of the generals in a secret session this afternoon pronounced a definitely anti-Fascist policy. Meantime the Fascist blue army commander has warned his followers to prepare for an emergency.

Kill that COLD!

Don't Merely Coddle It with Half-Way Measures!

A cold is nothing to trifle with! It may end seriously. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for an internal treatment. It also calls for a COLD remedy and not something good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is direct and internal—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is sold by all druggists, 30c and 50c. Accept no substitute.

WARREN C. SPURGIN, LIVES, COURT HOLDS IN INSURANCE SUIT

New Orleans, La., Dec. 6.—(AP)—A man who disappeared more than seven years ago, after allegedly embleszling "large sums' from the Chicago bank of which he was president, is still living, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals held today in an opinion denying collection of a $5,000 insurance policy on his life.

Vivian S. Tilton, of El Paso county, Texas, daughter of the former banker, Warren G. Spurgin, sought to collect the insurance from the Ætna Life Insurance company on the contention "that the insured having absented himself for seven years was dead, in the absence of proof that he was alive."

The insurance company introduced evidence to show that Spurgin had been president of the Michigan Avenue Trust company from which he "embezzled large sums of money."

Mrs. Tilton alleged that her father had disappeared from his home in Chicago in July, 1921, and had next been seen alive in Chihuahua, Mexico, but that he had disappeared from there in the fall of the same year, and had not been heard from since.

The insurance company, however, produced a witness who testified that he had seen Spurgin in the United States in 1930.

A jury in the western Texas district court returned a verdict in favor of the insurance company.

PEER PROPOSES BRITAIN BREAK IRISH RELATIONS

LONDON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A proposal made today in the house of lords that Great Britain break off all relations with the Irish Free State was dismissed by the government as an undesirable step.

Lord Hailsham, Great Britain's minister of war, representing the government in debate over the Irish crisis, said: "It is easier to break off relations than to find satisfactory means of reëstablishing them. It would not be a satisfactory or helpful step."

Lord Danesfort, a distinguished jurist, who made the proposal in the upper chamber, also suggested that higher tariffs be raised against the Irish Free State.

RICH SALESMAN TELLS STORY IN ALIENATION SUIT

Describes Auto Rides as "Round Table."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—His nocturnal automible rides with Mrs. Freida Kutik were for the purposes of discussing his domestic troubles, Alfred C. Engelmann, wealthy salesman, told a Circuit court jury today. He is being sued by William Kutik for allenating the affections of Mrs. Kutik, his former wife. He is asking for $25,000 damages.

Engelmann was called to the witness chair late today in Judge August E. Braun's court to tell his side of his friendship with Mrs. Kutik, following testimony given by Kutik himself and private detectives engaged to trail the pair.

Kutik had told of "trapping" his wife and Engelmann in Kutik's home, and declared that Mrs. Kutik several years ago admitted that she had gone with Engelmann several times a week.

Defendant Tells Story.

Engelmann, on the stand, denied his relations with Mrs. Kutik were anything but platonic. On the automobile rides into the country, which numbered five altogether, he said, he discussed his marital troubles with Mrs. Kutik "because she and her husband were our family's closest friends." Mr. Kutik endeavored to effect a reconciliation between Engelmann and his wife, now divorced from him, he said.

Kutik, who asked for water several times while on the stand and appeared to be ready to swoon at any moment in his rôle of the wronged husband, testified that he found Engelmann in the living room of his home one day in the fall of 1927 while his wife was dressing in the bedroom. His wife later told him of her friendship with Engelmann, Kutik said.

Under cross examination by Attorney Frank Mackett Jr., counsel for Engelmann, he admitted he tried to get her to sign a written confession. He denied that he said, "I'll get plenty of money from Engelmann after you sign this paper."

Detectives Trail Couple.

Walker Russell and Otis Gomillion, private detectives, told of trailing Engelmann and Mrs. Kutik twice. Once on the Cedarburg road they lost the trail when a train crossed between them and their quarry.

Q.—When and where did you meet Kutik? Whom did you meet first, Kutik or his wife? A.—I believe I met Kutik in 1924. We were members of the same lodge. I don't remember whether I met Kutik or Mrs. Kutik first.

Q.—Where did you meet Mrs. Kutik? A.—I believe I met her and her husband at a party given by a mutual friend.

Q.—Did you soon become good friends? A.—In 1926, I believe it was, both families became good friends.

Q.—When did you first go out with Mrs. Kutik and where? A.—I don't remember.

Discuss Family Troubles.

Q.—What did you do on the automobile rides? A.—I told her my family troubles and asked her advice on them.

Q.—Did you know of the comings and goings of Mr. Kutik and when he would be out of the city? A.—No.

Q.—Were you ever at the Kutik home when Kutik wasn't present? A.—On a Saturday morning, once when I came to see him, he wasn't home. Their children were, though.

Q.—So after the five occasions, you dropped the habit of going auto riding at night with Mrs. Kutik. Was it because you had no more domestic troubles to discuss? A.—Yes.

Q.—If Mrs. Kutik said that you kissed on these rides and that you went riding regularly and more than five times, would you say that Mrs. Kutik is lying? A.—Possibly.

Cross-examination as to the amount of his income and holdings, Engelmann refused to make any statement or estimate, saying, "I don't remember."

He said he could not estimate his earnings and wealth "even with 50 per cent leeway both ways."

HOLDUP MAN IS SENTENCED.

William Miller, 32 years old, 61 West Chicago avenue, who was captured Monday by G. A. Spinks, 11 West Division street, when he attempted to hold Spinks up at Clark and Erie streets, was sentenced to six months in the bridewell yesterday by Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden.

HOLD UP BIDS OF SPAIN, PORTUGAL TO SIT IN PARLEY

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A movement to investigate requests of the league of nations, Spain and Portugal for official observers at the Pan-American conference was opened today by Cordell Hull, head of the United States' delegation.

The American secretary of state moved in the steering committee to create a committee on policy to "re-examine purposes" of the bids for observers. A vote on his motion is scheduled tomorrow. Although the committee had previously approved admission of Spanish and Portuguese observers, a full session of the conference has not yet ratified the action.

See European Wedge.

The United States, it was learned, feels admission of non-American observers should be considered in relation to structural integrity and original objectives and might prove an entering wedge of disintegration into Pan-Americanism. Argentina's espousal of a Spanish observer was followed by Brazil's surprise request for the same privilege for Portugal. Mexico months ago suggested that Canada be permitted an observer, but the dominion apparently was uninterested. Some delegates wondered if Haiti would propose a French observer.

The conference has given no thought to what status would be attached to recognized observers, but some assumed they would be eligible to enter executive sessions. This was held in some quarters as a possible lead toward introduction of European influences into Pan-American councils.

Chaco War Brought In.

Earlier, over the objection of Peru and Argentina, who said in view of the Chaco hostilities it would be like a "firebrand igniting," the committee on organization for peace decided to name a subcommittee to study conciliation and prevention of war and also placed the Chaco conflict on the agenda. Some quarters had hoped to block treaty discussions until economic programs had been thrashed out.

Subcommittees were named by the transportation committee on river navigation, inter-American railways and aviation. The pre-conference statement of President Roosevelt urged the conference to seek improvement of transportation in all lines to bring the countries into closer touch and improve trade.

On motion of Nicaragua and seconded by Haiti, the committee on international law created a special subcommission to consider rights and duties of nations. Haiti is one of the committee's seven members.

THOUSANDS IN ITALY PAY HOMAGE TO 'GOOD OLD ST. NICHOLAS'

BARI, Italy, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Thousands of worshipers paid homage today to the memory of St. Nicholas, traditional original of Santa Claus. Pilgrims poured into St. Nicola church throughout the day to bow before a coffer containing his bones.

Special services to commemorate the 1581st anniversary of his birth were held throughout Italy as well as in other countries. Msgr. Augusto Curi, archbishop of Bari, presided over the services here.

Children in the valleys of the Italian Alps received the customary annual visit from St. Nicholas and also from the "son of the devil" last night. St. Nicholas was in Santa Claus attire and the other visitor wore horns and a tail. St. Nicholas brought presents and the "son of the devil," carrying a big sack, looked in vain for bad children to carry away with him.

Bullitt and Litvinov to Go to Moscow from Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The probability that William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to Russia, and Maxim Litvinov, soviet commissar for foreign affairs, will go to Moscow together was foreseen here today. Litvinov will stay here a short time on his arrival from Rome.

REVOLT AGAINST SOVIET REGIME IN OUTER MONGOLIA

TOKIO, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Civil war has flared in Outer Mongolia, with Nationalists rising against the soviet's nine year domination of the region which has Urga as its capital, Japanese military reports to the war office said today.

Moscow's recent efforts to tighten control over the area, said the reports, resulted in Nationalist outbreaks. Nationalists are battling their sovietized compatriots who control the nominally 'independent' Urga government, which is under soviet influence, according to the dispatches.

The soviet embassy and military and commercial organs at Urga are pretending neutrality, added the reports, but it is understood that Moscow has ordered its officials to return home. Outer Mongolia proclaimed its independence of China in 1911 after the fall of the Manchu dynasty. A revolution in 1924, allegedly fostered by soviets, resulted in establishment of the Mongolian people's republic, modeled along soviet lines. China has never abandoned a technical claim to the country.

German Court Pronounces First Sterilization Edict

DUISBURG, Germany, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The first sentence of sterilization in Germany was pronounced by a court today upon a 33 year old laborer convicted of a criminal attack. Execution of the sentence was for the time being delayed for the accused to consent to it. His wife has already agreed to the operation. The sentence carries twenty months' imprisonment in addition.

Studebaker's Quadripoise Suspension provides

LEVEL RIDING

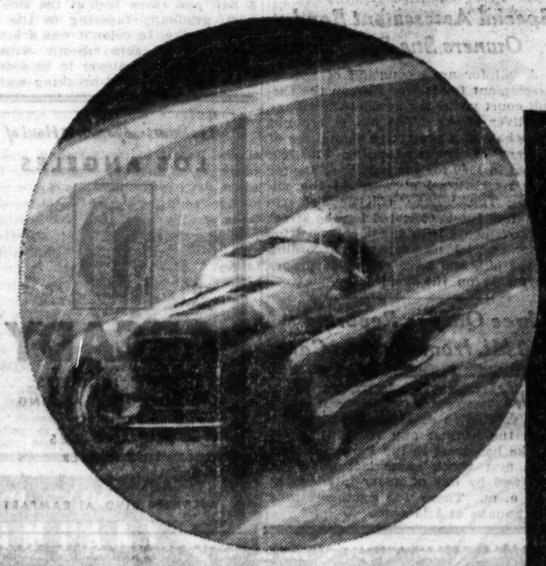

...THE MILLION DOLLAR RIDE OF 1934

LEVEL-RIDING — Studebaker's latest brilliant contribution to motoring comfort — helped to sell more Studebakers last month than in any other November in eight years.

This million dollar advancement gives you level-riding on the turns . . . level-riding on rough roads . . . at 1934 speeds!

Quadripoise Suspension is the result of the expenditure of more than a million dollars in Studebaker's laboratories and proving ground. It embraces not merely one, but a whole series, of closely related engineering achievements.

This great Studebaker development includes in its scope all four extremities of the chassis, rather than merely the forward half. It embodies the most precisely calculated distribution of chassis weight, body weight and passenger weight.

Five 85% stock Studebaker cars, in the last 500-mile Indianapolis Race, captured 5 of the first 12 places—part of the painstaking program of Studebaker engineering research which produced Quadripoised Suspension.

Level-Riding, as achieved through Quadripoise Suspension in the Startling New Studebakers for 1934, is advanced materially by Studebaker's extremely low center of gravity. The car is wider than it is high. The center of the entire car's total weight is within 27 inches of the ground. Even when tilted to an angle of 58 degrees, the car will return readily to even level.

Why Studebaker Cars Keep Their Balance

As a result, the center of the entire weight of the car is less than 27 inches from the ground! The cars are wider (74 inches) than they are high (69 inches). Any Studebaker will retain its balance, even if tilted to an angle of 58 degrees.

Quadripoise Suspension likewise involves spring placement, spring dimensioning and spring articulation. Springs are spaced further apart—another Studebaker innovation! It includes de-synchronization of the various rhythmic impulses inevitably set up by wheels, springs, motor and chassis. It covers tire sizes and air pressures. And it is affected materially by Studebaker's pioneering use of aerodynamic body design... Studebaker's skyway style.

No Swerving, No Wandering, No Wheel Fight

The net result? A Studebaker ride is unique. The startling new 1934 Studebakers are completely free from shimmy and wheel fight. They never swerve or wander at any speed on straightaway, hills or curves. These Quadripoised Studebakers keep a level keel over rough roads. Rear seats are as free from bumps and jars as front seats. There is a notable absence of pitching, swaying and bouncing. Your Studebaker hugs the road on the turns.

Unseen but notably evident, Studebaker's Quadripoise Suspension introduces the stability of pyramid design—low weight, balanced weight—Quadripoised weight. Studebaker level-riding is a proved fact. Take your Studebaker ride before, or after, you experiment with other motor cars . . . you will find none so impressively comfortable on any sort of road at any rate of travel!

NEW CRIMINAL COURT CHIEF TO PUSH CRIME WAR

CRIMINAL COURT.

Anderson Braddock, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

Fred Fisher, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Victor Gnatek, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; George Stenson, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Francis Allegretti.

Joseph Maselkos and Joseph Jasinkas, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Thomas J. Lynch.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday pledged himself to continue the war on crime as he took over his duties at chief justice of the Criminal court. Judge Finnegan was chosen to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Judge Philip L. Sullivan to become a judge of the United States District court.

"I am here to take up the work which has been left by the retiring chief justice. It is going to be my aim to clear the docket as soon as possible and to see that every defendant gets a fair and impartial trial and a speedy one.

"It is the duty of the state's attorney, not the judges, to prosecute the criminals, but with coöperation of the state's attorney the judges will continue to try cases as speedily as possible. People in and out of Chicago are beginning to get the idea that Chicago is not a good place for anyone who is not a good citizen. I hope to strengthen that impression."

His First Official Act.

Judge Finnegan's first official act as chief justice was to set Jan. 2 as the date for a hearing on the motion of Defense Attorney Floyd Thompson for the discharge of Alderman Oscar Nelson [46th], one of the defendants in the so-called racket conspiracy trial.

Attorney Thompson contended that Ald. Nelson was entitled to a discharge under the act which allows dismissal of a case in which a defendant demands trial and is unable to get it in four consecutive terms of court.

Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Raber held that Ald. Nelson is not entitled to a discharge under this act, as he has participated in the preliminary motions in the case with the other defendants. The prosecutor pointed out that the case had been set for trial on Jan. 4, and said that any delays in getting the trial started were caused by motions of the defense.

Other Defendants in Case.

Defendants with Alderman Nelson in the case include Prof. Benjamin M. Squires, former czar of the cleaning and dyeing industry in Chicago, and Aaron Sapiro, New York attorney. The government has refused to return Al Capone, now serving a federal penitentiary sentenced for income tax violation, to Chicago for trial, and Murray Humphries, Capone's successor as Public Enemy No. 1, also indicted, has not been apprehended. The defendants are charged with conspiracy to stifle trade by bombings, acid throwings, and terrorism.

The city council yesterday submitted to its judiciary committee a request of Ald. John Toman [23d] for the preparation of an ordinance which would provide that any persons convicted of a crime should register with the police upon arriving in Chicago.

DAIRY OWNER'S SON, 16, SHOT IN OFFICE HOLDUP

Alfred Kahlert Jr., 16 years old, of 1638 Summerdale avenue, son of the owner of the Edgewater Dairy company, 5348 Ravenswood avenue, was shot in the right leg by a bandit in the dairy offices last night. He was standing near the safe when the gunman, wearing a handkerchief mask, entered and then walked over to young Kahlert.

"Open the safe," the robber ordered.

"I don't know how," the boy replied.

RECORD REVEALED

GEORGE KATRAS.

George Katras, alias Minas Areatos, who has been out on $15,000 bond pending an appeal on his conviction for the robbery of the Edgewater Trust and Savings bank, is back in the county jail again as a suspect in the holdup of the West 31st State bank, 555 West 31st street.

Lieut. John J. Farrell, of the Deering street station, who arrested him, disclosed yesterday what he considered interesting circumstances in the case.

Katras, Lieut. Farrell said, was found guilty of the Edgewater bank robbery last April, and sentenced to one year to life in prison. On Nov. 23, he said, Katras was freed from the county jail in $15,000 bonds on a writ of supersedeas. Six days later—Nov. 29—according to Lieut. Farrell, Katras and three other men held up the West 31st State bank and got $1,000. He was arrested the next day, and has since been held to the grand jury in bonds of $30,000 for bank robbery. His total liberty on the appeal bond was one week.

The arrest of Katras was made after Lieut. Farrell traced the robbers' car. Through a prescription found in it he seized Peter Fellicetti. Fellicetti confessed, according to police, naming Katras. Katras denies the robbery.

SEAT 8 JURORS IN MAY HANSON MURDER TRIAL

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—The mother of Mrs. May Hanson, on trial charged with the torch murder of her husband, Earl Hanson, and the slain man's mother, faced each other in Circuit Judge Arthur E. Fisher's court today as the selection of a jury to try Mrs. Hanson neared Completion. Eight jurors had been sworn in late today.

Listening intently as the lawyers questioned prospective jurors was Mrs. Andrew Hanson, 77 years old, Rockford, the mother of Earl Hanson, the Ingersoll Milling Machine company executive, whose charred body, the clothing soaked in gasoline, was found beside his burned automobile on Aug. 13 in the driveway of his former wife's home.

The aged woman attended the trial for the first time today.

Sitting nearby was Mrs. Alice Mulder, also of Milwaukee, the mother of the defendant, and Miss Florence Mulder and Mrs. Ralph Hanson, sisters of the woman accused of slaying her divorced husband.

The state has indicated that it will rely upon the testimony of eighty-two witnesses in seeking to prove that Mrs. Hanson tossed a bowl of gasoline over her former husband and his automobile and applied a match, causing Hanson's death.

Gen. Cardenas Nominated for Mexican Presidency

QUERETARO, Mexico, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, 39 year old veteran of the revolution of 1910, was nominated by the National Revolutionary party today as its candidate for the 1934 presidential election.

DECLARES RELIEF FRAUD CRIMINAL; REFUSES A WRIT

Judge McKinley Reverses David and Fardy.

Judge Donald S. McKinlay of the Criminal court yesterday refused to release a relief cheater from the Bridewell on a habeas corpus plea that public relief could not be obtained by fraud because it is a gift. The judge held that the obtaining of relief through misrepresentation is a criminal fraud and denied the writ.

The ruling was made when an attorney argued for the writ in behalf of John Hisgen, 33 years old, 6250 Harper avenue, who was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell and fined $25 by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman on Nov. 8 in the Stockyards court. The state showed that Hisgen was the owner of the Curd Nube Machine company, with offices at 117 West Lake street, that he deposited $990 in the Merchants' Bank and Trust company the day before he asked for aid, and that he obtained $27.39 in relief orders after swearing he was a pauper.

Conflicts with Other Rulings.

Assistant State's Attorneys James V. Cunningham and Walter L. McCoy of the habeas corpus department, argued against the writ. Their victory in Judge McKinlay's court followed previous rulings by Judge Joseph B David and Judge James F. Fardy, both of the Criminal court, that public relief is a gift and that no fraud can be committed in obtaining it.

Suit to enjoin the Illinois Emergency Relief commission from paying attorneys and investigators who have been working on the prosecution of relief cheaters was filed in the United States District court by Attorney William J. Gleason on behalf of Raymond G. Stoecker, another attorney, yesterday afternoon. The bill of complaint alleged that the relief funds are improperly diverted from their original purpose in these payments.

Associate of Defender.

Attorney Gleason shares an office with Attorney Joseph B. Lofton at 77 West Washington street, Attorney Lofton has appeared as a voluntary public defender of persons charged with obtaining relief by fraud, claiming to represent the Chicago Bar association. R. J. Dunham, chairman of the relief commission, has protested to the bar association against the tactics employed by Lofton and his associate William S. McNamara, in the relief cases.

The bill of complaint further alleged that it is the duty of the municipal and county prosecuting authorities to prosecute the relief fraud cases. It states that the suit is filed by Stoecker as a taxpayer and that federal jurisdiction is asked because part of the relief funds are furnished by the federal government.

Probe Theory That Prowler May Have Slain Housewife

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Ann Millman, 25 years old, who was found shot to death Tuesday in her home at 3009 Fillmore street, was continued to Dec. 15 yesterday to allow police to investigate a theory that she may have been slain by a burglar. Abraham Millman, husband of the dead woman, told police that his wife had no reason to end her life, but said that he suspected a prowler may have shot her.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

FUGITIVE SLAYER GIVES UP TO EASE HIS CONSCIENCE

Chicagoan Admits He Aided in Murder.

Richard L. Riley, 28 years old, whose family lives at 6107 Dorchester avenue, walked into police headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., yesterday and surrendered on a murder charge more than a year old. Riley has been sought since Aug. 8, 1932, for the holdup murder of Ole Hansen, owner of a roadhouse near Wisconsin Dells, formerly Kilbourn.

"I'm tired of hiding from the law," Riley told police, "and I want to give myself up. I'm wanted for robbery and murder in Wisconsin Dells, and my conscience won't let me go on any longer. I come from a good family in Chicago and my folks haven't seen me since Aug. 7. I want to clear the whole thing."

Four Others in Gang.

The other members of the gang of five, which participated in the fatal robbery, have been apprehended and are serving Wisconsin prison sentences. They are John Paul White, serving 14 to 20 years in the Wisconsin state prison; John Harper, 14 to 20 years; James Grippando, serving 14 to 25 years, and Mrs. Irene Smith Flanagan, 23 years old, Chicago divorcée, who is serving a year and a day on an accessory charge.

The three men, traced through the automobile which they had stolen, were arrested three days after the murder in an apartment at 1368 East 61st street. Mrs. Flanagan was traced from her home at 6121 Dorchester avenue and arrested in Kansas City, where she had fled. Officials now believe that she may have attempted to join Riley.

Others Accuse Riley.

Riley is accused by the other members of the gang and by police as the actual slayer of the resort keeper. The gang told police that they started to Wisconsin Dells to rob a bank messenger, and planned the roadhouse robbery to obtain expense money.

Mrs. Flanagan, who told police that she was "taken along as scenery," sat in the car while Grippando and Riley entered the resort. The two holdup men became nervous after ordering Hansen and thirty patrons to raise their hands. Two shots were fired and Hansen fell dead as the bandits fled.

Special Assessment Bond Owners Sue River Grove

A bill for an accounting of special assessment funds was filed in the Circuit court yesterday against the village of River Grove. The bill is brought on behalf of a protective committee of owners of bonds, totaling $138,900, issued in 1930 for the paving of Center and Wrightwood avenues in the village. The village officials are comingling funds collected for the street improvements with funds collected for other special assessments, according to the bill, and have not made proper payments on the bond issue.

Three Quakes Reported 140 Mi. from Panama Canal

COLON, Panama, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Three earthquakes were reported here today. The center of the disturbances was calculated at 140 miles from Balboa, the nearest any recorded earthquake has come to the Panama canal. The first shock came last midnight, followed by one of lesser intensity at 1:30 a. m. There was another strong earthquake at 5:25 a. m.

'SEA SERPENT' GRABS DUCK FROM YOUNG HUNTER

Canadian Close Enough to See Teeth and Tongue.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 6.—(AP)—A view of "Amy Cadorosaurus," Vancouver island's famed sea serpent, from only 10 feet away was almost too much for a young duck hunter—but he lived to write about it.

His view of the creature [whatever it is] was the closest of the upwards of 30 or 40 reputable citizens who have reported seeing it in the last three months. Among them were Capt. L. N. Prengel and First Officer A. E. Richards, of the liner Santa Lucia, who reported sighting it in the Gulf of Georgia.

Mouth Open To Him.

In a letter to a Victoria newspaper, Cyril B. Andrews, 21, of Pender Harborn, related that while he and Norman Georgeson were duck hunting last Sunday the sea monster serpent appeared beside their boat and seized a duck they had shot down.

"I was still only 10 feet away, when that thing, to my horror, gulped the bird down its throat," Andrews wrote. "It then looked at me, its mouth wide open, and I could plainly see its teeth and tongue."

Then, despite their rush to get their boat to shore, Andrews saw some more.

"Its coils rose at least six feet above me, gradually sinking under the water again. Its head was like that of a horse, but without ears or nostrils, and its eyes were in the front of the head, which was flat.

Smooth and 40 Feet Long.

"I would swear to the head being three feet long and two wide."

The creature's breath came in "short, sharp pants, like a dog's after a run."

"Its length when I first saw it lying in the bay was fully 40 feet, and from head to tail I would say it was all of that length as it appeared in front of me.

"Its thickness was between two and a half and three feet at the thickest part, gradually tapering to the tail, like a snake. In color it was a brownish grey, the skin smooth, with no spikes or fins whatever to be seen. It swam with its head breaking water."

for your teeth and gums

WOULDN'T it be a comfort to know that your teeth and gums are as safe as human care can make them? Here's how you can have that assurance. See your dentist for examination, say three times a year. Then supplement his expert care with the regular use of Squibb's Dental Cream.

Squibb's cleans effectively and polishes safely, with absolute freedom from grit. It gives all the help any dentifrice can give to promote health of the gums — by safe cleansing, not by the use of dangerous astringents. And its use is true economy.

In every tube is the Priceless Ingredient — the Honor and Integrity of the Maker. E. R. Squibb & Sons, Manufacturing Chemists since 1858.

The Danger Line is the area where the thin edge of the gum encircles each tooth, forming tiny ledges, difficult to reach by brushing. Here food particles collect and bacteria multiply, generating acids. Not one, but all your teeth are endangered by unhealthy gums. When you use Squibb's Dental Cream, you force into the sheltered areas countless antacid particles which help to combat the germ acids.

Many dentists advise the use of SQUIBB'S ORAL PERBORATE in its dry form on the tooth-brush twice during the week in conjunction with Squibb's Dental Cream as a maximum protection of the teeth.

NAZIS BOTTLE UP CHURCH ROW; BAN ALL MEETINGS

Order All Newspapers to Ignore Situation.

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Growing interest in Protestant church strife was partially curbed today when Prussian police forbade all meetings in connection with the tense religious situation until further notice.

German Christians as well as those opposed to their drive for "a new German Christian church" were forbidden to distribute handbills in advocating their causes.

At the daily press conference, the government ordered German news agencies and newspapers to ignore the church situation entirely.

Name Arbitration Body.

An arbitration commission of three was appointed today. The German Christians, the Nazi faction which obtained control of the church government, is represented on the commission by Pastor Gustav Heidenreich. The second member is Gerhard Jacobi, who will be the spokesman for the followers of the Rev. Friedrich von Bodelschwingh, deposed several weeks ago from the position of reichsbishop by the German Christians. Chief Ecclesiastical Counselor Ewers was named chairman.

Forces in opposition to the Nazi Christian program, pending reconstruction of the church cabinet, were waiting for Reichbishop Ludwig Mueller to make the next move in the church conflict. What might be described as an "oppositional congregation" now numbers about 4,000 representing one-half of the entire Reich church.

Mueller Issues Manifesto.

Meanwhile, Bishop Mueller issued a manifesto to his followers explaining the reason for his recent resignation from the protectorship of Nazi Christians as a necessary step to free himself from all party ties.

He paid warm tribute to the loyalty of his supporters "at a time when accusations of presenting heretical doctrines and charges of reactionism, besides all manner of defamatory statements, were rife."

Bishop Mueller said infringements have been committed, but "as true christians we must forgive and forget." He declared the church must not be a state within a state but a living organism of the third Reich.

A government ban on meetings of the Seventh Day Adventists, effective for several days, was raised today, a spokesman for the religious group said. The spokesman said that at a few provincial points some trouble was caused by misinterpretation of orders, but that services are now operating again.

President von Hindenburg bestowed a new title, "evangelical field bishop of military forces" upon Dr. Erich von Schlegel, chaplain of the army and navy.

HITLERITES PLAN TO END RIGHT OF WOMEN TO VOTE

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—German women, already relegated by the Nazis to the three k's—"kuche, kinder, kirche" [cooking, children, church]—will also lose the right to vote if the plans for the constitutional reorganization of Germany now being discussed in Nazi circles are carried out.

The reorganization is scheduled for next year and the new womanless one party reichstag, which will meet for the first time next Tuesday, is soon to be instructed to vote the necessary authority to the cabinet.

An outline of this reorganization has been furnished by Dr. Helmuth Nicolai, an official of the ministry of interior, in a brochure entitled "The Foundations of the Coming Constitution." The fundamental idea in Dr. Nicolai's work is this: The franchise is the privilege of German "Aryan" men able to bear arms. Whoever cannot bear arms must be excluded from the franchise. This rule automatically excludes women.

MUSSOLINI AND LITVINOV SPEED UP NEW ACCORD

ROME, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Ratification of the Italo-soviet nonaggression pact is expected within one month, an official announcement said today.

Direct agreements reached between Premier Mussolini and Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar, resulted in the announcement. The two also decided to continue present export credit arrangements between the countries until Dec. 31, 1934.

Under the nonaggression pact, signed by Mussolini and soviet Ambassador Potemkin on Sept. 2, the countries agree to follow a "policy of absolute abstention from all interference in the home affairs of each other." Litvinov left Rome last night for Berlin.

REICHSTAG FIRE TRIAL NEARS END; ALL EVIDENCE IN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEIPZIG, Germany, Dec. 6.—The last evidence was taken in the reichstag arson trial today after a week devoted to questioning 37 witnesses produced by the state, 25 of whom came from concentration camps or jails. Three of the prisoners, who declared in court that they gave previous evidence against the communist defendants under duress and threats, were still visibly ill.

The newest theory advanced, that the plenary hall of the reichstag could have been fired easily alone by Marinus van Der Lubbe, young Dutchman, who has declared repeated he started the fire, was under scrutiny today. This theory is that cleaning fluid used on the walls and chairs of the reichstag made them easily inflammable. The manager of the reichstag cleaners said this was impossible.

The prosecutor will sum up the charges on Dec. 13, after which the lawyers for the prisoners will address the court. The judges may pass sentence before the end of the year.

BEGIN CHOOSING JURY IN BERWYN BRIBERY TRIAL

Selection of a jury yesterday before Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Criminal court in the trial of Frank Posvic, city attorney of Berwyn and eight aldermen and former aldermen of the town, charged with receiving bribes in connection with the purchase of a city hall building in the suburb two years ago.

The other defendants are Albert Kunzl, Andrew Anderson, Benjamin Lejcar, Joseph F. Cervenka, Joseph Blaha, George C. Horvath, Henry C. Froula and Charles Nadherny. The bribes, it is charged, were paid for the passage of an ordinance by which the city agreed to pay $120,000 for the building at 6307 Cermak road, formerly occupied by the First National Bank of Berwyn.

JEWISH LEADER SEES WORLD HIT BY ANTI-SEMITISM

Urges His Race to Change Its Social Structure.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Prof. Chaim Weizmann, representing London Jewish organizations, told the refugee conference today that a wave of anti-Semitism is sweeping over the world. He said that in his opinion a peculiar social and economic structure forced on the Jews cannot be maintained in the face of a changing world.

Prof. Weizmann urged that Jews throughout the world concentrate on what he called national retraining and said a splendid example of this is afforded in Palestine and also in Poland.

Refutes "Vulgar" Conception.

He repudiated the "vulgar" conception that Jews are rich, saying the vast majority in the east and southeast of Europe live under strained economic conditions.

The London Jewish leader pledged Jewish coöperation with the governing board of the Jewish refugee organization, declaring the problem could be solved "provided we shall not be swamped again by a new wave of refugees fleeing in despair from their countries of origin."

He said he thinks the United States, the British dominions, the French dependencies, and some South American republics should absorb the refugees.

The conference today decided to appoint an executive committee and an advisory council to coöperate with James G. McDonald, league of nations commissioner for Jewish refugees, and representatives of Jewish and non-Jewish organizations.

Promises Same Patriotism.

Joseph C. Hyman, the secretary of the American-Jewish joint distribution committee, declared a readiness to cooperate. He said the refugees will show the same patriotism and devotion to new lands as they have shown in the country "from which they were obliged to flee although they and their forbears for centuries served it well."

Offers of collaboration also were received from Cyrus Adler of the American Jewish committee of New York, from James Bernstein of New York, on behalf of the Jewish colonization societies and from kindred bodies who urged relaxation of immigration restrictions in favor of the refugees.

Says Civilization Challenged.

Lord Robert Cecil of Great Britain said the refugee problem is of worldwide scope and significance not merely because of the Jewish question, but because "we are faced with a great challenge to the principles of our civilization."

Victor Henry Berenger, former French ambassador to the United States, described France as the frontier of liberty and said she willingly has received thousands of refugees who were helped by French-Jewish leaders.

ITALY PROPOSES U. S. JOIN LEAGUE TO RULE WORLD

Would Make Powers Dictators.

ROME, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A new program, which would radically reorganize the league of nations, in the hope that it may attract within its doors the United States and other world powers, has been launched. This was learned here today.

The movement is under discussion in several European capitals, it was divulged. Its sponsors desire Russia, Japan, and Germany to come into the league, as well as the United States.

Italy has not yet formulated definite formal proposals to other members, but it wants erased existing league articles which bind signatories to use military and economic forces to preserve boundaries created by the Versailles treaty. By this means it is hoped to remove the principal obstacle to United States membership.

Press Hails "Ultimatum."

This development became known following last night's decision of the Fascist grand council to demand that the league be sweepingly reformed or be faced by Italy's withdrawal.

The Italian press today lauded the council's action, hailing its ability "to view international forces with Mussolinian clarity and attention to realities."

Under the proposed reform of the Geneva organization a "league within the league" might be formed of the United States, Russia, Germany, Japan, and possibly Poland and Spain, or one or two others. This form, supporters believe, would make membership more attractive to the powers without.

Would "Divide" World.

Europe would be influenced by England, France, Italy, and Germany.

Articles 10, 11, 12, 13, and 16 of the league covenant, which guarantee preservation of the boundaries made at Versailles and provide for force to resist aggressions, would be wiped out.

As the United States insisted it did not wish to be involved in affairs of Europe these articles formed a basis of its refusal to come into the league, which was fathered by the late Woodrow Wilson.

The view was held here that adoption of the plan would inevitably weaken the present structure in a military sense, but would give it strength in other lines if the four other large nations joined.

Germany Hails Italian Move.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—Germany is greatly pleased with Italy's demand for radical reform of the league of nations and sees in it the end of its own political isolation.

"Never again will the league be able to revive in its old shape," said Chancellor Hitler's lieutenant, Alfred Rosenberg. "If it is possible to eliminate the spirit of Versailles from the league then a decisive step toward peace will have been taken in Europe. If the Italians succeed in bringing to an end the discrimination against Germany, then it will be possible for Germany to return to international meetings."

"Reorganization of the world is under way," says this newspaper, "and cannot be held up even if the French and their satellites cling desperately to the present Geneva system and to the dictates issued at Versailles and Trianon in 1919."

The Boersen Courier brands the league as a "mere continuation of the assemblies of those powers which created the Versailles treaty. The spirit of 1919 has never left them. It is a wonderful and cheap tool in the hands of French politicians."

WHY ANOTHER NAVY TREATY?

The Japanese foreign office lets it be known that Foreign Minister Koki Hiroto believes a direct naval understanding with the United States would be the best way to get a satisfactory naval agreement. The present treaty, which involves other nations and establishes ratios, expires in 1935, and a general conference will be required for a renewal. As a preliminary to such a general conference the Japanese are considering the probable benefits of a preliminary understanding and agreement, reached in a conference between Japan and America.

It is beginning to appear plausible, and, in the light of much experience, reasonable, that no treaty at all would be better than any which could be signed. It has been made plain enough that the things agreed upon at Washington in the first treaty and its supplements did not have the results desired. The supplementary treaty against aggression was nullified by Japan when its interests started its military activities in Manchuria and China. The naval ratios have been resented by Japanese militarists as humiliating, and they have given particularly an occasion for prejudice, suspicion, and ill feeling against the United States. The assumption has been that an imperialistic America deliberately sought the weakening of Japanese defense for the purpose of aggression. Americans know that to be entirely wrong, but the Japanese are told to believe it.

It is very likely a better situation would be created if the United States told Japan that it was in no way concerned in any naval program the Japanese wished to adopt, that it was indifferent to the building of Japanese warships and saw no occasion to be alarmed by any Japanese program. The relative resources of the two countries would be justification for such an American position, and the chances are that it would be regarded as more peaceful than a limitating treaty. The treaties have caused irritation. Presumably they were to remove the competition factor and allay provocations otherwise arising out of suspicion and distrust. Such hopes have not been realized and there has been constant dickering about this item and that item.

If the United States looks to its defenses and then uses its diplomacy to express the real peaceable intent of the country nothing should arise to cause it undue alarm. Its strength will be one protection, its fair dealings the other. Conferences are futilities and they aggravate the distrusts they were supposed to remove.

LOUISIANA IN REVOLT.

Louisiana opposition to Huey Long, based upon respect for public and private decency which he does not share, tends naturally toward greater violence as it encounters constantly the methods an unscrupulous man in high office is privileged to use and the protections he can throw about himself. The senator's attempt to elect a member of congress in the Sixth district by default of a primary brought a show of arms, the burning of ballot boxes and the closing of some parish polling places by force. Louisiana has some Cuban aspects.

When such a politician as Long has bewitched an electorate sufficiently to gain the control of government machinery and put himself in a position to ignore law it is no easy matter for indignant citizens to find a breach in his defenses. He is walled in. Long works upon a well known method of operation, joining pretenses of public service to the power to do lawless acts officially. An able demagogue can befuddle some of the people and in control of offices he can strong arm the others. Long's opponents in Louisiana are trying to get rid of a political malignance which will injure the state and they also are trying to do a service to all the people of the country. Long in the United States senate is in position to do damage to people who have no political weapons to defend themselves against him.

The United States senate sets up a concern for the character of its membership and the qualifications of its members, but the use it makes of its privileges in this respect is seldom consistent with its pretenses and more often than not it is found invading the rights of an electorate rather than protecting the qualifications of its members.

THE REBIRTH OF THE GODS.

Religion would be a puzzle to people even more zealous than the German Nazis—if people more zealous could be found—when their problem is one of separating spiritual authority from its scriptural origin, one of keeping it and rejecting it. Herr Hitler's state must be totalitarian. It must be everything—Boy Scout, business man, banker, and priest. Even the criminal classes must be good National Socialists. The headsman raising his ax and the murderer stretching out his neck must have one ideal in common, expressed in Heil Hitler just before the final ceremony in life, for the one of them.

Even if the Nazi state did not try to control religion and consolidate all creeds in one and only one recognized church, the Nazis would be bothered to explain how they could extirpate Jewish influence when it was resplendent in nearly every pulpit text, and when they relied upon religion for social discipline and national stimulation.

Orthodox churchmen, if unmolested, would allow politics to have its puzzle and go their way in their own creeds regardless of it. The state could adjust itself to any inconsistency which it cared to create. To the zealots this would be defeat, and apparently they are willing to go back to old Germanic paganism to win their point. There were Nordic gods, and some of the Nordic people did not abjure them until the sword was at their throats. The true way to the Nordic ideals goes back to these gods. It comes to the altars of Odin and Thor. The old gods emerge from their twilight, the return from Götterdämmerung.

Valhalla swings open its gates and the valkyries ride again. They have the music for it if they can find the words. Herr Hitler, in front of his mirror, may remain convinced that he has Odin in him and only needs an inspired tailor to bring it out, but the saluting shade back of him may be Siegfried, laughing, "Hell, Little Man!"

INDUSTRY GOES BACK TO WISCONSIN.

Gov. A. G. Schmedeman, head of the Democratic administration in Wisconsin, is showing economic as well as political intelligence in recognizing the need of industries in his state. In encouraging business he is doing good service to every citizen and particularly to every farmer. Each employer who operates there helps to create a larger market for its farm produce and tends to balance the agricultural forces of the commonwealth.

The administration merely by letting it be known that industry will not be crucified by partisan politics nor capital made a helpless victim of discriminatory taxes has induced the return of the General Motors plants to Janesville and has promoted home development of factories which in a preceding administration looked for all their growth outside of the state.

Redistribution of wealth as an end and object of taxation has become a discredited doctrine in Wisconsin.

It proved too much for the administration, which first summoned and then hastily let go of Prof. Harold M. Groves, La Follette chairman of the state tax commission.

An unofficial explanation is that his known advocacy of distributing wealth by means of confiscatory taxes promised too much trouble for the national administration to shoulder.

Gov. Schmedeman caused the legislature to repeal a statute which made compulsory a state property tax levy whenever the treasury balance dropped below $2,000,000 and held close to his campaign pledges to reduce the cost of government by 25 per cent.

The responsiveness of industry both to the adverse and the reassuring attitudes of state government is reflected in the applications for certificates of incorporation which fell off during the two years of Philip La Follette's governorship and which now are coming back as confidence increases in fair treatment.

The culmination of a lifetime of radical promises to improve the case of the farmers has seen them three times in one year marching the highways quarreling and interfering with their neighbors who asked only to send their farm products peacefully to market.

SPREADING THE LIGHT.

President Molatoff of the council of commissars [Moscow], if the London Times reports faithfully, delighted his audience at a large gathering, attended by Stalin and Kalinin, by citing the meeting of President Roosevelt and M. Litvinov as evidence of the growing power of the soviet. "M. Litvinov," remarks the Times dispatch, "is said to have been very agreeably impressed by the cordiality of his reception in Washington. Private discussions, officially described as very friendly, engaged the United States authorities and their official visitor."

From the cordiality of Washington M. Litvinov passed to an equally warm reception in Fascist Rome. He enjoyed three hours of agreeable converse with President Roosevelt. How long he basked in the smiles of the redoubtable Duce we have not learned.

UP-TO-DATE TRANSPORTATION.

The Interborough Rapid Transit company [New York] is trying its first noiseproof, air conditioned train. The comparison in comfort with the existing cars aroused the enthusiasm of officials and passengers. The sound dampening and air conditioning devices cost only $300 per car to install and it is announced that if they meet public approval, which can hardly be doubted, all cars of the system will be equipped.

The emotion with which these few lines are read by the patrons of our local transport, street cars and buses, will be strong if not highly colored by hope. But where there's a will there's a way, it has been said, and the I. R. T. is showing the way.

Editorial of the Day

[Des Moines Register.]

Not only are the American expatriates of the 1920s returning home to take advantage of the depreciated dollar but they are being accompanied by droves of European tourists, impelled by the same motive. Nearly every hotel in the larger seaboard cities is said to boast its complement of these continental guests. The travelers, moreover, are here to spend money, and as they are almost altogether of what the French call the "rentier" class, living upon the income of investments, they do not come into competition in any way with American workers.

For many decades tourist trade has been recognized as an important invisible export of European countries. Repatriation of our own nationals, as well as the sudden increase in European visitors, represents an abrupt reversal of what had come to be regarded as the normal trend.

While its ultimate consequences, of course, are not yet definitely predictable, it is pretty certain that this trend, if it lasts, will have a bearing upon future economic history.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THE LAY OF THE ELDERLY GENT

An elderly gent with manners mild
Had waited fourteen years
For the coming back of the old time bar
And the drink that warms and cheers.

"I want to go in," said he to himself,
"Just like I used to do,
And lean against the mahogany
And take a drink or two.

"I want so much to see once more
A barkeep in his lair,
With a diamond shining in his shirt
And bear grease on his hair.

With its green-baize swinging door,
And the bottles standing behind the bar
And sawdust on the floor.

"The old long mirror 'gainst the wall—
It would make me a boy, I think,
Just to read its motto once again,
'An Egg with Every Drink.'

"I want to meet old friends again,
The pals of that far-off time;
Once more we'd lift our voices
And sing 'Sweet Adeline.'

"We'd call each other Pete and Bill,
And Tom and Jack and Jo,
And George and Harry, and Bob and Sam,
As we did long, long ago.

"No cares came there to vex us;
There was no woe or doubt;
Society, women, business—all
Were firmly kept without.

"Come on, Repeal! Turn back the clock.
Who says that we're old men?
Once more to rub against the bar
Will make us boys again!"

The fateful hour came at last;
The old gent, bright and gay,
Turned quickly to his old time haunts,
Then reeled back in dismay!

The place was filled with women;
They packed the room five deep;
They pushed and shoved and shrieked and shrilled,
They ran around like sheep.

The old gent turned in horror
And fled to another place;
But, alas! it, too, seemed just chock full
Of the entire female race.

To a dozen bars the old gent went,
It was everywhere the same;
"Whichever way I turn," he groaned,
"I bounce into a dame.

"So this is what it's come to!
This is the new style bar:
With ladies packed in every one
Like pickles in a jar.

"I've waited years for the old saloon,
With all its mem'ries blest,
To wake instead and find there are—
No birds in last year's nest.

"My dreams are gone!" he sadly moaned.
For the lake he made a dash:
Bystanders tried to stop him,
In vain—good-by—then—SPLASH!

PATIENCE, BROTHERS AND SISTERS; a spot of patience, if you please. We've been getting your letters, thousands of 'em, millions of 'em, asking us if this, that, and the other thing is to be in the new Linebook (out tomorrow). But we're that sworn to secrecy we can't tell you a thing. No, Susie, we can't even tell you if "Dorothy Kissling's incomparably beautiful 'Nocturne with Bells'" is in it. No, no, J. R. Powlter, we can't tell you if "that most hilariously funny bit of the year, 'Another Poet Bursts Forth in Indiana,'" is in it. No, no, no, Marken of Marken, we can't tell you if "the best bit of pure patriotism I can remember, 'America to Her People,'" is in it. No, Frederick and Amy and J. R. U. and Solomon the First, Serafine, Lucy Twoshoes, Conrad, and all the rest of you, we can't tell you whether your great favorites, Marjorie F. W., Eolus, Nancy Shores, Helen Welshimer, K. M. S., etc., etc., etc., are fully and adequately represented, if at all. We can't tell anybody anything. But tomorrow's the day! Get up early, buy early and often, or, better still, order them today from the Tribune Public Service, 1 S. Dearborn, Chicago. And the price, in case you've forgotten, is 10c on the hoof, 13c by mail.

Yet or Again?

Sir: This latest Hollywood gag, where the stars are the "best of friends" after they're divorced, is nothing less than stupid. It seems that you can't talk to the gals unless you've been Reno-ed. Like the male extra who said "Hello!" to a she star on the set. "How dare you?" she stamped. "Why, we haven't even been divorced yet!". SID BRODY.

MORE ABOUT COLDS.

An investigation of the common cold and also of the relation of that disease to influenza has been carried on for several years with funds supplied for the purpose. The results of this investigation tend toward the following conclusions:

Influenza is the common cold that we have with us always, plus a something else. Clinically that something else is pneumonia, but of a kind that differs from the ordinary pneumonias that every late winter-spring season piles on top of the colds picture. It is not possible now to say what is the microscopic something—bacteria or virus—which is added to the coryza and, by the addition, brings about an influenza wave.

Dr. J. A. Doull and associates consider the wave of 1928-'29 to have been influenza just as much so as the severe wave of 1918. Other waves studied by them in the Baltimore area they regard as waves of common colds.

Most people are susceptible to coryza, though some escape entirely. A person who has but three colds a year is regarded as about normal. Those who are subject to four or five a year are regarded as supersusceptible. There are students of the subject who propose that all persons who have more than five attacks a year are spreaders of the infection and should be studied.

There is considerable variation in colds, according to these observers, and with this every one will agree. Furthermore, there is seasonal variation in the type of colds. In October and May people with colds are not so apt to develop sore throat and cough. On the other hand, other observers have said that November is the month for sore throats, and coughs can be expected in colds that develop in the first three months of the year.

Averaging the year, Dr. Doull and associates found that hoarseness complicates one-half the cases of common cold. And one-third of them have enough laryngitis and bronchitis to cause coughing and expectoration. Something less than one-half the cases have some degree of fever. A temperature of 102 in an uncomplicated cold is regarded as unusually high. There are fever blisters in a small proportion of the cases. Redness of the eyes is an occasional complication. About 10 per cent of the cases have complications, the most frequent of which is extension to a sinus. About the only pathology that can be found when the nose is examined is some swelling of the turbinates.

It is fair to conclude that a coryza is not important because of the pathology, but it is so because it is a constitutional disease. A decrease in the leucocytes in the blood stream is an almost inevitable symptom. In about one-fifth of the cases of coryza there is only one symptom present.

ALKALI AND DIET.

E. P. G. writes: Is dieting necessary in the treatment of pyelitis in a young girl?

REPLY.

It is quite important. Some cases are cured by dieting unaided by other treatment or with no other medication than a mild alkali. Many require medication in addition to diet. The usual diet for it is composed principally of milk, fruit, and vegetables. In cases of colon bacillus infection of the urinary tract, trial of the ketogenic diet is being made.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ASUNCION, Paraguay.—The opening of the summer campaign in the Gran Chaco war will occur about the same time that the league of nations' investigators get into their stride. They will be able to investigate the terrible conditions under which it is being fought, but that is about all they are likely to do, according to the general opinion here.

About 100,000 Bolivian soldiers under the command of Gen. Hans Kundt now face the Paraguayan forces along a front of about 240 miles. The winter campaign ended in a stalemate after fifteen months of hostilities. The casualty list is heavy. It is unofficially estimated here that nearly 9,000 Paraguayans have been killed and twice that number wounded. Bolivia's losses can only be guessed at, but are believed to be at least 60 per cent heavier than Paraguay's.

Fighting began in June, 1932, but war was not actually declared until May, 1933. Early in the campaign [in October, 1932] the Paraguayans scored their first important victory when they captured Fort Boqueron and took about 800 prisoners. They subsequently cleaned up several Bolivian sectors and laid siege to the star Bolivian fort, Saavedra.

The arrival of Gen. Kundt on the battlefield appeared to hearten the then dispirited Bolivians, who rallied and drove the Paraguayans out of some of their new positions, and attacked the strongly fortified and desperately defended Fort Nanawa. There the bloodiest fight of the war was waged. The Bolivians used tanks, airplanes, and liquid fire and came within an ace of victory.

Thousands of killed and wounded lay around Nanawa. Nothing spectacular has occurred since then, but the war has been relentlessly carried on just the same, and the sufferings of the troops in the outlying sectors have been terrible. Many Bolivian soldiers have died of thirst in the waterless woods. The wounded have suffered tortures from the tropical heat and the myriads of insects—many of them poisonous.

In the opinion of civilians who have visited the front, the Bolivians are attempting a well-nigh impossible task. Men of the highlands are facing men of the jungle—in the jungle. They may be superior in numbers, their equipment may be more modern and their guns more deadly, but the Paraguayans have a powerful ally in the jungle—and the jungle may be relied upon to beat the guns.

Cooler heads are asking what the war is being waged for and if it is worth it. Outside the question of national dignity, it is for the possession of a desert which has been in dispute for fifty years and which would be a costly acquisition for either side in terms of the lives which have been sacrificed in the effort. Between 1870 and 1894 the two countries have signed four treaties designed to settle the question. These treaties were never ratified.

ANALOGY.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 4.—Extract from "Money and Banking" by Horace White, fifth edition, page 4:

"In 1628 the price of tobacco in silver had been 3s 6d per pound in Virginia. The cultivation increased so rapidly that in 1631 the price had fallen to 6d. In order to raise the price, steps were taken to restrict the amount grown and to improve the quality. The right to cultivate tobacco was restricted to 1,500 plants per poll. Carpenters and other mechanics were not allowed to plant tobacco 'or do any other work in the ground.' These measures were ineffective. The price continued to fall. In 1639 it was only 3d. It was now enacted that half of the good and all the bad should be destroyed, and thereafter all creditors should accept 40 pounds for 100; that the crop for 1640 should not be sold for less than 12d, nor that in 1641 for less than 2s per pound, under penalty of forfeiture of the whole crop. This law was ineffectual, as the previous ones had been, but it caused much injustice between debtors and creditors by impairing the obligations of existing contracts. In 1645 tobacco was worth only 1½d and in 1665 only 1d per pound."

So that's it. We are repeating the unsuccessful experiments of 300 years ago.

TREASONABLE CONDUCT.

Elgin, Ill., Nov. 25.—If these New York bankers are deliberately guilty of depressing the government bond market in an effort to destroy the credit of the United States, in my opinion this amounts to treason. They should be tried by a drumhead court-martial and if found guilty shot at dawn. This kind of scum is lower than the vermin on a snake's belly. F. J. BEHO.

THE SOCIETY COLUMN INTERPRETED.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—A speech of Ruth De Young at the Food show has certainly made a lot of people feel more friendly toward the society column by explaining its real purpose. It would certainly be a fine thing if more people could have a chance to hear this talk.

THE CHURCHES AND CHARITY.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Mr. Frank D. Loomis' letter in today's TRIBUNE concerning my articles on churches and charity work, and the study of Catholic charities taken from the report of expert representatives of the Family Welfare Association of America, suggests a question:

Why did the Emergency Welfare Fund of Cook county withhold from the public the report of the findings of the welfare association's experts? The report was dated April 21, 1933.

It would seem only fair to taxpayers that they should be posted concerning the success of the stewardship of the Catholic charities in the administration of public relief funds as revealed in the Family Welfare association's study.

The separation of church and state to which Mr. Loomis refers is a divorce which neither party seems willing fully to accept. For the life of me I cannot see a distinction in principle between the church accepting gratuities from the state in the form of tax exemptions for its material fabric and the church accepting gratuities from the state for benevolent distribution. Equally in each case the state renders unto God the things that are God's in a transaction which thus far, at least, has made sure that the church will render into Caesar the things that are Caesar's.

With Mr. Loomis' concluding statement I thoroughly agree. He said:

"There is doubtless a tendency in any system to build itself up at public expense when it has the opportunity, and such tendencies must be resisted except as they truly serve the present need. We do not want any permanent system of federal relief in this country. Human welfare demands, instead, permanent opportunities for self-reliance and self-support."

Mr. Loomis uses this paragraph to conclude his argument against the development of administration of public relief through the churches. I would use the paragraph to conclude my previous arguments in favor of the churches. The welfare association's study of Catholic charities points to greater economy than is found in the civil relief body. Public relief is a growing opportunity for political patronage which soon may reach down into the last precinct. Thus, I feel that greater protection against the permanence of public relief is to be found in its administration through religion rather than politics.

MAKE NEW FRIENDS.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—The poem about which Mrs. G. C. C. inquired may be found in a little booklet called "The Token of Friendship," published by Charles E. Graham & Co., New York. It reads:

Make new friends but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.
New-made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.
Friendships that have stood the test—
Time and change—are surely best!
Brow may wrinkle, hair grow gray,
Friendships never know decay.

CONDITIONAL SALE CONTRACT.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My brother and his wife sold a grocery store in August and as part payment accepted a 90 day judgment note, giving a conditional bill of sale contingent on payments of balance covered by 90 day note. This note was due the early part of November and to date the purchasers have refused to pay it or even any part of it. 1. Can my brother foreclose on the stock or fixtures? 2. What procedure will be necessary for him to follow in order to recover this outstanding money. A. X.

POTASH and PERLMUTTER! Names never to be forgotten. For all America has enjoyed the high-tempered wrangles of the famous cloak-and-suit men. These characters grew to national popularity as they walked the pages of The Saturday Evening Post.

America laughed at Potash and Perlmutter. Women reached for Campbell's Soups when millions of copies of the Post spread the news about their wholesomeness, deliciousness and quality.

Through 24 years Campbell's Soup advertising has appeared in The Saturday Evening Post. In that time Campbell's has become the world's best known maker of soups. Their fame has grown—their sales have kept pace.

The Campbell Soup Company has authorized the publication of this statement:

"Week after week, year after year, we have advertised in the Post. It has always been our most important, our most dependable place to advertise.

"Through editorial power that is unique, and advertising power that is incomparable, we are convinced that we receive great value for the money we invest in the Post.

"There can be no stronger evidence of our belief in The Saturday Evening Post than our use of color pages in every issue."

FORD ANNOUNCES NEW 1934 MODEL; PRICE INCREASED

Will Have More Speed and Power.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—The 1934 Ford V-8, faster and more powerful than its predecessor, was announced today with a price increase ranging from $5 to $35. Little change is made in the exterior of the car.

The announcement was made at a luncheon given by Henry Ford and his son, Edsel B. Ford, for a hundred newspaper men from all parts of the United States.

The outstanding improvement of the new V-8 is a new dual down draft carburetor and dual intake manifold. It functions like two carburetors, each feeding four cylinders.

By means of this bettered fuel system, the maximum horsepower of the engine has been increased from 84 to 91, according to L. S. Sheldrick, chief engineer of the Ford Motor company.

Forecasts Gasoline Economy.

"You'll get about two and a half more miles per gallon of gasoline at forty-five miles an hour," said the engineer, "with similar advances in economy at other speeds. The top speed is approximately 87 miles an hour, as compared with 82 miles an hour for the '33 models.

"With this new carburetor, the acceleration in high is vastly improved. In thirty-four seconds in high gear the 1934 V-8 will step up from seven to seventy-five miles an hour. The 1933 model requires forty-two seconds for this change in speed."

Improvement on 1933 Model.

"It's the best car we've ever built," said the junior Mr. Ford, who is president of the company founded by his father. "Basically, it's the same car as the hundreds of thousands of V-8's on the road today. It simply incorporates numerous improvements in engine and chassis design, a new body ventilation system and refinements in body styling."

As host to the newspaper men, Henry Ford, veteran manufacturer whose words would make news, enjoyed the privilege of chatting freely without authorizing publication of his views. The general tenor of his remarks was that he looked for progress toward an improved economic condition in 1934. He did not mention the NRA nor Administrator Johnson, with whom he recently exchanged heated words in the press.

New Thermostatic Control.

Another engine improvement is the use of thermostatic control of the water cooling system. This, with the new carburetor, makes for better performance in cold weather. The ventilating system consists of an adjustment of the windows with a vertical slot that will suck air from the automobile when the car is in motion.

The exterior of the new models is changed slightly with a wider radiator shell and with straight, slanting lines in the grille.

The price increase was not a surprise. The NRA has boosted the cost of raw materials, and in the Ford plant itself, although the company has not signed the code, the factory is adhering to Blue Eagle provisions regulating minimum wages and maximum working hours. General Motors recently announced that its 1934 line will bear advanced price tags.

W. C. Cowling, director of sales for the Ford Motor company, said that the price increase on the 1934 models will apply solely to passenger cars. On commercial vehicles there will be a slight reduction.

KILLS CHICAGO WOMAN, SELF AT HOT SPRINGS

Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Jack Walton, 30, today invaded the boarding house where Mrs. Stella Shattas, 30, of 1843 South Halsted street, Chicago, had a room. He stabbed her to death, wounded her daughter, Irene, 12, and ended his own life with poison.

Letters found among Mrs. Shattas' possessions showed Walton had been making violent but unrequited love to her for some time. She had made yearly visits here for several years. Her daughter was attending a local junior high school. Friends here said she was arranging for a divorce, but her husband denied that in telephone conversations with local authorities.

Walton, whose home was in St. Louis, had lived in Chicago at the rooming house conducted by Mrs. Shattas and her husband, Charles, for several years. Adam Talocha, proprietor of the rooming house where Mrs. Shattas and her daughter were staying here, heard screams shortly after Walton went to their room.

He found Mrs. Shattas dying of a wound in the neck, and the girl also wounded. While Talocha looked on, Walton drained a bottle of poison which killed him in a few minutes.

Harry Voiler Gets Delay in Mae West Theft Case

A charge of complicity in the $20,400 jewel robbery September, 1932, of Mae West at Los Angeles against Harry Voiler, former Chicago night club owner and ex-convict, was continued yesterday to Dec. 14 by Judge Alfred O. Erickson in the Municipal court. The delay was requested by the state to give authorities from the coast city time to reach Chicago.

Marry in Reno

Mr. and Mrs. William Starling Burgess passed through Chicago yesterday on a United Air Lines plane, en route to the east from Reno, Nev., where they were married after Mrs. Burgess, who was Nannie Dale Biddle, had obtained a divorce from Edward M. Biddle, member of the prominent Philadelphia family. A year ago Mrs. Biddle spent the winter traveling by dogsled and airplane in Alaska, and studying woman's life in the far north. Her new husband is a yacht designer and is socially prominent in New York.

ONE OF 5 YANKS IN MALLORCA ROW TO WED ARTIST

MADRID, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Roderick F. Mead, New York artist, who was one of the five Americans involved in the Mallorca incident last June, plans to marry Miss Jarvis Kerr, another New York artist, a graduate of Vassar, now living in Mallorca, after the Spanish Supreme court has terminated the Mallorca episode.

The five Americans who were involved in the controversy with a civil guard which resulted in their court martial, came to Madrid today for a review of the case in the Supreme court. It was reported in judicial circles that the court would uphold the court martial decision which acquitted the Americans of guilt in the affair.

Besides Mead, the Americans concerned were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of New York, Rutherford Fullerton of Columbus, O., and Edmund W. Blodgett of Stamford, Conn.

COUNCIL VOTES $15,000,000 IN REFUNDING BONDS

Interest Cut Shows City Credit Improved.

The city council yesterday adopted an ordinance providing for the refunding of the city bonds due on Jan. 1, the provisions of which, by comparison with the city's refunding arrangement of a year ago, showed a substantial improvement in city credit.

This year the city will issue $15,008,000 in refunding bonds, at 5½ per cent interest, to run for six years, but callable at any time during that period. The city is to pay a 1 per cent service charge, which will go to the investment houses which arrange the exchange of the new bonds for those which are maturing.

Last year the city refunded $15,036,000 in bonds at a 6 per cent interest rate. The city was required at that time to set up a special fund, in which it placed delinquent tax collections bond and interest levies, for the redemption of these bonds. There is now $1,000,000 in this fund, but because the bonds were not callable, the city must continue to pay 6 per cent interest on them, while it gets only one-half of 1 per cent interest on its idle special fund.

Tax Collections Pledged.

Delinquent 1931 bond and interest taxes, in addition to future regular levies, are pledged for the redemption of the new refunding bonds, but no special fund is created for their deposit. As fast as they are received the city can call bonds and reduce its interest burden.

The maturing bonds bear only 4 per cent interest, except a $3,000,000 issue at 5 per cent. The Chicago Recovery administration recommended Tuesday night that the refunding bonds bear 4½ and 5½ per cent, respectively, according to the bonds for which they were exchanged.

The syndicate of loop banks which is to manage the refunding had said first that it could not dispose of bonds at less than 6 per cent. The compromise figure of 5½ per cent, with a 1 per cent service charge [the latter is payable only once] was agreed upon at a conference between Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee; City Controller Upham, bankers, and representatives of the CRA.

This year the banks are not, as they did last year, agreeing to purchase any bonds which may not be exchanged. The syndicate consists of the First National bank, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, City National Bank and Trust company, Northern Trust company, and Harris Trust and Savings bank.

Opposed by Five Aldermen.

Five aldermen, all Republicans, voted against the refunding ordinance when the council adopted it. They were Arthur G. Lindell [9th], O. E. Northrup [19th], James C. Moreland [41st], Oscar F. Nelson [46th], and William Dawson [2d].

"My vote is one of protest, although I realize the necessity of avoiding a default and the fact that the setup is more favorable than last year's," said Ald. Nelson. "I think the interest rate is still too high."

Adoption of the refunding bond ordinance will end the city's worry over meeting its funded debt obligations at the end of the year unless a substantial proportion of the present bondholders refused to exchange their securities and demand cash. The city will have cash to pay $2,920,000 in interest on the maturing bonds and other outstanding issues, and an additional $2,174,798 for maturing principal and interest on water certificates.

Start Interest Payments.

The sanitary district yesterday started the payment of $372,937 in interest on its bonds, on which it defaulted payment last May 1. This was the second payment made this week, and it reduced the district's interest defaults to about $2,600,000. It also has defaulted approximately $14,000,000 in bond principal payments.

City Controller Upham's tentative budget, calling for the expenditure of $45,127,805 in 1934, was referred to the finance committee. An order directing Commissioner of Police Allman to close all junk shops operating in violation of the city ordinances, submitted by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], was approved, and the council adjourned until Dec. 12.

DECIDE this PROBLEM WISELY

THIS YEAR consider all the facts about fuels. Don't be stampeded by claims. Some fuels catch fire very quickly and burn out the same way. Others are fine if you can stand a lot of smoke and soot along with heat. Nor does appearance guarantee quality.

But there is one fuel that for generations has proved to western homes that it is the ideal home fuel. It is Famous Reading Anthracite—better HARD coal.

Use it this winter—learn for yourself how very good heat from HARD coal can be—how easily, cheaply, safely, surely, and healthfully you can have just the right amount of heat day in and day out.

HERE IS WHY

New freight rates and mine prices make Famous Reading Anthracite available to you at the lowest Fall prices in years.

BECAUSE IT IS HARD AND PURE

Reading HARD coal burns evenly over its surfaces. It does not flare up suddenly and die out quickly. It does not make soot or smoke, never deteriorates in your bin, is clean to handle and keeps your house cleaner. It is safe—no explosions to fill your house with greasy soot or, perhaps, set fire to it—no overheating that sets your house on fire. It is so thoroughly cleaned that every piece is practically pure carbon, preventing clinkers and leaving very few ashes. It is so HARD and compressed that you can put approximately twice as much heating value into your furnace at each firing than you can with other solid fuels. That means fewer furnace "fixings" each day—an easier life for you. Try a load NOW!

PERSONALTY TAX COLLECTIONS LAG BEHIND REALTY

Four Years' Delinquency Totals $90,071,060.

A total of $90,071,060 in Cook county personal property taxes assessed for the years 1928, 1929, 1930, and 1931 remains uncollected. This was disclosed yesterday in a report made public by County Treasurer McDonough.

The largest item in the uncollected total is the sum of $37,044,925 for 1931. This is 52.33 per cent of the total personal property tax extension for that year.

The report disclosed that the delinquent personalty taxes for 1928 amount to $12,231,804, or 30.55 per cent of the extension. The delinquency for 1929 is $14,863,369, or 32.67 per cent, and that for 1930 is $25,930,962, or 46.73 per cent.

Realty Collections Higher.

Real estate tax collections for these same years are proportionately much higher, the report showed. The 1928 realty tax is 90.41 per cent collected (a delinquency of 9.59 per cent); the 1929 realty tax is 78.71 per cent collected (21.29 per cent delinquency); the realty tax for 1930 is 69.21 per cent collected (30.79 per cent delinquency), and that for 1931, despite a delay in collection of the second installments of this tax, is 62.40 per cent collected (37.6 per cent delinquency).

And this much better showing for real estate is in the face of a widespread complaint that real estate is bearing more than its share in the assessments.

When county officials were asked about the lag in personal property tax collections none mentioned that politicians consider this form of taxation unpopular among the voters, but many other reasons were given for the difficulties of collection.

Jacobs Discusses Situation.

One of those who discussed the situation was County Assessor J. L. Jacobs.

"The most cogent reason for the noncollection of these taxes is the fact that the collecting officials of the county are really only accepting officials," he said. "Those taxpayers who are willing to come in and pay personal property taxes can find their way to the proper office. But the county officers are not out actively pushing tax collections."

"In the past there never was any attempt to collect personalty taxes from any one save a few big corporations. The rest of the roll was just 'wind' which never was expected to produce revenue. What Cook county needs is some real effort to bring in the taxes.

Winnebago County's Way.

"Why, over in Winnebago county the collectors have tax collections up to 90 per cent of their extensions. They go out with trucks and vans and when a taxpayer refuses to support government by paying his share they levy upon his property and cart it away for sale at auction."

Assessor Jacobs said that for the years prior to 1931 the personal property taxes amounted only to a nominal proportion of the total tax extension. He cited the records, pointing out that in 1928 the personalty tax extension amounted to only 18.23 per cent of the total levy and that its percentage of the levies of 1929 and 1930 amounted to only to 17.46 and 19.12.

"For 1931," he said, "the personalty tax extension amounted to 26.84 per cent of the full tax extension. For that year personalty [so far as the assessments were concerned, not the collections] began to bear a real share in the support of the state, and consequently when personalty taxes are not paid the pinch is felt by all tax expending bodies."

Treasurer Sponsors Party.

County Treasurer McDonough was not in his office yesterday, having spent the day preparing for his charity Christmas party, held last night. His secretary, Eddie McCabe, however, announced that the collection of the personal property taxes was out of the treasurer's hands.

"It's been in the hands of the state's attorney since May 1, the penalty date," said McCabe. "At that time $30,134,027 had been collected. Our records show that only $3,612,739 has been collected since. It's up to the state's attorney to sue upon these cases."

State's Attorney Courtney said that he had set up a special department in his office to sue for all delinquent personalty taxes. He said that the department has been in operation since April 1, but that most of the effort thus far has been devoted to collecting bills which have been delinquent for the years before 1931.

Calls Office Effective.

"The office has been effective although the best part of the summer was given over to the preparation and filing of suits in the Municipal and Circuit courts because of the judges' vacations," Mr. Courtney said. "Our collections have been larger during the last two months than at any time earlier."

The state's attorney said that although the collection percentage of 1931 personal property taxes is low, the collections in dollars and cents are higher than for any other year in the history of the county. He announced that he is preparing a report which will show the total of personal property tax collections his assistants have made through the courts.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves Big Dollars! No Cooking!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs only one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

TRIAL DATE SET

MOE ROSENBERG.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday set Jan. 2 for trial of Moe Rosenberg, west side politician, on charges of defrauding the government of $65,000 in income tax for 1929 and 1930. Scheduled for trial yesterday the hearing was delayed in order that a jury might not be locked up over the holiday season.

"It is quite apparent that the trial will take longer than you anticipated," Judge Wilkerson said to United States Attorney Dwight H. Green. "I do not like to keep a jury between the holidays of Christmas and New Years. I will set the case peremptorily for Jan. 2, and the case will go to trial on that date."

The trial date was set in the face of objections by Attorney John L. McInerney, that he needed more time.

CONTRACT IS LET FOR SCHOOL JOB TO COST $136,000

A new contract for fireproofing on the Phillips High school at 50th and State streets was awarded by the school board at a meeting yesterday in order to speed up the construction of the building under the federal easy money program. The United States Fireproofing company got the job on its low bid of $136,400.

John C. Christensen, school architect, submitted a report stating that the W. B. Perry & Co., which had the old contract for the job at a cost of $109,850, had been reorganized and was unable to do the work.

The Phillips High school is one of five new high schools that will be completed by a cash grant of $1,326,000 by the federal government and the distribution of $4,500,000 in school tax warrants.

James B. McCahey, president of the board, announced that the federal government would have inspectors on all five new building projects. The other four schools to be completed are the new Lane Technical, Steinmetz and Wells high schools and the addition to the Senn High school.

JACOBS TAKES WITNESS STAND IN TAX HEARING

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $283,688, making a total of $94,144,460 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Dec. 6	$ 21,953	$ 36,838
Uncollected	16,122,929	43,029,178
	1930.	1931.
Dec. 6	$ 92,305	$ 131,992
Uncollected	68,047,795	67,325,624

Assessor J. L. Jacobs took the witness stand yesterday before County Judge Jarecki to defend his 1931 assessments on homes and small flat buildings, which are being attacked by the Chicago Real Estate board.

The board has a petition pending, charging that the 438,000 owners of these classes of property were discriminated against and asking Judge Jarecki to enter a 15 per cent reduction in building assessments on all of their properties.

Assessor Jacobs will be on the stand for several days. Yesterday, questioned by his attorney, Henry P. Chandler, he gave testimony which was largely of a routine nature. After taking office on March 11, 1932, he had to reorganize the office and the assessment of 1,150,000 parcels of real estate, reducing many of them, he asserted.

Describes His Procedure.

He described the general assessment procedure. Later he is prepared to produce statistics, which he says controvert evidence of the real estate board and show that in some districts the assessments on homes were cut substantially.

While the real estate board's petition asks that Judge Jarecki give reductions to all of the property owners, he has said that he doubts his authority to do this unless they file individual objections asking to join in the board's action.

There have been about 300,000 of these objections filed, and Saturday noon has been set as the deadline for filing them in room 613 of the county building.

Action in City Council.

Corporation Counsel Sexton presented a long communication to the city council yesterday, asking that it reconsider a resolution passed at the last meeting, instructing him to intervene in the assessment cut action on behalf of home owners of Chicago.

The resolution asserted that home owners have been overtaxed ever since the 1928 reassessment. Mr. Sexton pointed out that to maintain this in court would embarrass him, since he testified in the Cisar tax case that he believed the 1928 and 1929 assessments to be fair. The council reconsidered that portion of the resolution directing him to intervene, and instead provided that the council may engage another attorney for the purpose.

NEW U. S. TAXES FROM GAMBLING PROFITS SOUGHT

Aim Also at Levies on Property Exchanges.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Spreading its net to gather more millions in revenue from gambling and property sales or exchanges between members of wealthy families, a house ways and means subcommittee today proposed 30 additional changes in the revenue act to raise an estimated $35,000,000.

Together with yesterday's report, which suggested nine major revisions to bring in a calculated 235 million dollars, today's recommendations brought to 270 million dollars the estimated total added levies and tax savings proposed.

Chairman S. B. Hill [Dem., Wash.] of the subcommittee announced that "new sources" of revenue would not be investigated until the federal budget needs were ascertained and then only if more revenue was found to be needed.

May Be Retroactive.

The subcommittee suggested making the new tax law effective on next year's incomes, the taxes on which are payable in the calendar year 1935. It added, however, that the full committee might desire to make certain features retroactive on this year's incomes if there were no constitutional bar.

The subcommittee proposed to deny the taking of losses in the case of sales or exchanges of property between members of a family, or between a shareholder and a corporation in which the shareholder owns a majority of the voting stock.

Several transactions of this kind were brought to light in the senate banking investigation. The subcommittee described them as "for the sole purpose of taking a loss for income tax purposes."

Sees Tax Dodging End.

If adopted, the report said such a change would "effectually close this opportunity for tax avoidance."

The term "family" was defined to include brothers and sisters, spouse, ancestors and lineal descendants.

The subcommittee proposed limiting deductions of losses from legal gambling transactions to the extent of the gains, the same as now provided for illegal gambling.

"Under the present practice," the report said, "many taxpayers take deductions for gambling losses, but fail to report gambling gains. This limitation will force taxpayers to report their gambling gains if they desire to deduct their gambling losses."

Plan "Information Returns."

Another recommendation growing out of the senate inquiry would require corporations to file "information returns" as to annual dividends of more than $1,000 paid to any individual and require all stock exchange brokers to file statements giving the names, addresses, and gross business transacted with persons whose gross business exceeds $100,000 a year.

Asserting that when business improved the returns from the proposed 39 changes in the two reports "should be greater," today's report added:

"In any event, your subcommittee is of the opinion that if the changes proposed are adopted the income tax burden will be more fairly borne by all taxpayers with very few opportunities of escape therefrom by legal avoidance.

"The sooner all persons pay their full share of income taxes, the sooner some relief in the existing tax burden may be expected."

A jury in the court of Superior Judge Michael L. McKinley yesterday granted Mrs. Helen Belke, 1343 North Mansfield avenue, damages of $7,500 from Miss Lillian Markoff, 5947 Drexel boulevard, a beauty shop operator. Mrs. Belke charged Miss Markoff with alienating the affections of her former husband, William Belke, whom she divorced last June. Miss Markoff had admitted a friendship with Belke, but denied any misconduct.

HENRI IS CLEVER, BUT HIS GHOST IS VICTIM OF LAW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 6.—Henri Titelouze, who died today at the age of 73, was a farsighted fellow but weak on details.

Thirty years ago Henri had a nice big coffin built for himself and moved it into his house. Needing a bed, he slept in it for 30 years and chuckled over the double use he was making of it.

But Henri's ghost was doomed to disappointment, for today when they came to bury him they found the coffin much too big. French tombs are small and regulation size, it seems, and Henri's coffin was no good at all, so he is getting a new one, which, incidentally, would have been too small for a comfortable bed.

Why Winter instead of Spring should be the Tire-Buying "SEASON"

A VERY considerable number of people still think of spring as the tire-buying "season."

This became a habit long ago—when most people owned open cars—when cars and roads were both uncertain—when tires lasted only a few thousand miles and summer was the accepted "touring" time.

But today, with cars almost universally in all-year use and tire mileages piling up to tens of thousands, it is hardly sensible to risk winter-travel on smooth thin rubber or to let an outworn habit rob you of safety when you need it most.

In winter, streets and highways are more often wet and slippery.

So comfort and safety both counsel that you avoid these needless hazards by riding on new All-Weather Goodyears with their sturdy strength and their sharp, clean, sure-footed grip at their best.

There is a thrifty reason too.

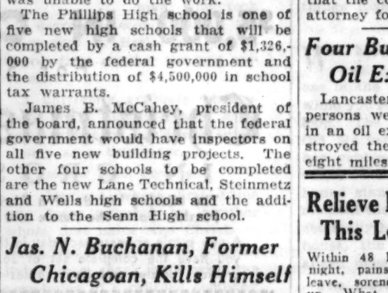

Goodyears put in service now, when highways are cool and when the friction of rubber on roads is reduced by rain and snow, deliver an average of 30% more total mileage.

That means you can buy these great tires now, enjoy their safety during the winter, and still have plenty of deep-cut powerful traction and dependable mileage for hot weather driving when summer returns.

HARRIS INDORSES FISHER PLAN FOR TRANSIT MERGER

Needs Some Modifications, Banker Says.

Albert W. Harris, banker, who is chairman of the first mortgage bondholders' protective committee of the Chicago Railways company, which owns the north and west side street car lines, issued a statement last night expressing concurrence in the major points of the plan of Walter L. Fisher for a reorganization of the street car and elevated transit systems, Mr. Harris said, however, that he believed there should be modifications on some of the points involved.

This announcement was interpreted by city officials to indicate a break in the deadlock which has halted the traction settlement negotiations for the last month. Attorney Fisher was appointed by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson as a coördinator to unite the traction security holders on a financial agreement which must precede the unification of the systems. The federal court has jurisdiction over the transit systems, which are in receivership.

Mr. Harris' statement follows:

"Recent newspaper accounts would indicate that I have a good deal to say about the traction and elevated consolidation. As a matter of fact, my sole duty is to represent the first mortgage bondholders of the Chicago Railways company.

Favors Fisher's Plan.

"As their representative I have considered various plans and now feel that the discussions with Walter L. Fisher have progressed to the point that encourages me to believe that his plan, with some equitable modifications, will be given favorable consideration. His familiarity with all sides of the question has enabled him to suggest a plan that has met most of the objections in those first submitted.

"I have not been so much concerned over this phase of the negotiations as over how the money could be raised by the new company to acquire the properties free and clear of all indebtedness and still have money enough left to qualify under the franchise. I am told this can probably be done. If so and the arrangement is satisfactory to the city and the city will extend the time of acceptance so that the plan can be carried out, it will solve that.

"What I do not understand fully because it is new is what, if any, approval has to be secured from the federal trade commission under the recent federal legislation called the securities act, also what the state commission will say about the valuations and if they will permit the issue of the securities proposed. These are, however, legal and technical questions which some one will have to solve.

Some of the Difficulties.

"I am simply stating them to show some of the difficulties to be overcome and why time will be needed to work them out. I can think of no one as experienced as Mr. Fisher in such matters and think it fortunate that he will devote his time to these problems."

Mr. Harris is chairman of the board of the Harris Trust and Savings bank. His reference to an extension of the time for acceptance refers, city officials said, to the deadline of Jan. 31, 1934, which has been set for acceptance of the city unification ordinance. Mayor Kelly has warned the opposing traction interests that if a unification plan is not worked out by that time the city council will take matters into their own hands.

DOCTOR KILLS HIMSELF AFTER ROW WITH WIFE

Mrs. Wightman said she had gone to her husband's offices last night and saw him get into his automobile with a woman. She said he explained that he was going swimming with her as part of a treatment he was administering.

Later he came home, she said, and guests arrived. After the friends had left, they quarreled about the patient. Finally she said he asked her to kiss him and she refused.

"If you act like that, I'll blow my head off," she said he exclaimed. "O, I wouldn't do that if I were you," she answered him. A moment later she heard a door slam, then a muffled report and ran into the bedroom, where she found his body. The couple had three children.

THREATS PHONED TO ACTOR STIR POLICE TO ACTION

Beverly Hills, Cal., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Reporting that many distinguished members of Beverly Hills society, including Nelson Eddy, young operatic baritone and film actor, had been threatened periodically the last few weeks, Blayney Matthews, district attorney's investigator, said tonight he was searching for "a man with a poison tongue."

While he would give no names, in each instance, Matthews said, the anonymous telephone caller had threatened his victims with bodily harm or some other tragedy. This phone user seemed to know facts about the victims. In the case of Eddy, the mysterious caller twice warned him over the week-end, that "something of an amazing nature" would soon happen to him, the investigator said.

A police guard was placed around the boulevard home of Eddy after his mother, Mrs. Isabel Eddy, expressed fears for the safety of her son. She said she was convinced the two telephone calls he received last Sunday were not the work of a practical joker.

FRATERNITY CLUB FINES CRITICS OF ROOSEVELT

Mention of Depression Is Forbidden.

The Interfraternity club, 106 South Wabash avenue, is making a psychological experiment in aiding economic recovery. On entering the smartly furnished club rooms a large sign headed "Proclamation" greets the visitor. It proclaims that the word "depression" shall not be mentioned in the Interfraternity club, another rule is:

"Criticize if you must the congress, cabinet, codes and the Washington merry-go-round . . . but lay off Franklin D. Roosevelt. Within the walls of this American club of educated men the President of the United States is entitled to respect."

Fines to Go to Charity.

The penalties prescribed are that the critic fine himself one piece of silver, to be deposited in one of several small banks scattered about the clubrooms, the proceeds to go to charity. The announcement of the rules is signed by Warren Piper, a diamond importer, 31 North State street, who has been named the "dictator" of the club for a period of five weeks ending Jan. 1.

To date the banks jingle with many dimes, arguments are hot and many and the "dictatorship" has failed to suppress free speech, Mr. Piper said laughingly.

Assert Right of Free Speech.

"On the whole there are more critics than defenders of the administration," he said. "At least they talk more. I've noticed that many of the persons who used to criticize the most have calmed down, and many quiet fellows who never before spoke up are now excitedly claiming their rights to free speech. All of them pay the fines good naturedly, though.

"Secretly I've been pleased at the results. I wanted to see how seriously the fellows were thinking and I'm glad to note that they don't like a dictatorship and that they insist on having opinions and making them known. Personally I am an admirer of President Roosevelt and the administration. The only thing I actually object to is unfair criticism."

GIRL ACCUSED OF TIPSY DRIVING IS PUT ON PROBATION

A plea that she was the only support of her mother and five sisters and brothers saved Miss Dorothy Vogan, 24 years old, 6906 South Wabash avenue, a telephone operator, from a jail sentence when she was arraigned before Municipal Judge Nuncio Bonelli yesterday on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. She was arrested Nov. 19 when she crashed into the automobiles of William Keller, 4443 Nevada street, and Elmer Sievert in front of Sievert's beer tavern at 5517 Montrose avenue.

"I am convinced you are guilty, but will give you probation because of your family," Judge Bonelli ruled. "I order you to pay damages of $84 to the men."

TODAY it is no different than when Oliver Twist said "I want some more". Growing children and grown-ups always want some more cranberry sauce or jelly or cranberry pie. You will want more too after you have tried Cranberry Nectar:—

MILLIONAIRE'S SON SUED BY WOMAN FOR INJURIES IN A FIGHT

Salem, Mass., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Edward Stotesbury Hutchinson, 21 year old son of Sidney E. Hutchinson, Philadelphia millionaire, today was named co-defendant in a $50,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Beatrice Bacon. Edmund Q. Sylvester of Hanover, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology student, is the other defendant.

The action is the aftermath of an altercation between the students and William S. Bacon, husband of Mrs. Bacon, who has since died, outside the Bacon's Boston home on Aug. 6. During the altercation Mrs. Bacon was struck on the chest, receiving injuries which have kept her confined to her bed since. She bases her damage claims on the injuries.

After the altercation, during which Hutchinson and Sylvester forced their way into the Bacon home, the students fled. They were traced to Beverly, where Hutchinson Sr. maintains an extensive estate, and later appeared in Boston Municipal court charged with assault and battery. Hutchinson was found guilty on Sept. 1, fined $50, and appealed. The appeal is still pending.

N. D.'S GOVERNOR CALLS EMBARGO ON BEEF CATTLE

Lifts for Ten Days Bar on Wheat.

Bismarck, N. D., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Gov. William S. Langer, who has made repeated efforts to raise farm prices and bring to general attention the plight of farmers, today declared an embargo on out state shipments of beef cattle "intended to be processed into human food."

At the same time he lifted for a ten day period a wheat embargo in effect, except for six days, since Oct. 19. This embargo, thus far Langer said, accomplished "all I could have possibly hoped for it without the assistance of other states."

Today he ordered sheriffs to enforce the new embargo, designed to prevent sale of cattle at "confiscatory prices," by halting loading of cattle for shipment out of the state.

Offers Aid to Sheriffs.

As in the case of the wheat embargo and earlier proclamation declaring a moratorium on mortgage foreclosures, he offered sheriffs the aid of national guardsmen in enforcing the cattle embargo. This aid was not needed previously, however, and he did not anticipate its necessity now.

The ban on cattle sales will be effective until he lifts it.

To permit further sale of beef cattle, the proclamation said, "will constitute a drain upon the natural resources of the state, resulting in the confiscation of human food when thousands of our citizens are asking the government and political subdivisions of the state for the necessities of life."

Emphasizing his satisfaction with results of his wheat embargo which he said "forestalled any use of force or violence or destruction of property by strikes or picketing in this state," Gov. Langer said he had lifted it to enable farmers to sell grain and buy necessities. He said elevators were filled and some terminals handicapped because of large stocks on hand.

Points to Farmers' Needs.

At this season of the year, he declared, "many farmers are in dire need of the necessities of life, such as fuel, groceries, and clothing, both for themselves and families, and due to the financial stringency, merchants who would otherwise be glad to extend credit are unable to do so."

On Oct. 18, the day before Gov. Langer declared his wheat embargo, designed to raise prices by restricting market supplies, December wheat was quoted in Minneapolis at 76⅛ cents per bushel and May wheat at 79¼. Today the closing quotations were: December, 80⅝ cents, and May, 82⅝ cents.

Gov. Langer, in his proclamation banning beef cattle shipments, said animals were being sold at prices representing "only a fraction of the cost of production" and that the ban would continue until "the market price shall cease to be confiscatory."

Jean Schweppe, Mary Reed Will Give Dinner.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT MUST take quite a lot of somebody's time in the Charles Garfield King household to redirect all the mail that is being received there for Miss Helen Hunter to her Pasadena address, for she isn't arriving here until the 18th, so Mrs. King is forwarding all her invitations to her.

This lovely young daughter of the former Gwendolyn Mitchell and Robert Hunter is to be with the Kings about three weeks, and she is to be busy every moment during those twenty-one days, judging by the plans made for her entertainment by all her relatives and the old friends of her mother and her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell.

The first report was that her mother and father were coming, too, but this was wrong, for the young debutante is coming alone to be presented to society in the city in which her mother was such a belle before her marriage.

The night after Miss Hunter arrives those two attractive cousins, Miss Jean Schweppe and Miss Mary Reed, are giving a dinner for her at the residence of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe of 1200 Lake Shore drive. Miss Jean Wilhelm is to be an honored guest at this party, too.

On the afternoon of the 21st Mr. and Mrs. King are receiving with Miss Hunter at the Casino as her debut, and on the 27th the William H. Mitchells and the John Payne Kelloggs will give a dinner-dance for their niece at the same club. Mrs. Edward J. Bermingham of Lake Forest also is planning to entertain for the daughter of her old friend while she is here.

Clarence Mitchells Will Visit Kings.

The Kings are very happy over the prospect of seeing their daughter, Marjorie, and her husband, Clarence B. Mitchell, shortly after Christmas, for the Mitchells are coming from California early in January for a visit to their Chicago relatives. Two of the three King daughters, Ginevra and Marjorie, married brothers, you will remember, so the King and Mitchell families are doubly connected by marriage.

The Clarence Mitchells have rented their house in Santa Barbara this winter and are at the Huntington hotel in Pasadena where Mr. Mitchell is having an exhibition of his photographs this week under the auspices of the Pasadena Junior league. The photographs, which every one who has seen them says are remarkable ones, are to be exhibited in Chicago at the Drake, starting Jan. 8, and Mrs. King is making plans for the opening to be a gala occasion, the proceeds going to some charity, but no definite plans are made yet.

Mrs. Russell Kelley has been visiting the Mitchells in Pasadena for the last three weeks, but she is expected home late this week, although she hasn't notified her husband of the exact date on which to meet her.

Afternoon Party for Friends of China.

Mrs. Joseph Medill Patterson has invited the American Friends of China for the afternoon next Wednesday at her handsome apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive. Gay red and black cards full of Christmas feeling were in the mail yesterday. The occasion will be highlighted by a showing of new lantern slides of Chinese paintings in private collections in China by Miss Lucy Driscoll.

Miss Jeannette Schreiner, daughter of the Joseph O. Schreiners, will be presented to society today at a luncheon in her parents' apartment at 60 Scott street. The debutantes of this season have been invited, and also Miss Schreiner's close friends and the close friends of her mother.

This evening the Schreiners are having a small dinner for their daughter, to celebrate her being "out."

When Miss Gwendolyn Juergens and John Richard Hurley are married at 4:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon in the chapel of the Holy Name cathedral only the immediate families of these attractive young people will be present, for Mr. Hurley is in mourning for his father, Edward N. Hurley. Miss Juergens' parents are the H. Paul Juergenses of Bellevue place.

After the Rev. Joseph P. Morrison has performed the marriage ceremony Mr. Hurley and his bride will leave for New York to sail on the 16th for a West Indies and South American cruise. They will be at home after the first of the year at 1500 Lake Shore drive.

Give Luncheon for Glenn Hunter.

The nice luncheon party given yesterday at the Casino by the members of the board of Emerson house almost was minus the particular guest for whom the party was given, for Glenn Hunter was late in arriving and when he did come, after the hostesses and other guests had finished their oyster stew, he was so glad to see his leading lady, Mary Murray, that he plumped himself down beside her instead of at the right of the young president, Mrs. Louis C. Sudler.

Miss Murray had just arrived yesterday morning by rail from Cleveland, having had to finish the journey started by airplane from New York in this slower manner because of fog, and since Mr. Hunter had waited some time at the airport Tuesday night to meet her, he naturally was glad to see that she was here, safe and sound. These young people are playing the leading rôles in "There's Always Juliet," to be given

Longmeadow Hunt Holds Last Official Ride

The Longmeadow Hunt starting out for its last official hunt of the season last Sunday morning with Clark J. Lawrence, the M. F. H., in the lead. Although their hunting season ended then, those who are in the field regularly are hoping that the weather will continue to be mild enough so that their tri-weekly hunts can be continued until later in the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence were host and hostess at a hunt breakfast for the field at the Indian Hill club following Sunday's hunt.

THE group gathered around the tea table had been discussing the Chicago fire in connection with the memories of Granny in "Within This Present," by Margaret Ayer Barnes. The author's husband, Cecil Barnes, recalled some memoirs of the fire printed by some elderly Chicagoans in which the head of the house had suggested that instead of fleeing from their home, members of the family should lie down in the cabbage patch, cover themselves with wet blankets, and let the fire pass over them.

WE hope you'll take time to look into the toy window of one of the big State street stores while you're hurrying through the loop. The one where a life size Old Mother Hubbard is opening her cupboard door to reveal its empty shelves to a sharp-boned hound standing before it. At the moment the yawning shelves show she really hasn't got a bone in the house, the dog's head sinks in abject misery.

The blackbirds-baked-in-a-pie group will make you smile, too. The king, also life size, sits at his table, and the opened pie is before him. The heads of the blackbirds are visible and suddenly the birds fly upward, obviously singing rapturously. At this point the jaw of the king's henchman, wearing a doublet and striped velvet knickerbockers, drops in amazement, and the simpleton page boy offering drink to his lord turns his head to stare oafishly at the spectacle.

WE were so charmed with the window that, after looking at it for some minutes, we tore inside the store, bought a telephone slug and called our own lord and master. He sounded a little impatient and busy, and we could hear the blur of noise in the background we identify merely as La Salle street noise.

"Come on over and see the toy window," we repeated, with a little less enthusiasm than the first time we had said it.

"What is it?" he said again, sounding a little hurried.

"Nothing. Never mind," we murmured hastily, and quickly hung up the telephone. Then came to the office and wrote about the window.

Repeal Brings Own Style in Table Settings

BY RHEA B. SEEGER.

Chromium and copper . . . the two high C's for celebrating the end of the drought. Drinking mugs that shine invitingly and forever with the same engaging smile. Chromium trays, cups, shakers, ash trays, bowls—stuff that can stand on the swankiest home bar or festive lunch counter in a grand manner—can be seen anywhere.

Cheese trays are the widest and biggest things in the shops . . . stunning, modernistically designed table loot that ought to please every one . . . sturdy and masculine to appease the male dispenser of drinks and snacks . . . swanky, shiny and decorative enough to charm the feminine shoppers who are seeking something new and practical and of the vintage of 1933 hospitality.

Look for the chromium electrical chafing dish . . . one of the most stunning affairs ever designed. Built for capacity, it will be a find! Scarlet composition handles, knobs and gadgets on the covers and tray achieve a certain dash that will brighten the best holiday table array. And if you are going to feature after or before-theater lunches, or the more convivial midnight lunch, the chromium hospitality trays, the glittering copper whirl around trays, the cups, the pitchers, the mixers, to say nothing of cigaret cases and other interesting new table accessories are the very things you will welcome.

Lunch cloths and napkins have gone the way of all thirsty decorations . . . stunning Scotch plaid affairs add to the merriment with colors that contrast and double cross one another with a lusty abandon; the dizzier the combine the smarter and newer the linen.

But there are some large concentric circles that have a wild time spotting a cream color background to pinch hit for the people who cautiously save the mazes of the new plaids for something easier in the way of spots. Kelly green, vermilion, and some navy blue dots do their best toward varying the monotony of one color backgrounds.

Visitor Tells Great Freedom Enjoyed by Women of Finland

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The only two rôles still closed to the women of Finland are those of soldier and priest, said Miss Nina Strandberg of Helsingfors, Finland, today at the Finnish consulate.

She is touring this country under the auspices of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women.

"With all our social and political freedom, however," she said, "Finnish women prefer professional and social welfare work, rather than becoming political figures.

"There are many women doctors in our little country of only 3,000,000 and of the 440 dentists, 320 of them are women.

"It is a blanket rule that cashiers be confined only to the feminine sex—in banks, shops or any kind of establishment. There are a few, very few, bookkeepers who are men.

Musical Fete Winner Gets Opera Roles

MISS BAENZIGER.

The engagement of Alice Mary Baenziger, Chicago born singer and prize winner in the last Chicagoland Music festival conducted by THE TRIBUNE, to sing mezzo-soprano rôles in three operas to be presented by the Chicago Grand Opera company, was announced by Paul Longone, general director.

Miss Baenziger, who will make her operatic debut with the Chicago company, will appear in "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Rigoletto," and "Manon." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baenziger, 1525 East 66th place, and is 23 years old.

She was graduated in June from the University of Chicago, and also has studied for seven years in Europe, where her teachers included Emilio Piccoli of Milan, the tutor of Tito Schipa, and the late Mme. Johanna Gadski.

Other newcomers chosen at the auditions during the last week are Wildred Engelman, baritone; Maria Matyas, mezzo-soprano; Marjorie Montello and Mary Krakowski, lyric sopranos, and Adelaide Abbot, coloratura soprano.

The names of Marion Claire, soprano, and Oscar Colcaire, tenor, have been added to the list of principals of the company.

Two sisters, Alta Warsawska, dancer, and Rita Warsawska, soprano and pianist, joined forces at the Goodman theater last night in presenting what was aptly described as a "program of international impressions through the eyes of two young 'moderns.'"

Each number, whether of dance or music, found its place on the program through its association with a bit of colorful geography. Seville was represented through one of the dances from "La Vida Breve." The "Dance Influence" of Zurich, Switzerland, was composed by Rudolph Gans, who came from there.

Russia was indicated three times, by Leningrad, Nizhni Novgorod, and Moscow; France twice, Chalons and Paris. There was a goddess from a shrine in Burma. Chicago had a timely reference through Ferde Grofe's "Repeal." Altogether it was a highly original idea in program building, and the two young artists who presented it were performers and personalities greatly to the liking of a large audience.

The American Operetta company, now presenting "The Bartered Bride" at the Garrick, has received an offer to go to Milwaukee for two weeks.

Miss Dressler as 'Hired Girl' Is a Good Buy

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

That almost extinct domestic flora, the New England "hired girl," is revived by Marie Dressler in one Abby, a specimen of the species whom she portrays in "Christopher Bean."

While it is not the most outstanding number in which this remarkable woman has appeared, "Christopher Bean" proves a most satisfactory vehicle for the talents and personality of the star.

The story's locale is a New England village where Abby is discovered as the household prop of the Haggetts. A prop that is soon to be removed, for, after serving the family faithfully for nineteen years, Abby is about to depart to live with relatives in Chicago. She's all set to leave upon the afternoon of the day you meet her.

That turns out to be a DAY. . . . !

Until that day Abby had been, so to speak, a woman of no importance. BUT—the paintings of one defunct Christopher Bean are discovered to be immensely valuable. Bean, a one time patient of Dr. Haggett's, had, when dying, presented them to the physician in lieu of pay, AND—he had painted a portrait of Abby [because he loved her—though that development doesn't crop up till along toward the end of the piece] to keep for her very own. His masterpiece, he had said. It is Abby's greatest treasure.

Being considered of no worth, the canvases had served to stop leaks and provide canvas for one of the Haggett daughters to daub upon. Mrs. Haggett had even fed some of them to a bonfire. But, on this day—this momentous day—

New York dealers descend on the household like wily birds of prey. Dr. Haggett after a puzzled interval gets wise. The Haggetts' world suddenly begins to circle around the eccentric departing "hired girl." Well, Abby's not any too smart, but she's bright enough to hold her own with any number of Haggetts. . .

This picture, an adaptation from the French play "Prenez Garde a la Peinture," by Rene Fauchois, is cleverly directed and staged. Lionel Barrymore and Beulah Bondi give outstanding portrayals of Dr. and Mrs. Haggett, and other players are able.

"Christopher Bean," then, while not a sensational bargain, is a right good buy.

Page Mr. Pomeroy

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS.

Bruce Pomeroy, brought up in poverty, befriended a Russian, Boris Orleneff. In return Orleneff, before his death, left Pomeroy a simple invention, which is about to make Pomeroy a millionaire. Orleneff stipulated that his brother's family, whom he considered parasites, were not to get a cent from the invention. While walking through New York's Central park one winter's morning Pomeroy is kidnaped and taken to a small island off the coast of Maine, where he is made a prisoner in a luxurious home, but kept on a starvation diet. His captor is Boris Orleneff, nephew of the inventor. Boris' cousins, Cyril and Olga Norikoff, assisted in the abduction. They want Pomeroy to make a settlement. He refuses. Boris invites Pomeroy to join the family circle downstairs. The older members are unaware that Pomeroy is an involuntary guest. He is impressed by Boris' sister, Irma, and his mother. Pomeroy catches his guard, Grateful, going through his clothes in the middle of the night. After locking him in the bathroom Pomeroy escapes from his room and and surveys his surroundings.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

With the exception of a few bits of ramshackle furniture, evidently put there to get them out of the way, the boathouse was empty, save for the disabled motor boat. Pomeroy examined the boat as thoroughly as he could. A tub, a sieve, as Grateful had said. It took no expert knowledge to discover that its engine was a menace and its leakage appalling. It would have no chance whatever in the sea now raging. He went over it a second time but without hope, shielding the candle with his hat and patiently relighting it when it blew out. It was incredible that this battered death trap was the family's sole means of getting off the island, but he had seen that it worked after a fashion in calm weather. Certainly, he decided, it was good enough for users who handled it as it must have been handled to account for a recent and very casually repaired hole driven through its prow by a rock or in some other collision.

He left the boathouse, carefully fastening the padlock. Why that precaution in this weather? It was probably taken on his account—to keep him from "suicide," as Orleneff had hinted.

He fought his way back to the house, entered it and relocked the front door. Then he returned to Grateful's quarters and restored the keys to the pocket where he had found them. He could get out of his room now whenever he wished to, and while he could not always have Grateful locked in a bathroom, he had discovered that the man was no match for him. The only danger would be that the poor wretch might pass out in his hands. . . . He climbed the stairs to his room wearily. There was no sound from the bathroom. He put the coat, hat, and cane away in his closet, undressed, and got into bed.

Here he turned and tossed. His teeth were chattering. He felt that he would never be warm again. This infernal blizzard was playing right into the hands of his captors. Only a fool would have gone out in that boat tonight. But by tomorrow night the storm would be quieting, and he could certainly make a get-away. . . . No radio in the house. That was almost incredible. The family could have had a lot of pleasure with a radio. He could have done something interesting with a radio, too, if they had let him tinker with it long enough. . . . He knew just how he could have established connections with the mainland. But what good was his resourcefulness in a place like this?

He fell asleep toward dawn and was awakened about seven o'clock by a soft and persistent tapping on the bathroom door. He got up, unlocked the door cautiously, opened it, and quickly stepped back. There was no fight left in Grateful. He crossed the threshold with shoulders bent.

"I gotta git busy," he muttered, shambling across the room. "See y' later."

"Wait a minute." Pomeroy's order stopped the man at the door. "How do you feel?"

"O. K."

Good. Then suppose you bring me a real breakfast."

"Aw, hell."

Grateful departed and Pomeroy bathed and dressed. The damnable storm was still raging. He scowled at it as he passed the windows.

Grateful spoke in a low voice.

"You goin' to tell the boss what happened las' night?"

"You bet I am."

Grateful came a step nearer.

"Listen," he said urgently, "he don't know nothin' 'bout it."

"Yeah?"

"Honest to Gawd, he don't. An' I'm askin' y' not to tell 'em. He—he wouldn't like it."

"He wouldn't, eh?"

"No, he wouldn't. He'd give me hell. Keep your trap shut, will ye?"

Pomeroy looked at him thoughtfully.

"I don't know any good reason why I should do you a favor," he said quietly. "Do you?"

"Nope—'cept that I got mine las' night." Grateful saw the other's expression change and went on eagerly, pressing his advantage. "They ain't no reason to rub it in, is they?"

"No, there isn't."

The man was right. He had got his, and Pomeroy had already decided that to mention the episode to Orleneff would get him nowhere. He nodded.

"We'll let it go at that," he agreed, and took in with surprise the quality of the man's relief as he departed.

Pomeroy walked to the window and stared at the blizzard while he reviewed his observations of his prison. His expedition of the night, added to his glimpses through first floor windows the previous afternoon, had given him a clear idea of the position of the house. It must set back about five hundred yards from the cove landing. The island could not be much larger than Grateful had said it was. All around him, the night before, he had heard the thunder of surf close at hand. Every hour of this delay added to the peril of his merger. At the reflection he uttered an ejaculation that was half a groan. The face of Horace Lansing swam before him. That face had haunted his worst nights for months. Lansing had never really warned up to the prospect of the merger, as the other five men had done. He had hesitated and backed and filled, bringing up one objection after another, till he had worn out the patience of his associates.

"We'd give him the gate if times were different," Vanderhoof told Pomeroy in a moment of violent rebellion. "But, by God, man, we've got to have him! Business conditions are getting worse every day. We couldn't possibly get any one to replace him at this stage."

Pomeroy had known that only too well. He thought of it now. Yes, Lansing would be making the most of this. God knows what interpretation the fellow would be putting on his absence. Pomeroy paced the room, his nerves jumping.

His morning was interrupted only by Grateful, who brought his soup at half-past one o'clock. The man was in a black mood and made no reply to several conversational openings. Pomeroy looked at him thoughtfully. There was something new in Grateful's manner, something more than hopelessness and desperation in his eyes. He brought with him the atmosphere of the house—intangible yet pervading, and chilling to the soul. What the devil was going on in this house? It had no connection with his own case, Pomeroy was sure. It was something compared to which a kidnaping held no mysteries. It was something hidden, guarded, and appalling.

Grateful departed in silence, and as the door closed behind him Pomeroy drew a quick breath of relief. He tried to tell himself that the man's manner held only the natural resentment which would follow his rough handling of the night, but he knew better.

The storm still raged with increasing violence. A tree just outside the rear windows of Pomeroy's room went down. He heard the crash of others more distant.

At two o'clock the door opened and a girl entered the room, shutting the door behind her with a quick backward glance. Pomeroy turned, and then got up staring.

"Miss Norrikoff!"

She dropped into a big chair beside his, smiled at him provocatively, and said, "I'm not making a social call. I'm here on business."

"O—an emissary?"

She laughed at his sudden eagerness.

"No. An independent operator. I've come to make you a proposition."

"Good."

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-C-N. Tune in at 11:10 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

By MARY MEADE.

More fun last night, and a lot of new ideas! For I discovered one doesn't have to go to an art gallery or to a flower show to grow perfectly rhapsodic over beauty. He can simply take a turn about one of the most popular exhibits at the International Live Stock exposition, now showing, and wind up at the end positively agog with enthusiasm and surprise.

The exhibit displays window upon window of meat cuts. That's all—but never saw you such perfect meat cuts! Instead of pork having to mean chops or ham, beef being synonymous with steak and stew, and lamb spelling leg o' lamb or crown roast, as they almost invariably used to, smart 1933 butchers are learning that we're hugely eager for a change in the meat dish, and they're giving it to us with a vengeance.

On these counters alone, which you'll find on the main floor in the northwest corner of the main building at the Union Stockyards, are over 100 different cuts of beef, lamb, pork, and veal. And the pleasant part is that quantities of the smartest of these 1933 fashions in meat are among those showing under the label, "Meat Cuts Which May Be Bought for Less Than 15 Cents a Pound." You'll notice likewise that though the crowds stop reverently in front of the familiar meat aristocrats in their French frills and dignity, the display that brings out the pencils and makes tongues really buzz is the low priced meat counters.

So if you aren't as much up on your penny-stretching cuts as you would wish, these are the beef selections displayed which treat us for less than 15 cents a pound. There are:

Beef flank—cut it in long slices, wrap around a square of suet, skewer, and braise in tomato juice. Serve with baked stuffed green peppers.

Ground beef—form into patties, circle with bacon, and broil or pan-broil, serving with tomato sauce, creamed potatoes, and green peas.

Beef neck—have it boned and rolled. Cook it in water with onions, carrots, potatoes, and turnips.

Beef plate—have it boned and rolled. Cook it in water with cabbage and serve it with mustard sauce.

Or if you're a pork lover and still a food budgeteer, here are more choices from the counters of the exposition meat display, all under 15 cents a pound:

Ham butt—have it cut into butt slices. Braise and serve with creamed potatoes, cabbage slaw, and apple sauce.

Loin roast, end cut—brown quickly in a hot oven, then roast uncovered with the fat side of the cut uppermost. This acts as a self-baster.

Salt pork—boil it with greens. Use cracklings in muffins and corn bread. Dip pork slices in cornmeal and fry, serving with creamed potatoes.

Fresh pigs' feet—cook them in water, then broil, pickle, or fry in deep fat.

Fresh picnic shoulder—roast and serve with small baked squashes and cinnamon apples. Or bone and stuff, then roast.

Rolled breast—have it rolled from the brisket end, avoiding the need of strings or skewers. Roast, serving with browned potatoes, Swiss chard, and gravy.

Lamb livers—fry, broil, cook in water, or bake.

Shoulder lamb chops—broil or pan-broil and serve with creamed potatoes, spinach, and currant jelly.

Shoulder lamb roast—remove the bone, roll the chuck or shoulder, and roast, serving with mashed potatoes, Yorker turnips, and caper sauce.

Lamb tongue—these may be cooked in water, corned, baked, smoked, or pickled.

Lamb heart—this may be cut in slices and sautéed slowly in butter.

In other cases in the meat exhibit some of the newest meat cuts make their debut. In another the "Three Little Pigs," modeled gaily and appropriately out of lard, cavort in a chilly, glassed-in case.

Then one other keynoter that's not to be missed. We change our fashion in meat cuts so slowly you may not have realized the facts that turn up in still another display among the meats. Here you have a comparison showing the heavy meat cuts in demand 30 years ago contrasted with the light cuts desired by Mrs. American Housewife today. Instead of the select beef roast coming from a 1,600 pound steer it is today selected from an 800 pound animal. Pork loins used to be cut from a 400 pound hog and now appear out of a 200 pound fellow. Leg of lamb was once taken off a 140 pound gamboler, but now the lamb need weigh only 70 pounds to qualify. . . . And so on.

The explanation, according to Miss Inez Willson, home economics expert of the Live Stock and Meat board, is the growing tendency toward selecting meat from small animals, yet at the same time considering also the need of getting well seasoned, marbled, and flavorful meat.

Sylvia Sidney Is Ill Again; Delays Movie

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Sylvia Sidney's illness jinx again is making things tough not only for the little brunette with the twisted smile, but also for her producer and patron, B. P. Schulberg, and for Paramount studio.

With the picture "Good Dame," which was scheduled to be Miss Sidney's stepping stone back to film favor, starting last Monday, the actress fell ill with a stomach complaint. Every day that she continues home in bed, Schulberg, who is the producer in charge, and the studio acquire a higher temperature, because her co-star, Fredric March, has to do a lot of sitting around and waiting until Sylvia gets well.

And March has a deal with Schulberg and Paramount which will net him $5,000 a day for every extra day, past eighteen, that he works on this film. And three of the eighteen days already are gone. March's original deal was for $50,000 to make the film. If it should be finished in eighteen days,

The set of "Good Dame" in which Dorothy Dell and Jack Larue also play, had the largest indoor circus carnival set ever gathered inside the walls of a film stage. The circus takes up the equivalent of a city block. Luckily for Paramount, Stage 8 is big enough to inclose a city block.

Peplum Effect Adds to Beauty of This Blouse

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSE.

Tomato red velveteen checked in black would make up charmingly in this design. There is a little fitted peplum effect giving snugness over the hips, and you may have the neckline high or open. You will see how in the miniature view. This blouse would be lovely in taffeta, using short sleeves.

The pattern, No. 3162, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure.

Early Course in Dramatic Art Conquered One Star's Shyness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

NEW YORK.—[Special.]—Muriel Kirkland is one of the most popular girls in Hollywood—yet she is not one of the prettiest in the accepted sense of the term.

In any gathering she immediately draws to her side the most interesting and attractive men present, who forsake the platinum glory and golden glamour of greater beauties to bask in the infectious smile of the red-headed little Kirkland.

And from the record that Muriel Kirkland has made, any shy and timid girl can well take heart. For in the beginning Muriel was one of the most timorous and bashful of children and it was as a cure for her self-consciousness that her mother finally prevailed upon her to enter dramatic school.

"When I graduated from high school in New Rochelle I was so self-conscious that if any one spoke to me I blushed and stammered and was utterly miserable. And if they didn't speak, I felt wounded and hurt and ignored.

"So my mother suggested that I enter a school of dramatic art in the wild hope that the training I would receive there would help me overcome my shyness.

"There had never been any actresses in our family, so the idea of fitting me for a theatrical career was farthest from our minds." She did go on the stage, as you know, and later was signed for motion pictures.

"I think the first step in overcoming self-consciousness," Muriel explained, as she sat in her orchid and gold apartment, which serves as a perfect background for her red and gold coloring, "is to remember that the majority of persons are ill at ease among strangers. Most of us have moments when we wish the floor would open up and swallow us—and if we bear that in mind in our daily contacts, we get over thinking of ourselves and think of the person we are talking to.

"Then, if we do our best to put the other person at ease, to make him feel at home and comfortable, we have conquered the first step in forgetting ourselves. For you can't be thinking of what kind of impression you are making on some one if you are busy trying to mek some one else happy."

Miss Kirkland's eyes and hair are her outstanding characteristics. Unfortunately, the camera cannot capture the coppery auburn of her hair—but in real life it is a beautiful, rich red that curls about her face like waves of molten gold. She wears it in a fairly long bob and has it marcelled about twice a week.

Her eyes are brown and enormous—and her lashes are at least one-half an inch long. She uses no eyeshadow during the day, but for evening tints her lids with faintest blue shadows. Mascara she uses in moderation, a little rouge, and a brilliant vivid lipstick.

She has chic and poise, has the little Kirkland—and the sort of vitality and warmth that make strong men, when they enter a room where she is, say, "Who is that red-head over there? I want to meet her." And this, no matter how many Hollywood beauties lurk in the vicinity. Which is enough for any woman, and shows just what a girl can accomplish once she makes up her mind!

Girl's Pay Check Makes Mother Object to Beau

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My mother allows me to see him only once in a while, so we meet secretly. My sisters and my aunts encourage me, because they appreciate how fine the boy is. LINA."

It seems mother's charge trumped up against the boy is that his father drank heavily at one time. Therefore, marrying the boy, though he now never takes a drink and swears that he never will, is fraught with great risks. "Some day," mother challenges the girl, "son will follow in his father's footsteps."

An enlightening disclosure on mother is presented in the P.S. added to Lina's letter. "I have been working six years, and during that time have turned in every cent I made, mother returning me expense money."

Why should a boy be held accountable for a father's misdemeanor, particularly when in this father's case it was not a chronic taste for drink?

Well, we hope the 23 year old girl and the boy she declares so fine and with whom she is in love keep on meeting and presently decide to take the step for life together. We would like better that these meetings were not necessarily secret, but if mother denies welcome to the youth it's her offense that her daughter's romance must be pursued surreptitiously.

Perhaps there is economic reason for mother to guard jealously that weekly pay envelope. We know nothing of the family finances. But the solution of young love's problem is not in denying a fireside chair to a fine young suitor. There are other ways to meet an economic crisis, but youth cannot and will not be denied its right to love and marriage.

Friends of Writers.

The Friends of American Writers are sponsoring a performance by the Uptown Players this afternoon in the Little theater of the Chicago Woman's club for the benefit of the Friends of American Writers' Foundation for Literature. The Players will present Frederick Lonsdale's "Canaries Sometimes Sing." The Foundation gives awards annually to meritorious American writers. Mrs. Charles Spaulding is president of the American Friends.

The Stage

A revue called "Lady, Be Nice" will be staged in the Blackstone theater Dec. 15 under the direction of Allan Robertson, heretofore active as a producer of cabaret entertainments. The organization for the relief of unemployed school teachers will sponsor the show and will receive a large portion of the proceeds during the first fortnight of its run.

Robertson is now rehearsing a company of sixty players which contains performers of high rating in the fields of musical comedy, vaudeville, and radio programs. Among the principals are Frances White, who has been a star of many musical shows; Sybil Bowan, the dancer and mimic, whose career dates back to "Rose-Marie"; Ruth Pryor, the danseuse, with a ballet; De Haven and Rice, the Royce Trio, Lischeron and Adams, Carter and Holmes, and Virginia Hall.

College Youth Doesn't Develop Strict Routine

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Some amusing things came out of the annual questionnaire circulated among students at Columbia university by the college paper, the Spectator. Such questions as, "Would you rather have a Phi Beta Kappa key or a varsity letter?" brought to light the interesting fact that the majority would prefer the key.

The inevitable question asked, "What are you going to do when you finish college?" revealed aspirations for business, medicine, law, and teaching. But the answer to this question that I thought positively touching was, "After I graduate I want to be allowed to sleep in peace."

Of course it's funny—just as funny as it can be, especially in such a serious canvass. And I chuckled at first, too. And then I began to think of a number of students that I know whose health has suffered as a result of their four years at college. Some statistics taken at several colleges a year or so ago showed that young people left college in poorer health than that in which they entered it. There are a number of reasons for it, such as nervous strain, the fact that they don't eat properly, as they do at home, and they don't sleep as much as they should. This isn't a good preparation for the so-called "battle of life"—to go forth not armed with the best possible health.

Universities should make right living as much a part of their curricula as listening to lectures and taking notes. Some are making an effort to do so, but it isn't on the whole convincing or enthusiastic enough.

So, until they do, we should try to train our boys and girls so that when they enter college they won't let their health habits go to the dogs, eating badly, studying too much, or partying too much, or going in so violently for highly competitive athletics that they lose out in food and sleep. Young people have a harder time orienting themselves in college than parents and professors have any idea of.

Old carols for Christmas singing with words and music will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on request. Thirteen cents will cover the cost and postage. No return envelope is required, only the name and address plainly written.

Satin Is Paris' Chosen Fabric for Elegant Details

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The all satin dress has not fulfilled its promise to become a big, rip-roaring style this winter. Satin blouses, jackets, and details have, however, gone over the top without any dissenters.

Women wear Lanvin's trim mess jackets of satin over plain dark dresses. The model is shown in our sketch, and it is full of feminine allure in spite of its boyishness. Nice way to make your plain frock look right for an evening out after a day in the office—this satin mess jacket.

The satin collar, shown in the center, is another Paris favorite. It's from Callot Soeurs, and is purposely made so that it lies in folds around the neck instead of being rigidly straight and plain. It buttons at the back of the neck. Women wear collars like this in white, bright and pastel colored satin.

At the bottom is pictured Patou's flowered satin bodice, made of the material that has a tiny sprigged pattern, which is infinitely quaint. It buttons down the front on satin covered ball buttons and has a small black velvet tie half hidden under its turnover collar. The short bell sleeves are split up the outside. It goes with an ankle length black skirt and is worn for evening a lot here.

Jean Schweppe, Mary Reed Will Give Dinner.

Sunday afternoon and evening at the Blackstone theater as the first of a series of Sunday entertainments for the benefit of Emerson house.

The talk at the luncheon table was very gay, of things theatrical and not theatrical—of delayed trunks. Mr. Hunter's isn't here yet and neither is Miss Murray's, and since they play in Aurora tomorrow night they're a bit worried—of repeal parties. Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted told of sitting at home listening to the radio accounts of the gayety at the various hotels and of finally persuading her husband and the Lloyd Laflins to go out and participate in some of it—of Cynthia Wilson's painting—of Mrs. Solomon B. Smith's ambition to be an interior decorator—and so on and so forth.

The party broke up fairly early, for the young mothers had to hurry home, for Wednesday is nurses' afternoon out and it was nearing the time for the babies to awaken from their naps and be pushed in their perambulators by their doting mothers up and down the avenue.

Some of the others at the party were Mrs. John D. Ames, Miss Nancy Morse, Miss Peggy Hixon, Miss Laura Thorne, Mrs. Niblack Thorne, Miss Louise Brewer, Miss Jane Schuttler, Miss Barbara Bastien, Miss Eleanor Jerrems, and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr.

Mrs. Sudler is giving a supper party before the evening performance Sunday for Miss Beatrice Kirk and her fiancé, Capt. C. Ross Cuthbert, and Mrs. John I. Shaw is to be another supper hostess before the theater that night. Miss Audrey Campbell and her cousin, Thomas Leiter, are entertaining their box parties at luncheon before the afternoon performance.

Carpenters Leave for East Today.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter are leaving today for New York where they will spend a few days before going to Washington where they will visit Mrs. Carpenter's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Adlai Stevenson. The Stevensons moved to Washington last summer.

Miss Sophie Borie and her nephew, John B. Ryerson, who now live in Cooperstown, N. Y., will sail on Dec. 15 on the Conte di Savoia to spend Christmas on the Riviera with their sister and mother, Mrs. Forsythe Sherfesee, at her new villa, Bontoc, at Saint Jean Cap Ferrat. Mrs. Sherfesee is planning to come to her old home, Chicago, for a visit next summer.

Miss Joan McArthur, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Selim W. McArthur, has returned home from six months abroad. She is going to be in Chicago this winter, taking part in the sub-debutante activities, and after Christmas she will enter the Francis Parker school. Miss McArthur hopes to enter Bennington college next fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Burr, whose home is at 5521 Blackstone avenue, are being congratulated on the birth of a son last Saturday at the Michael Reese hospital.

The Lake Forest committee of the Vocational Society of Shut-Ins is having its Christmas sale in Lake Forest today at the Deerpath Inn. Mrs. Hempstead Washburne and her sister, the Princess Galitzine, are running the sale.

Luncheon for Miss Bucklin.

Mrs. Ellis R. Hurd gave a luncheon yesterday in her Hinsdale home for her son's fiancée, Miss Gene Bucklin, and her mother, Mrs. Vail R. Bucklin. Miss Bucklin and Frederic Marshall Hurd have set the date for their wedding as Feb. 10, in St. Chrysostom's church.

The Thatcher Hoyts, with their daughters, Thallis and Reynolds, are back from Vermont just in time for Mrs. Hoyt to plunge into all sorts of activities for the National League of American Penwomen.

Among the events is the concert of original compositions to be given by Illinois composer members of the league on Dec. 15 at the governor's mansion in Springfield. Of quite as much interest as the concert itself will be the mansion, for it is full of history and, since "done over" three or four years ago, a particularly handsome home.

Included in the list of artists who will have a part in the program are Eleanor Everest Freer, Frances Copthorne, Lulu Jones Downing, Louise Ayres Garnett, Josephine Hancock Logan, and Francesca Falk Miller.

Drama League Will Hold Salon Series.

Lawrence Whiting is opening his handsome Lake Shore drive house for the first of a series of candlelight salons to be held this winter by the Chicago Drama league. In description the occasion promises to be a delightful revival of a custom that dominated French society for centuries.

The purpose back of the series, Mrs. Clarence Hough, the Drama league president, explains, is the presentation of a number of well known Chicagoans versed in some form of dramatic art. At Mr. Whiting's home at 5 o'clock Sunday Mr. Hough will be the speaker of the evening presenting "Drama and Humor" in dialect, story, and verse. Frank J. Loesch will introduce Mr. Hough.

Hostesses for this salon will be Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall, Mrs. Louise K. Boysen, Mrs. Loesch, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Lennox R. Lohr, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Helen Walton, and Mrs. Paul Shorey.

The Originalists held their December meeting last night at the Cliff Dwellers as the guests of the Erie De Lamaters. Mr. De Lamater and 25 members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra gave a delightful musical program, after which supper was served.

Women whose names lend important support to any philanthropic campaign are going to take the microphone the next three weeks in the interest of the annual Christmas seal drive of the Chicago Tuberculosis institute. Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, who heads the woman's division of the community fund, is one of them. The others are Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Joy Morton, Miss Jessamine Hoagland, Mrs. Henry Hardy, who is president of the Chicago and Cook county federation, and Miss Mary Coffey, president of the Woman's Advertising club.

Y. W. C. A. Groups Will Hang Greens.

Mrs. William L. Hodgkins has been doing research on old Christmas customs. At the head of the city-wide organization of the Y. W. C. A., she is making preparations for the hanging of the greens, an ancient custom, by the various branches of the association during the next fortnight. The Central branch ceremony has been set for the afternoon of Dec. 17, with Mrs. Robert E. Ross as the general chairman. "The Juggler of Notre Dame," done in dance pantomime, will be presented.

At the causerie of the Alliance Française today Mrs. Arlene Peck Warwick will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, Mrs. John H. McGibbon, Miss Barbara Graf, and Miss Peggy Wiley. Prof. Marius Jean will give a reading in French and tea will be served shortly after 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Allen M. Clement and Mrs. William E. Sparrow Jr., will be hostesses at a luncheon and meeting for members of the Kaskaskia chapter of the D. A. R. next Tuesday at 12 o'clock at the Electric club. Mrs. James Victor Sill is in charge of the program. Miss Mary Bayley, assistant U. S. district attorney, will speak.

MINUTE MYSTERY
By H. A. RIPLEY

THE TRAGEDY AT HADDOCK HALL.

Detective-Inspector Mitchell of Scotland Yard grunted and perspired as he laboriously pried a bullet from the wall a few inches to the left of the massive, front view, life sized portrait of the tall, aristocratic Sir Dean Haddock, founder of Haddock Hall, whose stern, blue eyes looked unseeingly at the occupants of the study.

Prof. Fordney stood in the center of the room facing the dead body slumped in a chair, chin resting on chest. It was Lord Gaston Haddock, present owner of the hall. A bullet had passed straight through his head after entering directly between the eyes.

The criminologist stood motionless and again studied the position of the body until every detail was photographed upon his keen brain. Before turning to the opened window he glanced directly up and into those stern, blue eyes of Sir Dean and for a fleeting instant they seemed to flash a warning to him.

"We were alone," replied Arthur, Lord Haddock's cousin and heir, to Fordney's question. "About 9:15 I knocked on Gaston's door and he shouted for me not to enter. His voice was strained—I was frightened. Then a shot rang out and I immediately opened the door. I nearly fainted at the——"

"Is everything now, as you saw it then?" asked the professor.

"Yes—I didn't enter the room but 'phoned the doctor and police from downstairs. I was too nervous to return until their arrival."

"Arthur Haddock, you're lying." Fordney spoke quietly as he once again lifted the dead man's chin and then removed the .38 automatic revolver from his lap.

Why Be Skinny! Rundown! Underweight

Read How Kelp-a-Malt—New Natural Mineral Concentrate From Sea Is Building Firm Flesh and New Health for Thousands.

"I have taken one package of Kelp-a-Malt and have gained 8 pounds and feel 100% better."—Mrs. W. J. S. "It will be a week this noon since I began using Kelp-a-Malt and I have gained over 5 pounds and feel much better."—T. W. H. "Gained 6 pounds the first package. Am very much pleased."—D. F. G. "Had stomach trouble for years. When I take Kelp-a-Malt I have hearty appetite for everything and suffer no distress. Kelp-a-Malt has banished constipation which I have had all my life."—W. D. C.

These are actual testimonials taken from thousands from all over the country testifying as to the amazing improvement in health and weight which Kelp-a-Malt effects.

Kelp-a-Malt gets right down to the cause of underweight and most stomach disorders—mineral starvation. Unless your system gets the proper amount of food minerals, many of them needed in only the tiniest quantities—but most of them lacking in even the most carefully devised fresh vegetable diets—your food fails to nourish you, fails to build rich, red blood, firm flesh and sturdy muscles. This lack of mineralization results in failure to digest starches and fats in the normal diet, it makes no difference whether your appetite is good or bad, your food is converted into poisonous wastes instead of firm flesh and tireless energy.

Kelp-a-Malt, the richest known source of these precious food minerals, is a pleasant, easy to take vegetable concentrate from the Pacific Ocean. It provides iron, sodium, calcium, sulphur and magnesium, all essential to good health, strength and proper weight.

Try Kelp-a-Malt today. Two weeks are required to effect a change in the mineralization of the body. At the end of that time, if you have not gained at least 8 pounds, feel better, look better and have more endurance than ever before, the trial is free. Generous sized two-week trial treatment costs but little.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

George Kelly of Philadelphia defeated Ralph Greenleaf of New York, the defending champion, 125 to 85, in 25 innings in the world's pocket billiard tourney at the 131 South Wabash avenue recreation amphitheater last night. It was Kelly's first victory in the tourney and Greenleaf's first defeat, knocking him out of a five way tie for the lead.

Kelly, a ruddy thatched young man, adjourned from the playing theater for a smoke along about 10 o'clock last night. It appeared to be the smart thing for George to do, and George himself was quite resigned about the matter. He was merely the national champion, the man who had matched one world's record and came within an inch of tying another a few months ago.

It Appeared Hopeless.

The reason, if any, for George's resignation was Greenleaf, a handsome boy from New York, reared in Monmouth, Ill. It didn't seem possible for any one in the 1933 tournament to do away with the sleek Mr. Greenleaf. He had won the world's title so many times it had ceased to be amusing. He had run out of a game in two innings, the record Kelly tied in the national tournament, and he had scored a high run of 126, a mark of which Kelly had raised by one. He had gone through 21 games of world tournament billiards without losing.

In view of all these awesome facts, Kelly apparently could do no more than go through the motions of playing the champion for the sake of the record. So he decided to smoke himself a cigaret along about the fourteenth inning last night. What did it matter that he was leading, 40 to 18, at that point. This was proven in the ensuing bracket, when Greenleaf smashed through with a champion's run of 51.

Kelly Gets Serious.

All that was left for George to do was the best he could, which happened to be a four in the sixteenth inning and a safety shot in the seventeenth. That's where he decided to have done with smoking, for Greenleaf in the same frame, after having run three, called the four ball following a rack and scratched while sinking it.

Kelly got the idea immediately, scoring a 27 in the eighteenth inning and bettering that with a 30 in the twentieth. From there on Greenleaf was as resigned to his fate as Kelly had been at the start of the match, for George, after a safety duel in the twenty-first inning came back with a run of 12 in the twenty-second and a decisive chain of 13 in the twenty-fifth. That 13 gave him a victory of 125 to 85 in 25 innings.

Three of the elders and the baby of the party dominated the afternoon show yesterday as the 1933 tournament settled down to the business of serious pool.

Two of the three graybeards had at each other with considerable vehemence in the first game of the day, with the oldest competitor in the event, the gray haired Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. Y., scoring a 125 to 90 victory over the ordinarily stolid Charles Seaback of Astoria, N. Y.

Mosconi Wins One.

In the 14th inning, Charles mislaid the calm attitude which had baffled Ralph Greenleaf, the old world champion himself, in the opening game of the tournament Monday night. He went so far as to wave his cue strenuously enough to scatter the balls hither and yon on the table.

There probably was a certain amount of human reasoning in this, for it was Seaback's third consecutive scratch, and so cost him 16 points, 16 points that he had earned with a great run of 64 in the second inning.

Bennie Allen, the 43 year old Kansas City veteran who is Taberski's junior by just a year, spent a very quiet afternoon in one of the corners of the billiard theater in the second game of the day while young Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia, just turned 19, pranced around the table and collected his first world's championship victory by a score of 125 to 31.

THE GUMPS—ORDERS IS ORDERS

VUCHINICH IS VOTED HONOR BY OHIO STATE

Field Complete for Tribune Trophy.

The Candidates

Chicago—Jay Berwanger.
Illinois—Dave Cook.
Indiana—Bob Jones.
Iowa—Joe Laws.
Michigan—Herman Everhardus.
Minnesota—Pug Lund.
Northwestern—Ed Manske.
Ohio State—Michael Vuchinich.
Purdue—Fred Hecker.
Wisconsin—Robert Schiller.

Jay Berwanger of Dubuque, Ia., sophmore half back, was designated as the most valuable man on the University of Chicago football team by his teammates last night. The election took place at the annual banquet given the football team by the 55th Street Business Men's association at the South Side Swedish club.

The choice of Berwanger completed the list of ten candidates from Western conference universities who are eligible for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE trophy awarded annually to the player who has been of the greatest value to his team during the current football season.

Does Iron Man Stunt.

Berwanger has been one of the hardest worked back field men in Big Ten history. Heralded as a spectacular ball carrier, Berwanger turned out to be the workhorse of the team, more consistent than flashy.

He played every minute of Chicago's five conference games, which is more play than any other man in the Big Ten participated in, except those whose teams scheduled six games. He played all but a few minutes against three nonconference opponents—Cornell college, Washington university, and Dartmouth.

During the eight Maroon games Berwanger carried the ball on running plays 184 times. He made a net gain of 672 yards on these plays for an average of 3.7 yards. The remainder of the Chicago backs ran for a combined net total of 807 yards in 213 attempts. In conference competition Berwanger carried the ball 119 times for 368 yards, an average of 3.1 yards. His best game was against Dartmouth, when he averaged 4.8 yards on 18 plays.

Caught 10 Passes.

In addition Berwanger took 10 forward passes for a total gain of 258 yards, which brings his personal total for the season to 920 yards. Three of these passes, good for a total of 42 yards, were completed in conference play.

Eight touchdowns were involved in all this ball lugging, four against Cornell college, one against Washington, one against Indiana [Chicago's only score in the Big Ten], and two against Dartmouth. Berwanger also kicked seven points after touchdown, making his point total for the season 55.

All but one or two punts Chicago made during the season were made by Berwanger. He averaged 35.8 yards, and for the entire season, 32.2 yards in conference games. He made as many as 16 punts in one game. His quick kicking was especially good.

He's All Around Man.

Early in the season Jay was tense and over-anxious, as befits a 19 year old boy with a reputation to uphold. By the Dartmouth game, however, he was well poised, and his 61 yard run from a tackle play was reminiscent of his performance as a freshman.

Berwanger came to the Midway from Dubuque, Ia., where he had maintained an unusual record in his scholastic work, as well as in football and track. He is a decathlon performer of great promise and will participate in that competition next spring.

VUCHINICH A CENTER

Columbus, O., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Michael [Mickey] Vuchinich, the iron man of the Ohio State university football team, has been chosen the most valuable member of the 1933 squad, and is placed among the ten candidates for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S silver football awarded yearly to the Big Ten's most valuable player.

Vuchinich, one of the outstanding centers in the Big Ten, is a senior and has concluded three years of varsity competition as a regular, during the first two of which he played full back.

Joseph Gailus, guard and co-captain, was second in the balloting by the Ohio State letter men.

Mickey is regarded as one of the best defensive linesmen ever to attend Ohio State. Coaches point out the fact that he was shifted to center in an emergency to fill the shoes of Dick Smith, last year's regular center and that he did not make one bad pass during the entire season. He played more than any other Ohio State player, participating in 405 out of a possible 480 minutes in Ohio's eight games.

Five Full Games.

Against Michigan, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, and Illinois

Talking it Over

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 6.—Joe Cronin, manager of the Washington Senators, left yesterday for Chicago to attend the major league meetings. . . . Lewis Fonseca, White Sox pilot, will depart tomorrow. . . . He hopes to be able to announce the purchase of George Earnshaw before the session adjourns. . . . There is a possibility that the Sox will make a bid for either Hudlin or Ferrell of the Indians. . . . They need at least two dependable pitchers, if they expect to go anywhere in the 1934 race.

Coach Bill Ingram of the University of California left today on a duck hunting trip upstate. . . . Bill had his best season since he left the United States Naval academy. . . . California lost only three games—Santa Clara, Stanford, and Southern California—all by close scores.

This is the first year pari-mutuel betting has been legal in California, but Tanforan is having its worst season financially. . . . The first 30 days of the 40 day meeting showed a daily handle of only $51,000. . . It would have been far short of that average had it not been that the track has operated Sundays for the last three weeks. . . There was $90,000 in the machines at last Sunday's charity card. . . They can't blame the weather for poor attendance because there has been rain only one day and it didn't fall on that occasion until after the sixth race. . .

The biggest football news of the Coast season was the severance of relations between St. Mary's and Santa Clara. . . It was a page one line in all newspapers in bay district. . . St. Mary's, operated by the Christian Brothers and Santa Clara, a Jesuit university, grew up together. . . Slip Madigan, the old maestro of the Moragas, is coach at St. Marys and Clipper Smith directs the Santa Clara team. . . . They played side by side at Notre Dame in the first years of the Rockne régime. . . . The rivalry betwene the two institutions reached such heights that more than 50,000 attended their annual game two weeks ago. . . When you consider that the student enrollment does not exceed 700 at either school you get an idea of the way the contest gripped the fans. . .

For some reason or other the rivalry was not very friendly. . . It became necessary to roll up an ambulance to the tunnel of Kezar stadium when they came together. . . After this year's game Mr. Smith charged assault and battery when he saw his star punter had been seriously injured in almost the identical spot for the second time in a row. . . Mr. Madigan resented these allegations and demanded an apology, which was forthcoming in a more or less half hearted manner. . . .

But the whole situation was annoying to St. Mary's and the word was passed around that at the next meeting of the athletic board Santa Clara would be dropped from the 1934 schedule. . . . But Mr. Smith's school beat Mr. Madigan's school to the punch, so to speak, by rushing to the newspaper offices with announcement that all athletic relations with St. Marys had been broken. . . There has been insistent clamor the last three days for resumption of game and they may kiss and make up. . .

Meanwhile both are casting around for an opponent to fill the vacant date. . . . Santa Clara is dealing with New York university and St. Mary's plan to take on another Pacific coast conference team, probably Washington or Washington State.

Willie Kamm, Cleveland infielder who for years was third baseman for the White Sox, got away to a bad start at Tanforan yesterday when Old Kickapoo ran out of the money, but he collected $140 on the following race. . . . Joe Devine, scout for the New York Yankees, who uncovered the Waner brothers when serving in similar rôle for the Pirates, had no luck at all. . . . Lefty O'Doul of the New York Giants sailed for Japan the other day to make arrangements for a barnstorming tour after the 1934 season. . . . The folks over there are anxious to see Babe Ruth. . . . He is about the only baseball celebrity who has not visited the country.

Coach Spud Lewis, formerly assistant to Dick Hanley at Northwestern, will have all his regulars available for the next football season at San Francisco university. . . . Salt water is piped from the ocean six miles away to the swimming pool at the Olympic club.

A. A. Stagg's College of the Pacific will get a place on California's 1934 football schedule. . . . Bill Ingram will attend the National Coaches' association meeting in Chicago. . . . George

MAROONS MEET HAWKS TONIGHT FOR FIRST TIME

Graham Opposes His Old Mates at Stadium.

When the Blackhawks meet the Montreal Maroons for the first time this season at the Stadium tonight, it will be a clash between one of the strongest offensive organizations in the National league against the best defensive team. It will also be another test between weight and speed.

Eddie Gerard, manager of the Maroons, has constantly stressed bulk in developing his teams and the system has proved successful inasmuch as the Maroons have only been out of the Stanley Cup playoffs once in the last seven years.

Plenty of Punch.

Smith is one of the few players who is still among the leaders after ten years in the National league. Northcott was the league's scoring sensation last season, finishing second in the Canadian division with 43 points, two points behind Harvey Jackson of Toronto. The third member of the first line is the team's captain, Jimmy Ward, who is rated one of the best right wings in the league.

Graham Comes Home.

Two lines of defense men operate in front of goaltender Davie Kerr. Two of them, Cyclone Wentworth and Teddy Graham, are former Blackhawks. Graham was half of the player trade which brought Lionel Conacher to the Hawks last summer.

Archie Wilcox and Vernon Ayres, weighing 194 pounds and 226 pounds, respectively, form the second defensive lines. The combined weight of the Maroons' defense quartet is 776 pounds. Manager Tommy Gorman has drilled his fleet forwards for the last two days with the idea of getting behind these stalwarts. That they are not impregnable is shown in the standings, which reveal they have been scored upon 26 times in 10 games.

Cook Back in Lineup.

Tommy Cook, who has not played in Chicago since the opener against the New York Americans, will be back in the lineup tonight, teamed with Johnny Sheppard and Mush March.

Lineup:

BILL HEWITT
The Story of a FOOTBALL STAR

[This is the sixth of a series of articles concerning Bill Hewitt, star end of the Chicago Bears' professional football team.]

BY WILFRID SMITH.

In the six games that Bill Hewitt played at full back for Michigan in 1931, he carried the ball 118 times for a total gain of 446 yards. Hewitt gained 140 yards above the total accumulated by any other Michigan back.

The record of having most time to his credit also went to Hewitt. In nine games played 485 minutes out of a possible 540. The nearest approach was the time turned in by Howard Auer, tackle, who played 460 minutes.

For these reasons and because of his defensive ability, Hewitt was chosen as the most valuable player on the Michigan squad by his teammates.

"If I had all the football men in the conference in a group and was asked to pick the most valuable I would select Bill Hewitt without hesitation," Coach Kipke said when informed of the vote of the Michigan varsity men.

Loves Football; Plays Hard and Well.

"Although Hewitt was not captain [he was acting captain in the Illinois game], he has all the qualifications for leadership," Kipke added. "He loves the game of football and he plays it well and hard. Playing as a back during only the last few games of his career, he proved himself a brilliant ball carrier. Furthermore he is a strong blocker, and both a passer and pass receiver."

By his selection Hewitt became a candidate for THE TRIBUNE'S silver football trophy which annually is awarded to the most valuable player to his team in the Western conference. Clarence Munn, of Minnesota, a doughty guard, long distance punter, however, won the Big Ten award. Hewitt, like the candidates from Northwestern and Purdue, share holders in the championship, were obscured by the strength of their own elevens.

Pro Game Offers the Only Course.

"My father didn't want me to play professionally," Bill said. "He had no particular reason, but he hoped I wouldn't. What was I to do? George Halas was anxious to secure my services and so were a couple of other pro teams. Maybe I would have followed my father's advice except for two reasons. In the first place I liked football. And I was just beginning to learn the game, or so I felt. Remember that I had played only three complete seasons, one in high school and my sophomore and senior years at Michigan.

"The other reason was all important. Here I was, to all purposes, a college graduate. But I had studied pre-law courses. To continue in law I needed more schooling and my flat pocketbook wouldn't permit extravagant ideas. I was lucky I had made my own so far. Perhaps I could get a coaching job somewhere. I didn't care about coaching, however, for only a few ever reach the top and after you've spent several years coaching along comes some younger fellow whose reputation is fresh made and you're kicked out because your team has lost a couple of games.

"The well known depression took care that I didn't grab off a swell job selling bonds as many football players have done. So when Halas talked money, I had both ears open.

Hopes to Get a Law Degree.

"The upshot of the whole thing was I reported for practice with the Chicago Bears on Sept. 2, 1932, at the Logan Square ball park. My father long since has withdrawn his objections to pro football and, in fact, I imagine he's a little proud of my record. At any rate, I have been self-supporting, saved some money, and

FOOTBALL DEATHS DECREASE; ONLY 26 DURING YEAR

Girl 13 on List; No Varsity Player Killed.

New York, N. Y., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Despite increased participation by high school and sandlot players, deaths from football in the season just closed show a decline from the high marks of 1931 and 1932.

Reports from all sources show 26 deaths directly attributable to the game and 10 more in which injuries in play may have been a contributing factor. One of the deaths was that of a 13 year old girl. These figures compare with 50 deaths recorded in 1931 and 38 last year.

No Varsity Men on List.

Not one college varsity player is on the list and only five college freshmen, of which number only two can be listed as definitely having died from injuries received in supervised games or practice.

The deaths, including the 10 doubtful fatalities are segregated as follows: College 5, high school 16, sandlot 13, semi-pro and athletic clubs 2.

The record of Floyd R. Easterwood of New York university who conducted a similar survey for the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, estimates there were approximately 1,100,000 students enrolled in American colleges this fall and nearly 5,000,000 in the high schools, a greater number than in 1932. The sandlot players "run into the millions."

Iowa Freshman Killed.

The girl reported in the fatality list was 13 year old Wilma Kelly of Helena, Mont. While playing with a neighborhood group of children, she fell and received a fractured nose, dying 14 days later of an infection growing out of the injury.

The two university players killed were Arthur Ehlers of the University of Iowa and Hoot Wilson of Howard college, Birmingham, Ala. Both died of brain hemorrhages suffered while practicing with the freshmen team against the varsity.

CROWDS UP 13 PER CENT

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Based on figures gathered by the Associated Press from all parts of the country and tabulated today, college football attendance for 1933 increased 13 per cent, as compared with the previous season, and appears to have recovered approximately half the business lost at the turnstiles during the 1931-'32 decline.

This year's increase compares with a decline of 15 per cent in national attendance in 1932 and a drop of 10 per cent in 1931.

Pros Show Big Gain.

At the same time, reports from eastern clubs in the National Professional Football league indicate increases in attendances this year ranging as high as 50 per cent. Figures for the entire circuit have not been made public.

The cross-section of college attendance, on which the national figures are based, comes from detailed reports of 46 institutions. Of these, 35 show increases, ranging as high as 100 per cent in the cases of Fordham, St. Mary's, and Santa Clara, while only 11 show decreases for the 1933 season.

The aggregate attendance for the entire 46 colleges and universities was 7,026,408, as compared with a grand total of 6,109,015 for the previous season. This represents a gain of 917,393, or approximately 13 per cent.

The central west recorded the biggest gains, with 13 colleges exceeding the previous year's total attendance by 350,000.

Trojans Draw 563,000.

The biggest single attendance report comes from Southern California, with 563,000 for ten games as compared with 475,000 for nine games last season. In the middle west, Notre Dame leads with 382,000 although this is a drop from 441,000 in 1932. Ohio State tops the Big Ten with 287,000. The eastern leaders are Navy and Army, with 350,000 and 322,700 respectively.

Following is a comparison of the section figures for this year and last:

	Colleges.	attendance. 1933	attendance. 1932
East	11	2,296,478	2,076,533
Far west	14	2,220,436	1,894,408
Middle west	13	2,032,667	1,682,415
South	8	476,827	455,659

In the WAKE of the NEWS

ROSE BOWL GAME.

THE WAKE finds it difficult to steam up over the impending Rose Bowl game between Leland Stanford and Columbia elevens. Certainly by no stretch of imagination can it purport to determine the mythical national football championship.

Stanford finds its Pacific coast title at least questioned by Southern California and Oregon. Without going into that, Stanford was held to a scoreless tie by Northwestern here in Chicago and was beaten by Washington, 6 to 0. Washington previously had lost to Oregon, 6 to 0, and subsequently lost to Southern California, 33 to 0, and Washington State, 17 to 6. Even if Stanford's reverse and tie were flukes they still are blemishes on its record.

Now look at Columbia. Columbia lost to Princeton, 20 to 0. Concededly it was playing its best football toward the end of the season, but there is nothing tremendously impressive about its record. Columbia downed Lehigh, 39 to 0. Lehigh did not win from a strong opponent all year. Columbia beat Virginia, 15 to 6. Ohio State did the same trick, 75 to 0. Penn State fell to Columbia, 33 to 0. Penn State's best was 6 to 6 with Pennsylvania.

Columbia's other victories were over Cornell, 9 to 6; Navy, 14 to 7; Lafayette, 46 to 6, and Syracuse, 16 to 0. Cornell was swamped by Michigan, 40 to 0. Navy lost to Pittsburgh, Princeton, and Army. Lafayette was downed by New York U., Bucknell, Pennsylvania, and Rutgers, and tied by Colgate, perhaps its best game. Syracuse lost to Michigan State, 27 to 3; Brown, and Colgate.

Conceding that Stanford was unable to secure Michigan or Princeton as an attraction, one wonders if the usual 85,000 spectators will pay $5 each to see the Rose Bowl game of 1934.

Lonely.

I am so very lonely and so very blue,
But no one shall know that, least of all you;
Tonight while you are near and yet so far away,
I shall laugh with a joyousness and be the gayest of the gay;
And no one shall know and none could guess
That an aching, lonely heart beats beneath my black dress.

Ann of Wilmette.

Most Valuable Player.

At the Chicago Alumni club annual football dinner tonight Wally Steffen, president of the Order of "C" men, will present prizes to the best Maroon tackler, blocker, and player of greatest value to his team. Whether the most valuable will be selected by the "C" men or be the one chosen by the players for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE footballs, we are not informed.

Recognition of the most valuable player in distinction to the greatest player—when there is such a distinction—is that to which we wish to call attention. That is the basis of award by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of ten white gold footballs, watch fob size, and the Silver Football, actual size, to Big Ten players.

This popular idea is gaining momentum each year and awards on that basis now are made in various parts of the country. The latest similar actions in this territory are by North Central college of Naperville and Lake Forest, whose athletic departments presented a prize to their most valuable player.

England's Soccer Team Triumphs Over France, 4-1

MILLER DEFEATS DAZZO IN ARCADIA BOXING WINDUP

Tonelli Knocks Out O'Shea in Fifth Round.

Freddie Miller, featherweight champion, defeated Paul Dazzo in a 10 round non-title bout last night at the Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway. Miller weighed 126¼ pounds, 4½ less than Dazzo. The featherweight poundage is 126.

Miller outboxed his Chicago opponent most of the way. There were four rounds in which Dazzo gave the crowd a chance to cheer for him, the third, fifth, seventh, and tenth. In these rounds Dazzo landed on the champion's chin with rights which rocked him, and it appeared Paul might win by a knockout. But the opportunities passed and there was hardly a dissenting vote in the audience when Miller was awarded the decision.

Tenth Round Is Fast.

After a terrific exchange of blows in the fifth round with Dazzo getting the better of it, Miller came out in the sixth apparently none the worse for the punishment he had absorbed. He scored with vicious left hooks to the body and twice Dazzo went down, from either the force of the blows or a slippery canvas.

The tenth round was the most furious and by far the fastest. Both boys started as if bent on winning by a knockout. Just as Miller appeared to be getting the upper hand, Dazzo landed a hard right to the head and the champion hung on. As Dazzo shook him off Miller fell to the floor, but he was up without an instant's hesitation flaying away with both hands from his southpaw stance.

Tonelli Wins by K. O.

Geno Salvatore beat Phil Pernice [5].
Oscar O'Hanlon and Paul Lee, drew [6].
Davey White and Jim Richards, drew [4].
Frank Mirabel beat Frank Almares [4].

Solly Dukelsky, Chicago welterweight, and Jackie Purvis of Indianapolis, Ind., signed yesterday to meet in a six round bout tomorrow at Rainbo Fronton. The weight is set at 152 pounds. Mickey Joy, lightweight, meets Eddie Chinski in a six round semi-final.

The California athletic commission has signed a working agreement with the Illinois and New York commissions. California accepted the agreement last Oct. 19, but the signed document was not received by Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois commission until yesterday. The code is the same as that signed by this state and New York Oct. 9. Under the agreement, California, New York and Illinois will recognize each other's dictums if they believe they are reasonable. Massachusetts was expected to be the next major state to join, but inasmuch as it accepted a working agreement with the National Boxing association Nov. 20 this appears to be remote.

Fans who watched Jacquotte Elverrillo spar five rounds yesterday predicted a victory for him when he meets Dick Sisk, Brighton Park welterweight, for six rounds tomorrow at Cicero stadium. He went three rounds with Prince Saunders and two with Johnny Milen.

During his workout with Saunders, Elverrillo used a straight left to the face with effect throughout and before the drill was over Saunders sustained a cut lip. Jacquotte also landed numerous left hooks to the head and body on both partners. He also frequently unleashed a short straight right to the jaw.

Two matches hinge on the result of the Sisk-Elverrillo meeting. One is against Rubin Edmonds at Muskegon, Mich., next Thursday and the other is with Puggy Weinert at the Cicero arena Dec. 22.

Jack King vs. Johnny Long [6], 166.
George Engel vs. Tommy Corbett [6], 139.
Adolph Wiater vs. Frank Ketter [4], heavyweights.
Lenny Cohen vs. Lou Velis [4], 118.
Art Donovan vs. Frank Keevil [4], 140.

King Levinsky sparred two rounds yesterday with Seal Harris for a ten round encounter Dec. 29 at the Chicago Stadium against Don McCorkindale. . . . Prince Saunders boxes Iowa Joe Rivers at Cedar Rapids tomorrow. . . . Art Laskey, Minneapolis, Minn., expects to return to Chicago this month from California after three months. In his latest bout he knocked out Fred Lenhart at Hollywood. . . . Henry Hook, Indianapolis, Ind., 122 pound boxer, clashes with Ernie Maurer at Detroit, Mich., tonight. Hook held him to a draw previously.

An amateur team from Our Lady of Sorrow parish will collide with St. Philip High school representatives tomorrow at St. Philip gymnasium. The 1933 C. Y. O. champions are to referee the matches. F. M.

Chicagoan Voted Creighton Football Captain for 1934

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Gene Hackett of Chicago today was elected captain of the 1934 Creighton university football team. Hackett, who is 19 years old, has been a regular end for two seasons.

HUNTERS GIVEN BRONX CHEER BY ILLINOIS DUCKS

Birds Feed at Night and Sleep in Daylight.

BY BOB BECKER.

Thousands of mallards in the Illinois river bottom did a lot of satisfied quacking last week as well as uttering a number of duck noises which might be construed as a Bronx cheer for the hunters. Due to a combination of experience with blinds and decoys, mild, bluebird weather suitable for sleeping in the warm sunshine, and bright moonlight nights, the big flocks of ducks did all their eating by night and stayed away from blinds by day. This program naturally resulted in practically no ducks flying between the first hint of daylight and sundown. And when ducks don't fly hunters get no shooting.

We have had reports of this situation from a number of points in the Illinois river valley and the moaning has been loud from the ranks of the hunters. Many of them sat around in the blinds hour after hour without seeing a half dozen birds anywhere near a blind.

They Sleep in Daytime.

A veteran duck hunter at Lacon, Ill., writes us that he has ducks galore coming into his marsh. "But don't come down to hunt," he adds. "Not until something happens to change the flying habits of the birds."

The mallards act as if somebody gives them chloroform every morning. They retire to safe, open water and sleep there until sundown, knowing that they can storm the piles of corn at that time and never get a charge of shot thrown at them.

A day shooting place at Bureau, Ill., advises us that they have lots of ducks in the marshes, "but the shooting last week was very poor, due no doubt to the bright moon. It should pick up again at the end of the season when the moon is on the wane."

Much the same situation has prevailed way down the river where there always is a heavy concentration of birds. J. C. Lukeman of Jacksonville, Ill., writes that there has been very little duck shooting for the last two weeks in the territory where he hunts (between Beardstown and Havana). It's the same old story of the birds outsmarting the hunters.

Advises Halt in Feeding.

Mr. Lukeman writes:

"The ducks are feeding at night. They come out about the time you have to quit shooting and eat from 8 to 20 bushels of corn every night. Then they go back and sit on the big waters through the day. In my opinion the only way to get any shooting the balance of the season is to quit feeding. Then the ducks go out and hunt for feed through the day."

It is rather interesting that during all the years of duck shooting when we have had the same moonlight which was shining this fall, and pretty much the same program of feeding, this is the first year that we have heard of a plan to cut off food supplies for the birds to improve hunting conditions.

Wonderbolts Whip Toronto Scots, 2 to 0

The Toronto Scots, North American soccer champions, were handed their first defeat on United States soil last night when they lost to the Wieboldt Wonderbolts, 2 to 0, in the opening indoor game of the season at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. A crowd of 7,000 witnessed the match.

Neither team was able to score in a brilliantly played first half. The Wonderbolts scored after 15 minutes of the second half when Monroe beat Wallace with a rocket drive. Repeated attempts by the Scots to score were blocked by Hjulian and Scott. Grassman, after penetrating the Chicagoans' defense, missed the Toronto team's best opportunity.

With only five minutes remaining, Cuthbert sidestepped Weir and scored cleanly for the Wonderbolts' second goal. Weir, Noke, and Donald stood out for the Scots, while Hjulian, Scott, and Cuthbert were the Chicago stars. The Sparta Leaders, Chicago Professional league champions, battled to a 1 to 1 draw with the German All-Stars in a preliminary game. Summary of the Scots-Wonderbolts game:

NESTOR JOHNSON SIX WILL PLAY BLUE RIBBONS

The Blue Ribbons and the Nestor Johnsons amateur hockey teams clash at the Coliseum tonight. The Blue Ribbons have only one victory and the Nestors have been defeated in all their league games. The Blue Ribbon victory, however, was over the Butterfinger six, which with the Baby Ruths are tied for the lead.

The Nestor Johnson team will be strengthened by several new men. It will rely chiefly on Victel, one of the best stick handlers in the Big Four.

The first of Canadian teams to appear here will be Queens University sextette from Kingston, Ont., which will play the first of two games here Dec. 28, it was announced yesterday.

BILL HEWITT
The Story of a FOOTBALL STAR

hope to use pro football as a means to getting a law degree."

In his first season with the pros Bill helped the Chicago Bears stagger to a tie with Portsmouth for the title and win from the Spartans in the playoff at the Chicago Stadium last December. For a time it seemed as if the Bears never would score a touchdown, although their opponents found scoring equally difficult. There were some who likened the Bears to those hitless wonders, the White Sox, who won the world baseball championship in 1906.

After the usual warmup games the Bears played three consecutive scoreless ties with Green Bay, Staten Island (a member of the league last year), and the Cardinals before losing to the Packers at Wrigley field, 2 to 0, on a blocked kick which bounded behind the end zone. Staten Island was beaten here, 27 to 7, and then the Bears tied with the Boston Redskins, 7 to 7, at Boston.

Misses Only One Game in 2 Years.

"We'd have sold our chances for a dime after the Boston game," Bill remarked.

But the Bears bounded into New York and whipped the Giants, 28 to 8. This was the only game in which Hewitt didn't play last season, for an injured knee kept him on the sidelines. And it's the only game he's missed in two years.

Back at Wrigley field the Bears tied the Portsmouth team, 13 to 13, after they had permitted Dutch Clark and Glen Presnell to set the pace.

"Clark was one of the most difficult men to tackle I've ever met," Hewitt said concerning the former Colorado star. "We're lucky this year that Clark isn't in the Spartan back field with Lumpkin, Presnell, and Caddell."

Brooklyn and the Cardinals were beaten and the Bears tied Portsmouth at Portsmouth, 7 to 7. Then, at the top of their offensive power, the Bears finished with victories over New York and Green Bay. The final averages showed the Bears: Victories, 6; losses, 1; ties, 6. Portsmouth had the same number of games won and lost and 4 ties. The game at the Stadium Dec. 18 settled the title dispute, the Bears winning, 9 to 0, with Red Grange scoring the winning touchdown on a forward pass.

In this unusual race Hewitt, at right end, had done his share. He hadn't, however, stood out head and shoulders above all the ends in the league. He was a hard, vicious tackler, an exceptional blocker, but his performance was lost among the many good tackles and blocks one sees as a matter of course in professional football.

The season over, Hewitt returned to Bay City, Mich., helped his father, in lieu of other occupation, and last summer conducted a boys' camp with the assistance of Louis Westover, member of the Michigan varsity.

[The next article on the career of Bill Hewitt will appear in tomorrow's Tribune.]

HUBBELL FIRST, WARNEKE SECOND IN EARNED RUNS

Bush and Root Crash Into First Five.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Cubs' and Giants' pitchers grabbed off the first five spots in the National league ratings on the earned run basis, according to pitching statistics released this morning.

The marvelous Carl Hubbell supplanted Lon Warneke, the 1932 champion, and Lon was runner up. To top the list Hubbell turned in a mark of 1.66 earned runs per nine inning game, the lowest average since Grover Cleveland Alexander held his adversaries to a 1.55 average in 1916.

Though Warneke was forced to take second place he finished with a better earned run showing than that with which he led the league in 1932. His mark in 1933 was 2.01. In 1932 it was 2.37. In 1932 Hubbell played second fiddle to Warneke with 2.50.

Bush Fourth, Root Fifth.

Hal Schumacher was third with 2.15, which also is better than the average with which Warneke led in 1932. Guy Bush, one of four pitchers to enter the charmed circle of victors in 20 or more games, was fourth with 2.59 and Charley Root was fifth with 2.60.

On the basis of won and lost percentage, Warneke was supplanted by his teammate, Bud Tinning. Bud topped the field of regular starters with 13 games won and 6 lost for a percentage of .684.

Hubbell, a sensation throughout the entire season, busted into many superlatives during the regular season before he monopolized the world series spotlight. In addition to leading the league on the earned run basis he also topped the circuit on number of games won, 23, pitched the most innings, 309, and pitched the most shutouts, 10, including his record accomplishment on July 2, when he shut out the Cardinals, 1 to 0, in 18 innings.

Hubbell established a new National league record for consecutive scoreless innings, with 46. He didn't allow a run, earned or unearned, during his arduous endeavors from July 13 through Aug 1. The ormer record of 44 scoreless innings was made by Ed Reulbach of the Cubs, in 1908.

Dean Still Strikeout King.

Dizzy Dean, of the Cardinals, while failing to sweep all records, as he had predicted he would, was far from being frozen out. Dizzy pitched in the most games, 48, three more than Hubbell and 12 more than Warneke. He succeeded himself as strikeout king with 199, and he and Warneke tied for most complete games pitched, 26. Dean set a modern major league record when he fanned 17 Cubs in St. Louis on July 30. Dean was one of the runners-up to Hubbell in games won. Dean, Bush and Cantwell each won 20.

Larry French, of the Pirates, who used to be a soft touch for the Cubs, got so he could stand the Chicagoans on their heads but, nevertheless, for the third successive year allowed the most hits. The 1209 batters who faced Larry made 290 hits.

Leroy Parmelee was the most dangerous wild man of the league. He hit 14 batsmen and made 14 wild pitches to lead the league in both departments. Wild Bill Hallahan sustained his reputation by leading the league in bases on balls. Bill passed 98. Tex Carleton, another gent who was poison to the Cubs, allowed the most earned runs, 104.

Malone Trails Regulars.

Pat Malone was last of the group of pitchers who pitched at least 10 complete games. Pat's earned run average was 3.92 and his won and lost percentage .417.

Iowa Elects Russ Fisher 1934 Captain

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Russell Fisher, Des Moines, half back, was elected captain of the 1934 University of Iowa football team tonight at the annual dinner for the squad given by President and Mrs. Walter A. Jessup of the university.

The blocking half back who succeeds Tom Moore, Waterloo, center, as leader, is the first back field man to captain the Hawkeye team since 1930.

Although his first varsity football competition at Iowa was in 1933, Fisher will be a senior next year. He played one year at Western State college, Gunderson, Colo., before joining the Hawkeyes.

Fisher carried the ball little during the last season, but teamed with Dwight Hoover, the other blocking half, in running interference for Joe Laws and Dick Crayne.

MAROONS TO NAME LEADER.

University of Chicago football men will elect a captain for the 1934 team tonight at the Chicago Alumni club's annual football dinner, which will be held at 6:30 o'clock at the University club. The election of a captain is one of several new features added to the program of the dinner, which for the first time is being held after the end of the season.

Awards of football letters to the varsity and of numerals to the freshman squad will be announced at the dinner by Coach Clark Shaughnessy, who also will introduce the players to alumni and discuss prospects for next season.

Judge Walter Steffen, president of the Order of the C, will award the trophies given by the letter men's organization, and the Chicago Alumni club to the players adjudged the best tackler, the best blocker, and of most value to the team during the season. Director Nelson Metcalf will present gold track shoes to former Maroon track stars.

IRISH TO PICK CAPTAIN.

Notre Dame, Ind., Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's 1933 football captain will be elected tomorrow night at the annual private football dinner given by the athletic association. Coach Hunk Anderson appointed a captain for each game this year.

TEXAS DENIES CHEVIGNY HAS SIGNED AS COACH

Austin, Tex., Dec. 6.—(AP)—W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the athletic council, denied reports today that the council had agreed to employ Jack Chevigny, St. Edwards university coach, to succeed Clyde Littlefield, resigned, as head football coach at the University of Texas.

Football fans had spread the word that Chevigny had been agreed on at last night's council meeting, when Littlefield turned in his resignation after having first been reëlected to continue in the place he filled for seven years.

"The athletic council feels the selection of a football coach is a proposition which requires careful study and not hasty action," Metzenthin said. "We have several men in mind."

Chevigny came to St. Edward's from Notre Dame, where he was trained under the late Knute Rockne. He won the conferenc championship with the Tigers this year, losing only one game.

Chicago Tennis Group to Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Chicago Tennis association will be held at the Hamilton club this evening, beginning with a dinner at 6 o'clock.

ADD STEINBORN, OLSON TO MAT CARD AT STADIUM

Milo Steinborn and Cliff Olson have been added to the Chicago Stadium's wrestling card for next Wednesday, when Jim Londos clashes with Ray Steele in the feature event.

The acquisition of these two completes the card, although only two matches other than the feature number have been closed. These are the semi-windup, involving Gino Garibaldi and Pat O'Shocker, and a clash between Hans Kampfer, German titleholder, and Dutch Hefner of Texas.

Jim McMillen and George Zaharias are the other wrestlers. One of them will face Olson, while the other tackles Steinborn.

Haarlow, Maroon Basket Star, Fails in Examinations

Maroon basketball prospects, which hinge heavily on the eligiblity of Bill Haarlow, sophomore scoring star, took a slight turn for the worse yesterday when it was learned that Haarlow missed one of his two chances for attaining eligibility. He failed to pass an English examination. If he passes a history examination next week he will be eligible, however. The results of the latter test will not be known until the Armour and Bradley games have been played.

Three Packers Unable to Face Bears Sunday

Three members of the Green Bay Packers will be unable to play against the Bears Sunday afternoon at Wrigley field. The Bears must win or tie to assure the championship playoff with New York being played here on Dec. 17.

Johnny Blood, Wuert Englemann, and Ben Smith are the noncombatants for this week-end, Coach Curley Lambeau of the Packers informed Coach George Halas of the Bears yesterday.

Engelmann and Smith are injured and Blood was suspended for violation of the club training rules.

All other members of the Packers, however, are in good condition and Lambeau said he expected to start Dilweg, Perry, Michalske, Bultman, Comstock, Kurth, Gantenbein, Grove, Herber, Bruder, and Hinkle.

Today's Bear drill will be under the supervision of Laurie Walquist, who has assisted Halas all season. Halas left for Columbus last night to confer with Joe Carr, president of the National league, and Tim Mara, owner of the New York Giants, regarding the championship game.

Little Calls Columbia Back for Practice

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Football togs Columbia thought were stowed away for the season until the Rose Bowl invitation came from Stanford, were unpacked today and redistributed as the team went back into practice.

Coach Lou Little held an hour's light exercise preliminary to regular football work tomorrow. The boys broke training after their victory over Syracuse two weeks ago.

Joe Ferrara, tackle and co-captain-elect, worked out because no notice of his ineligibility for failure to pass mid-year examinations had been received at the athletic office. Announcement of his ineligibility was made last night after it was learned Joe Richavich, sophomore star last year, but ineligible all fall, had passed his mid-years and could return to the squad. Ferrara may be allowed to take reëxaminations.

Aside from the date of departure for California, set for Dec. 19, Little had no definite plans. He was in touch with Jesse Harper, director of athletics at Notre Dame, Bernie Bierman, who took a Tulane team to the coast, Jock Sutherland of Pittsburgh, and Wallace Wade, who led Alabama to the Rose Bowl, seeking advice on the best methods of preparing the squad.

REFIT YANKEE; MAY BE 1934 CUP DEFENDER

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A strong probability that the Yankee, one of the four yachts which contended for the post as the America's cup defender in 1930, again will race in the trials next summer was seen today when it was learned that plans were under way to refit the yacht to conform to the new conditions of the international race.

Although the syndicate which plans to purchase the Yankee has not been completed, it is understood that Chandler Hovey of Boston, one of the original owners of the sloop, is one of the group which plans to race the Yankee next summer.

The sloop, the fastest of the four 1930 contenders in heavy weather, also is best suited to alteration. The new rules for the race require considerable added weight and the Yankee, with her hollow keel, can be lightened by the removal of ballast to compensate for the weight of the cabin fittings and heavier gear.

RELIEVE HARMON AS BOSTON HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

Boston, Mass., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Boston university today announced that John M. Harmon, storm center of the latest of its numerous athletic upheavals, has been relieved as head football coach. He will continue as athletic director, and, as such, will recommend his own successor.

Harmon, who is also coach of basketball and baseball, took over the football job against his wishes at the urgent request of Boston's athletic council. Soon after the Terriers closed an unsuccessful season, Harmon was criticized for permitting an injured player to play in the final game against Tufts. Half way through the season, several of his outstanding players forced athletic officials to abandon the player-control system, pet hobby of Dean Frederick Rand Rogers, Harmon's immediate superior, by threatening to quit the team.

Doc's Ad Turns Up a Giant to Learn Wrestling Trade

Gene Almon, one of Boston's huskiest young citizens, is a great reader of the newspapers. It used to be his habit, after finishing all the local publications, to go down to the library and read the Chicago and New York journals, and that was how, a few days ago, he came upon Dr. John Krone's advertisement for men to learn the wrestling business. In practically no time at all Gene was in Chicago, pounding on the door of the doctor's office.

When Dr. Krone opened the door he saw a giant, 6 feet 8 inches tall, whose weight, to the doctor's practiced eye, appeared to be in the neighborhood of 230 pounds. And even Gene's Boston accent failed to dampen Doc's enthusiasm as they discussed ways and means of making Mr. Almon one of the many champions of the trade.

Gene will make his first appearance tomorrow night at the Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway, at Dr. Krone's second wrestling show of the season. It will be in the nature of a preview. Gene will leap into the ring, take a bow, and leap out again, remaining to watch the members of the Krone varsity do their stuff in a series of bouts headed by Gentleman Jack Smith and Joe Wolf, who is known, even in the wrestling profession, as a very tough customer, to whom the word gentleman is a call to battle.

Almon will get a chance to wrestle at one of Krone's shows in the near future. He is only 23 years old and so does not mind waiting a while before he starts up the path to "gold and glory" that the Doc mentioned in his ad.

It will be ladies' night at Arcadia tomorrow, with Mrs. Mae Harmon helping Dr. Krone greet each and every customer at the gate. It was regretfully announced that only 1,000 could be accommodated.

Among the wrestlers on the program, in addition to Smith and Wolf, are Zack Malkov, Ole Olson and Jack Zerapich.

M'EWAN, WYNNE APPROACHED ON KENTUCKY JOB

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 6.—(AP)—The University of Kentucky athletic council after interviewing applicants for the position of head football coach to be relinquished by Harry Gamage announced tonight no selection had been made.

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, chairman of the council, said: "We have reduced the number of candidates from nearly one hundred to about a half dozen," and added, "it's a race between these men."

Among those interviewed were John McEwan, former Army coach, who now coaches the Brooklyn Dodgers, professional football team; Chet Wynne, head coach at Auburn, and John [Shipwreck] Kelly, co-owner of the Dodgers, who is not an applicant for the position but appeared in behalf of McEwan.

CARNERA SAILS FOR NEW YORK ON BUSINESS TRIP

GENOA, Italy, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, world's heavyweight boxing champion, today sailed for New York on the Conte di Savoia.

He said it was a business trip and that he would return on the same liner after only a day or two in New York. He was unaccompanied.

BEARS FOOTBALL PLAYERS WILL BOWL TOMORROW

George Halas, owner and coach of the Bears, has not selected his squad. The Blue Ribbon quintet is composed of Dominic De Vito, Eddie Krems, Adolph Carlson, Leo Faetz, and George Morrison. All proceeds of the match will go to charity.

he played the entire game without relief.

He was the first choice of coaches in attempts for points after touchdowns, scoring one against Vanderbilt, three against Indiana, two against Pennsylvania, and one against Illinois.

Vuchinich of Serbian descent, is one of the two Ohio state regulars from out of the state. His home is in Southwest, Pa., where as a youth he was sickly, but built up himself by out of door work. In later years he grew strong through work in the mines and mills near his home. He stands six feet, is 24 years old, and weighs 190 pounds.

Popular on Campus.

Vuchinich is one of the four regulars on the Ohio State squad who attended Kiski prep school. The quartet, Vuchinich, Gailus, Regis, Monahan, tackle, and Buzz Wetzel, full back, played their last game against Illinois.

Cliff Montgomery, captain of the Columbia team; Frank Murdock, captain at Cornell; Colin Stewart, captain at Carnegie Tech., and George Barclay, captain at North Carolina, also were members of the Kiski team on which the four Buckeyes played.

Vuchinich is a model student, possessing a personality that gained him membership to all of honorary groups on the campus, including Bucket and Dipper, Junior Men's Honorary society; Sphinx, Senior Men's Honorary group, and the presidency of the Delta Upsilon chapter.

He will be graduated from the commerce college in June.

N. Y. AMERICANS AND OTTAWA SIX MAY COMBINE

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Despite a series of emphatic denials from nearly every one concerned, a rumor persisted tonight that the New York Americans and Ottawa Senators of the National Hockey league were planning to merge and carry on as a New York team.

The Americans and Senators, last and next to last in the standing of the league's two sections, have suffered from poor attendance again this season, after going through a number of financially lean years. The reports had it that Frank Patrick, now managing director of the league, would take over the direction of the combined club.

Only Patrick, reached in Montreal, would give any hint that there might be some basis of fact for the report. Officially he refused to confirm or deny the story, but in an off-the-record discussion he mentioned the word "premature."

Frank Calder, league president, described the story as "one of those things in which the wish is father to the thought." Marty Schenker, secretary of the Americans, said his club had tried to buy several Ottawa players and was still interested in them.

Talking it Over

Kelley, whose sensational hitting after he joined the Cubs kept the team in the 1930 race, spends part of his off season hunting grasshoppers to feed the frogs in the well which adorns the front yard of his beautiful home in Millbrae, a suburb of San Francisco. . . . He lives only half a block from his uncle, Bill Lang, a White Sox star of 30 years ago. . . . His home in down the peninsula. . . . From the rear he can see the ocean, and from the front San Francisco bay. . . . George will play for Sacramento next season.

Tony Lazzeri, second baseman for the Yankees, invited us out to see the barbecue he had just built in the arbor behind his Spanish bungalow in Millbrae. . . . "This is something they can't take away from me when I no longer can play baseball," he remarked, pointing to his new home. . . . They are betting 2 to 1 on St. Mary's to whip Southern Methodist in the collegiate final here Saturday. . . . California has no eastern games in sight. . . . The Bears still are waiting for Notre Dame to visit Berkeley. . . . That is the only eastern team that will satisfy the fans, Ingram states.

Expect Puplis to Star in Title Game.

Harrison Tech and Mount Carmel, who will meet for the city high school football championship at Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon, continued preparations for the game yesterday. Proceeds of the contest, which will start at 1:30 o'clock, will be donated to the Junior Association of Commerce Christmas basket fund.

Forward passing took up the greater part of Harrison's long drill at McKinley park, indicating that Tech will rely on this department of the game to bring in its second Chicago championship over Mount Carmel. Playing prominent rôles in the practice were Capt. Andy Puplis, who did most of the tossing, and Joe Pilney and Stanley Ondrala, the receivers.

Harrison's offense is built around Puplis, 19 year old senior full back, who completes his prep athletic career with one of the greatest records achieved in Chicago public high school league history. Signal caller and punter, in addition to his forward passing activities, Puplis led Harrison to six consecutive victories in winning the public school title.

No. 14 for Harrison.

It will be Harrison's fourteenth game of the season. It was undefeated until last week, when it lost two games, a 3 to 0 setback by Hall Township High school of Spring Valley, Ill., and a 55 to 12 rout by Capitol Hill at Oklahoma City, Okla. It was tied by Lindblom, 6 to 6, in a practice game early in the season.

The name of Puplis was heard frequently in Mount Carmel's drill at Jackson park. Coach Harold Oftsie stressed defense against the wide end runs with which Puplis has scored many touchdowns in league competition. Puplis is well remembered by Mount Carmel, for the speedy 165 pound star, with Andy Pilney, now at Notre Dame, led Harrison to an overwhelming victory in the city championship game two years ago.

Mount Carmel may be without the services of two veterans. Tom Kennedy, tackle, suffered a broken nose in an automobile accident last week and probably will be unable to play. Gene Middleton, also a tackle, is definitely out because of a broken ankle, incurred in the St. Rita game last Sunday.

Tech Is Scoring Machine.

Mount Carmel, in gaining recognition as champion of the Chicago Catholic High School league, scored 74 points to its opponents' 13. Harrison has a more impressive record. It piled up 133 points, while its opponents in the Chicago Public High School league collected 26. Harrison routed Morgan Park, 32 to 0, in the final for the title at Soldiers' field two weeks ago.

JURY ABSOLVES WOMAN DRIVER IN MATE'S DEATH

Safety Island Crash Is Held Accidental.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at the inquest into the death of Floyd J. Jewell, 26 years old, 6585 Lakewood avenue, purchasing agent for the Johnson Candy company, 341 West Superior street. Jewell was killed late Tuesday night when the automobile driven by his wife, Rose, 23 years old, crashed into a safety island at Ashland and Balmoral avenues.

Mrs. Jewell testified at the inquest despite an offer of the deputy coroner to continue the inquest until she had recovered from her injuries. Announcing that "she wanted to get it over," Mrs. Jewell said that she was driving between ten and fifteen miles an hour at the time of the accident.

Seldom Drove in City.

Other witnesses who arrived shortly after the crash said, however, that the car could not have been so badly damaged at the speed the widow indicated. Mrs. Jewell said that she had driven a car for four years, but that her husband seldom allowed her to drive in the city.

"The accident happened after we had eaten in a restaurant," Mrs. Jewell said. "We had not had much to drink. I had only two glasses of sherry. I was perfectly sober, the brakes worked perfectly, and I have no idea how the accident happened."

Policeman Otto Schoener testified that, while he had not smelled alcohol, he believed Mrs. Jewell had been drinking because of her incoherence after the accident.

Another Safety Island Crash.

Albert Biandalna, 44 years old, owner of a tavern at 1221 Draper street, and Peter Parenti, 35 years old, 28 North Racine avenue, suffered cuts and bruises early yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a safety island at Erie and La Salle streets as the climax of a repeal celebration.

Mrs. Eva Jankot, 49 years old, 3749 South Kedzie avenue, was severely injured early yesterday when she was struck by an automobile in front of her home. Witnesses said the car zigzagged along the street and did not stop after the accident.

James Keane, 25 years old, 1105 West Garfield boulevard, was critically injured yesterday when he swerved his automobile into a light pole at Cermak road and Federal street to avoid striking a taxicab.

Boy on Bicycle Killed.

Gilbert Anderson, 13 years old, 6140 South Mansfield avenue, was instantly killed last night when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by an automobile in front of 6515 West 63d street. The automobile was driven by John Panje, 41 years old, of Hinsdale. Panje told the Chicago Lawn police that the bicycle lights were not burning and he did not see the boy before he swerved his automobile out of the path of another car. Panje was held for the inquest.

The boy's death and two others yesterday increased the 1933 motor fatality toll in Cook county to 1,040. The other victims:

Christ Norwood, 29 years old, 5051 Wellington avenue. Died in Danish-American hospital of injuries incurred Tuesday night when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a street car at Menard street and Grand avenue. The driver of the automobile was killed outright in the collision. An inquest opened yesterday was continued until Dec. 21.

George Henspall, 67 years old, 6742 Normal boulevard. Died in the St. Bernard's hospital last night of a skull fracture he suffered Oct. 2 when he was struck by an automobile driven by G. E. Rhenstron, 52 years old, 731 East End avenue, at 67th and State streets.

Unidentified man, believed to be John Drew, 25 years old, of 1506 East 67th street. Killed by a hit and run car at Stony Island avenue and 71st street early today. His car had stalled and he was being pushed by another machine driven by Fred Hayes, 1520 East Marquette road. When Hayes' car stalled the man believed to be Drew stepped out from his own automobile and was struck by a passing car.

PULASKI ROAD PLAN GOES TO CITY COUNCIL

The committee on local industries, streets, and alleys yesterday gave to the city council its recommendation, by an 11 to 7 vote, that the name of Crawford avenue be changed to Pulaski road, in honor of Gen. Casimir Pulaski, revolutionary hero of Polish birth. The proposed ordinance was ordered deferred and published.

The council received the ordinance once before, but sent it back to the committee for further hearings after numerous business men had protested against the name change. Yesterday a minority report, signed by Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th], Harry A. Sain [27th], Roger J. Kiley [37th], James J. Cusack [5th], and John J. Grealis [44th], was presented to the council, urging that the name of Pulaski road be given to Augusta boulevard instead of to Crawford avenue.

William C. Scherwat yesterday gave a petition to the council asking that the name of either Western avenue or Milwaukee avenue be changed to honor Baron von Steuben, drillmaster of the revolutionary army.

T. J. McManis, 70 years old, 745 Sherman avenue, Evanston, a salesman, died of heart disease yesterday while riding in a Clark street car at North avenue.

FIRE TRUCK HITS STREET CAR; 3 FIREMEN HURT

Three firemen were injured in a spectacular accident last night when a street car struck their hook and ladder truck at Sedgwick and Eugenie streets. One other fireman leaped to safety, and two others clung to the truck. Several passengers in the trolley car were shaken up but not hurt.

The firemen injured were Les Ewing, Maurice Moloney and Raymond O'Connor. They were taken to Alexian Brothers hospital.

The hook and ladder truck, No. 10, had left its station house at Hudson and North avenues to respond to a fire at La Salle and Eugenie streets. At the wheel was Driver James Nolan and beside him was Lieut. Frank Zemmick. O'Connor sat at the rear tiller and elsewhere were Moloney, Ewing, and Otto Schlau.

Proceeding west in Eugenie street, the truck was traveling at high speed as it neared Sedgwick street. Lieut. Zemmick was sounding the siren. As the truck crossed Sedgwick street a north bound street car operated by Motorman J. J. Kelly, 2743 Wilton avenue, and Conductor C. J. Hopkins, 2437 North Racine avenue, smashed squarely into the center of the long truck.

Schlau leaped to safety in time, but Ewing, Moloney and O'Connor were caught in the wreckage. Lieut Zemmick and Driver Nolan hung on despite the jolt.

SON OF GORDON KILLED ON WAY TO AID FATHER

New York, Dec. 6.—[Special.]—Theodore Wexler, the 19 year old son of Irving Wexler — better known as Waxey Gordon—was killed in an automobile-train accident at Chester, Pa., today as he was hurrying to New York to join his mother and sister in a personal plea for reduction of the racketeer's 10 year prison sentence for income tax evasion.

Young Wexler was a medical student in a North Carolina school. His father, who is in the federal house of detention, "took the news like a man," Charles G. F. Wahle, his attorney, said after calling on Wexler in his cell.

The boy was driving alone from North Carolina and was struck by a train at a grade crossing just below Chester. He died an hour and a half later in a hospital in Chester.

VERNE MILLER BURIED; LEGION RITES AT HOME

Huron, S. D., Dec. 6.—(AP)—The body of Verne Miller, viewed by hundreds of persons who knew him before the crime career which made the former Beadle county sheriff one of America's most notorious criminals, was buried late today in Huron's Riverside cemetery.

They filed past the open casket at a funeral home where the Rev. F. E. Lochridge, First Methodist Episcopal church minister, read a sermon based upon the Biblical verse, "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

Earlier today military rites were accorded by the White Lake American Legion post in services held at the home of Charles Miller, Verne's father. No military observance marked the burial here because the Huron Legion post declined to participate. Mrs. Mildred Miller, his widow, was given a flag which draped the casket.

The Rev. Mr. Lochridge asked remembrance of Miller as a former service man and official, omitting reference to the slain gunman's numerous alleged crimes.

U. S. WILL SEEK 950 MILLION TO REFUND DEBTS

New One-Year Issue to Bear 2¼%.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—Acting Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. tonight announced the government's long awaited plans for refinancing 728 million dollars' worth of treasury certificates maturing on Friday, Dec. 15.

SECRETARY HENRY MORGENTHAU.

Heralded as the first test of the government's credit since President Roosevelt began depreciating the dollar, the refinancing as outlined by Secretary Morgenthau gave little indication of the coming fiscal policies.

Secretary Morgenthau announced that beginning tomorrow the treasury will offer for sale 950 million dollars of one year certificates bearing 2¼ per cent interest. This borrowing will give the treasury enough money to pay off its maturing obligations on Dec. 15 and to meet a 114 million dollar interest installment on the public debt.

See U. S. Credit Not Tested.

The refinancing plan was accepted here as one which is noncommittal and not apt to produce a real test of the government's credit. The new treasury certificates are of sufficiently short maturity and bear a high enough interest rate to make them attractive to banks even in the face of the dollar depreciation, it was said.

The increase in the interest rate which the treasury felt it had to offer was the outstanding reflection of the monetary policy on this financing. Whereas it is now seeking to borrow 950 million for one year at 2¼ per cent, the treasury in September borrowed 175 millions for nine months at one quarter of 1 per cent and in August paid only 1⅝ per cent in borrowing 354 millions for a year.

Secretary Morgenthau today left the government's gold price and the domestic value of the dollar unchanged for the sixth consecutive day. Domestic newly mined gold is being purchased at $34.01 an ounce, making the gold value of the dollar at home 60.77 cents.

No Change in Gold Policy.

President Roosevelt called both Secretary Morgenthau and Gov. George L. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve bank to the White House this afternoon to post him on the most recent developments in the gold program. After the conference Secretary Morgenthau said there would be no change in policy.

A lull in the dollar depreciation is expected here, however, until the treasury has sold the full 950 million dollars of its new certificates. In the past increases in the gold price have caused government securities to sink in value.

By borrowing only 108 million dollars in excess of what is needed to meet the 728 million dollars maturities and the 114 million dollar interest payment, Secretary Morgenthau committed the government to operating for the next few months on its present cash balance which amounts to one billion 33 million dollars.

Bond Conversion Not Offered.

Two minor features of the new certificate issue were considered of lesser importance. Contrary to earlier plans the treasury did not offer to exchange any of the fourth liberty loan bonds, which it is now seeking to convert, for the new issue. The one year certificates are of such short maturity as to make exchanges of them for the bonds of little aid as a conversion move, it was explained.

The second shift was that, contrary to the practice inaugurated and followed by Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin, Acting Secretary Morgenthau made no special bid for popular subscriptions by offering to make preferred allotments to small purchasers.

Trade Gains Hint Enough U. S. Priming

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Extraordinarily cheerful business news since the first of the week leads logically to this question:

"Has not the government's priming program gone far enough?"

Montgomery Ward & Co. discloses that a profitable third quarter has been followed by even better business, its November sales being nearly 26 per cent better than a year ago, the best showing since the depression began.

Woolworth, Kresge, and other chain store organizations report sales exceeding those of a year ago.

Dividend resumptions and extra dividends have come in bunches this week to help pep up a volume of Christmas buying that retail stores report was already surprisingly good.

The Burlington railroad resumes payments after a lapse of a year and a half. The Santa Fé pays more on its preferred than was expected, and reports the payment earned by a good margin. Several important tobacco companies announce extras. Wilson & Co. resumes preferred dividends for the first time in three years.

* *

Meanwhile the outlook for a revival of the bond business gets a few shades better on well authenticated reports from Washington that the administration is becoming receptive to ideas for amending the securities act to make it workable.

Railroad business continues above year ago levels and the output of electricity is well above 1932 output.

Third quarter earnings of 205 important companies were 129 million dollars, compared with a deficit of nearly 12 millions for the same companies in the third quarter of 1932.

Employment and pay rolls have risen substantially. Yesterday three of Chicago's biggest packing companies announced pay increases for workers and similar action was taken in other cities.

* *

This is the sort of news that the nation has been thirsting for since 1929. It is improvement on such a broad scale that its importance cannot be minimized.

It substantiates the assertion heard frequently in business and financial circles of late that the ground has been laid for business recovery on a broad scale and that continuation of such recovery is possible if the proper sort of encouragement is forthcoming from the government.

The question of what is the proper sort of encouragement therefore becomes of prime importance.

Will employment, sales and profits be best advanced by a continuation of the government priming process, which means the expenditure of more billions and increased taxes, or will recovery be better expedited by a tapering off of government expenditures, balancing the budget and stabilization of the currency?

* *

Yesterday the treasury came out with its plan for the Dec. 15 refinancing. It offers one year bonds at 2¼ per cent interest. Last December when the government went into the market with on year bonds it was able to borrow the money at only ¾ of 1 per cent interest.

Does this mean that government credit has been impaired by the unbalanced budget, the cheapening of the dollar and the vast spending and borrowing program?

Possibly not. But the fact remains that the treasury now has to pay nearly three times as high an interest rate as it paid a year ago. And it is important to note, also, that the treasury suspected that it could not successfully market another long term issue after the failure of the October conversion plan and had to resort to a short term operation.

The federal budget is already 772 million dollars out of balance since June 30 and the big story has yet to come, for the public works administration has only begun to spend the three billions that has practically all been allotted and the RFC is slated to appear at the door of the treasury one of these days to get the billion that it needs to buy preferred stock of open banks and the other billion that it says it will lend to closed banks.

* *

Who is to provide the money that the government thus promises to spend? Tax rates are to be raised, but they can't be raised that much. There must be more heavy borrowing by the treasury.

If the business man and the investor could see bottom the recent favorable business developments might grow into recovery on a broad scale. If there is to be further cheapening of the dollar, and a tremendous increase in the federal deficit, however, the nice little boomlet that came out of its hole the other day may see its shadow and crawl back in again.

Burlington Road Again to Pay Dividends

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 6—Numerous extra distributions, several enlarged dividends and resumption of payments by a few corporations, announced today, helped to swell the growing list of organizations which have favored stockholders in the last two months. Among the board decisions today were three tobacco and snuff manufacturers and one railroad.

Directors of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company offered a distribution of $3 a share on the capital stock, the first since June, 1932, when a similar payment was made.

Will Help Owner Roads.

Payment by Burlington will swell the income of Northern Pacific and Great Northern by more than $2,400,000 each. Between them the last two named carriers own approximately 97 per cent of Burlington stock or 829,337 shares each.

A special dividend of $5 a share and the regular quarterly payment of $1.10 were announced on the common stock of the United States Tobacco Company, both payable Jan. 2 to holders of record Dec. 18.

The George W. Helme Company declared an extra dividend of $2 a share on the common stock in addition to the regularly quarterly of $1.25 on that issue and $1.75 on the preferred. Similar dividends have been declared at the end of each year since 1928.

The American Snuff Co. declared an extra dividend of 25 cents on common and regular quarterly dividends of 75 cents on common and $1.50 on preferred, all payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 14. At this time last year an extra dividend of 25 cents was declared on common.

Homestake Mining Votes Extra.

The Homestake Mining company declared an extra dividend of $1 and the regular monthly dividend of $1, both payable Dec. 23 to stock of record Dec. 20. In September, October and November extra dividends of $1 each were declared in addition to the regular monthly payment of $1 a share.

The Dictaphone corporation joined the list of companies resuming dividends. Its directors declared a payment of 25 cents on the common, payable Dec. 21 to shares of record Dec. 11, the first since Mar. 1, 1932, when a similar amount was disbursed.

The William Filene's Sons company, of Boston, voted a 10 cent extra dividend on the common shares in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 20 cents, both payable Jan. 2 to holdings of record Dec. 20.

Tide Water Associated Oil company declared a dividend of $1.50 a share on the preferred stock in payment of the dividend due April 1, 1933, since which time dividends have been omitted. Tide Water Oil company, 98 per cent owned by Tide Water Associated, declared a dividend of $1 a share on the common.

TREASURY TURMOIL LOOMS AGAIN; SHIFT IN REVENUE BUREAU

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6—(AP)—An order by Acting Secretary Morgenthau removing the internal revenue bureau from the authority of Assistant Secretary Thomas Hewes has created a breach at the treasury which some officials believe may lead to Hewes' resignation.

Only the personal intervention of President Roosevelt was regarded by treasury officials as offering an opportunity for renewed harmony. Even then, some believed it was doubtful Hewes would remain with the treasury's greatest bureau removed from his command.

Morgenthau's order instructed the internal revenue bureau to report henceforth to the secretary of the treasury. This would mean to him as acting secretary.

Since this ruling, it was reported that Morgenthau was contemplating a second order which would remove the secret service from Hewes' supervision.

Herbert Gaston, assistant to Morgenthau, who was brought to the treasury from the farm credit administration, told reporters the internal revenue order was issued to enable Morgenthau to become more "familiar" with the tax bureau.

Remington Rand Reports Decided Rise in Profits

Earnings of Remington-Rand, Inc., for October and November were greater than those for the entire quarter ended Sept. 30, according to preliminary figures. Total sales last month exceeded those of October. Net profits for the quarter ended Sept. 30 were $203,656, equal to $1.30 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock.

Montgomery Ward Sales Best of Year

The business of Montgomery Ward & Co. continued to increase sharply in November, according to the monthly sales report issued last night. Sales were the highest for any month since December, 1931, and were 25.32 per cent ahead of last year, the best comparative showing made this year.

The November sales report shows that the favorable showing made by the company in the 3 months ended Oct. 31 was no flash in the pan. The quarterly report issued Tuesday showed profit of more than $4,000,000 for the period, which erased the deficits incurred in the preceding two quarters.

Showing Best of Year.

November gross sales were $20,742,133 as compared with $16,551,568 in the comparable month of 1932. The 25.32 per cent improvement over the year ago business was the sharpest in any month of 1933. August, which made the next best showing with total sales of $15,657,274, was 20.5 per cent above the 1932 volume.

The November business brought sales for the first 10 months of the year to $157,798,378 as compared with $146,986,052 in the corresponding 1932 period, an increase of $10,812,236, or 7.36 per cent.

Mail Order Store Sales Rise.

The better showing is attributable to the improvement in both the mail order and retail store fields judging from facts set forth in the quarterly report previously issued.

The better profit record is in a large measure due to the weeding out and relocation of unprofitable units in the company's chain store system. President Sewell L. Avery said in his report that the remodeling and relocations had brought satisfactory sales increases in each instance.

Food Index Up to $1.94, Against $1.67 a Year Ago

The Dun & Bradstreet food index rose 1 cent to $1.94 in the week ended Dec. 5. On Nov. 7 the level was $1.93 and a year ago $1.67.

MAIL QUIZ BARES SHIP LINES' DRIVE FOR U. S. POSTS

Hold Up Sales of Federal Vessels

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—Evidence that pressure was exerted by certain steamship interests to bring about the appointment of J. Caldwell Jenkins, officer of the Black Diamond Steamship lines, as president of the Merchant Fleet corporation, was developed today at the hearing of the senate committee investigating ocean and air mail contracts.

POSTMASTER JAMES FARLEY.

It was brought out that steamship interests conducted a campaign among chambers of commerce, by appeals to prominent persons and by letters and personal contact with members of congress to secure the appointment of Jenkins. It also was developed that an effort was made to bring about the appointment of Eugene R. White, chief of the foreign mail division in the postoffice department, as second assistant postmaster general.

Evidence Involves Officials.

The evidence was that both Jenkins and White were not out of harmony with the existing ocean mail laws. It was shown that White had written a number of letters or statements, approving the ocean mail system, which documents, it was testified, were signed "without question" by Postmaster General Farley.

It was also shown that a representative of one shipping line had prepared at least one memorandum which was identical to a recommendation signed by former Postmaster General Brown.

Likewise it was disclosed that A. Lane Cricher, who was chief of the transportation division of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce in the department of commerce, has sought employment by shipping interests while "under furlough" under the provisions of the economy act. Cricher was a nephew of the late Secretary of Labor Doak and in addition to his duties in the department of commerce was also secretary of the interdepartmental board which passed on ocean mail contracts.

Hold Up Ship Deliveries.

As the result of the present inquiry, the Roosevelt administration is holding up the delivery of transoceanic vessels sold in the closing weeks of the Hoover administration to gulf steamship interests. No deliveries will be made until thorough investigation of the shipping situation is concluded.

Senator Black, chairman of the investigating committee, said every steamship line, or interest, in the country would be investigated by the committee and every phase of the ocean and air mail situation delved into. The committee is also bringing out the facts involving sales and operations of ships by the shipping board since 1924, when the so-called "operating agreement," subsequently superseded by the "lump sum" system, was started.

It was shown today that the Tampa

Demand Grain Boards Admit Farm 'Co-ops'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—Amendment of the pending grain exchange code to force admission of farm cooperatives to full membership on all exchanges has been recommended to Farm Administrator George N. Peek by Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the grain futures administration, it was learned today.

Dr. Duvel's recommendation was submitted in the form of a supplementary brief for the record of the recent AAA hearings on the code submitted by the exchanges. During the hearings, counsel for the Farmers' National Grain corporation, largest farm coöperative, reopened its old controversy with the Chicago board of trade with a demand that the exchanges be required, under the code, to admit cooperative organizations to all trading privileges, including clearing house facilities.

Peek's Approval Likely.

It was considered likely that Administrator Peek, who has final authority over the grain code, will abide by Dr. Duvel's recommendation, although the administrator would not comment today.

At the same time, it was strongly indicated that Mr. Peek will not agree to the drastic regulatory amendments proposed at the hearings by various radical members of the AAA staff.

The administrator said today he feels the exchanges have come a long way voluntarily in the code which they have offered for federal approval. He is inclined, he indicated, to give them an opportunity for self-government under the code as now drawn. If they fail to regulate the grain markets properly through self-government, then he will be prepared to invoke more drastic regulation.

Duvel Explains Proposal.

In supporting the amendment to the exchange code proposed by the Farmers' National Dr. Duvel declared he believed admission of coöperatives to full trading privileges was contemplated under the grain futures act.

"This is as it should be, and in my judgment as congress intended by language contained in the grain futures act," he stated. "Exchanges require that all trades be cleared and clearing of trades, therefore, is certainly one of the privileges."

Dr. Duvel added that recognition of farm coöperatives by federal credit organizations should be "prima facie" evidence of their lawful organization under the Capper-Volstead act."

DOLLAR CLOSES HIGHER AFTER ERRATIC DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 6.—The dollar wavered about in the foreign exchange markets today, moved apparently by diverse influences but keeping within a comparatively narrow range.

It dropped about one-third of a cent in terms of French francs soon after the opening but soon recovered to 6.80, up 46 points from last night's close. Then it eased off to 3.70, up 31 points.

The French franc opened strong, rising to 6.22 cents and to 83 francs to the pound, but soon eased off 6.15 cents, where it closed, off 3 points. Sterling weakened during most of the day dropping 6 cents to 5¾.

Owing principally to the sharp advance of the franc against the pound yesterday, the price of gold in London was advanced to 126 shillings 11 pence, up 1 shilling, 6 pence from yesterday. This was equivalent to $32.74, an advance of 71 cents. The Canadian dollar weakened ⅜ of a cent to $1.01⅛.

18,000 WORKERS IN STOCKYARDS GET PAY BOOST

Three Big Plants Raise Scale.

Wage increases affecting about 18,000 employés at the Chicago stock yards were announced yesterday by the Big Three packing companies, Swift & Co., Armour & Co., and Wilson & Co.

All are raising the pay of unskilled workers by 4 cents an hour and are making pay adjustments for other male workers.

Officials of the companies expressed the hope that the pay increases would end strike talk heard in the yards recently.

It was emphasized by officials of all three packing companies that the increases were the result of conferences between executives of the companies and representatives of the workers.

Both Sides Favor Increase.

Both groups voted in favor of the pay advances announced. Spokesmen for the companies said that they are not yet able to determine what the total increases will mean on an annual basis.

Similar increases were announced at plants in the principal market centers outside Chicago.

After the meeting yesterday Swift & Co. issued the following statement:

"Adjustments in wage rates were announced today by Swift & Co. for its Chicago plant. The adjustments will become effective as of Dec. 3 and they establish the unskilled male labor rate at 46½ cents an hour instead of 42½ cents an hour, with a corresponding adjustment for other male wage rates.

The Armour statement was as follows:

"Effective Dec. 1 the wages of unskilled employés in the Chicago plant will be increased four cents per hour and there will be a corresponding adjustment in the wages of all other men plant employés. The wages of women employés were increased Aug. 1 to a much greater extent than were the rates of the men. Therefore, the women's rates will not be increased.

Proposed at Conference.

"The increase in the rates of the men is the result of suggestions made by the employés' representatives and negotiations carried on with the plant conference board. Their views have been solicited in connection with the preparation of a permanent labor code for the packing industry. Adoption of a permanent code has been delayed, but it has been the policy of Armour & Co. to give weight to the recommendations of the conference board and definite action has been taken without waiting for a permanent code."

Wilson & Co. officials met with the joint representation committee yesterday at which the 4 cent an hour increase was voted for the unskilled workers.

Swift & Co. has about 5,000 employés affected by the wage increase, Armour, over 8,000, and Wilson, 4,000.

A strike of 8,000 employés of the Union Stock Yard and Transit company was settled last Wednesday when the workers were granted a 10 per cent wage increase.

New York, Dec. 6.—Domestic corporation bonds on the stock exchange advanced today for the sixth consecutive trading period, as the dollar swung higher, but United States government bonds were generally weak, closing unchanged to 20-32ds point off. Foreign loans showed further improvement.

Domestic corporation issues were especially active and all classifications closed higher on the day.

List of Active Rails.

In the rails, notably active and strong issues included the obligations of Baltimore and Ohio, Central Pacific, Chicago and North Western, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Louisville and Nashville, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, and the Wabash. A long list of industrial and utility issues gained a point or more in brisk dealings.

Germans bonds as a group were in the forefront of the gains in the foreign bonds list today as a total of fourteen German corporation with dollar bonds outstanding plan to convert these bonds into mark bonds where they are held by German nationals

Argentines Rise Again.

Argentine government loans again made important recoveries, gaining more than a point on the average for the day. French government 7s were marked up 1½ points, but other issues of the French group were inclined to be easier. British, Dutch East Indies, and Swiss government bonds showed minor variations in prices.

Domestic bonds on the Curb exchange extended their recoveries with the principal gains, amounting to 1 to more than 3 points.

NEW ISSUES.

A syndicate headed by Blyth & Co. is offering $500,000 City of Des Moines, Iowa, 5 per cent public improvement bonds maturing serially Dec. 1, 1935 to 1953.

General Foods.

Investors' Guide: I am the owner of a number of shares of General Foods. Will you kindly give me your opinion regarding them?—D. K. L.

Answer: General Foods corporation, originally established in 1895, has by acquisition of well intrenched noncompetitive lines during the last few years grown to be one of the largest packaged goods manufacturers in the country. It produces about 80 lines of goods, of which about 20 are nationally advertised brands, which it distributes through more than 400,000 retail outlets, including practically every major chain store.

During each of the first three quarters of 1933 unit sales exceeded those of the corresponding 1932 quarter. Lower prices, however, mitigated against a corresponding increase in net income, except in the third quarter, when net income equaled 62 cents a share, against 47 cents per share for the corresponding 1932 period. Net for the first nine months equaled $1.82 per share, against $1.97 for the first nine months of 1932.

Effective advertising enabled the company to maintain profits at a comparatively high level through the depression years to 1932. In that year, however, loss of volume, price reductions, inventory losses, and research expenses resulted in a sharp drop. Here is the four year record of earnings:

	Sales.	Net income.	Per share.
1932	*	$10,548,000	$2.01
1931	*	17,616,000	3.34
1930	$117,464,000	19,086,000	3.63
1929	128,037,000	19,422,000	3.68

*Not reported.

On Dec. 31, 1932, cash and marketable securities alone were well in excess of 10 million dollars. Total current liabilities amounted to $5,224,000. There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists solely of 5,251,468 shares of no par common stock. Effective Aug. 1, 1933, the quarterly dividend basis was raised from 40 to 45 cents a share.

The company has devoted considerable effort to the "Birdseye" process of quick freezing for foods. This has not yet been established on a profitable basis, but may later prove to be a source of substantial profits.

Atchison Bonds.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me an opinion on Atchison 4s.—S. R. C.

Answer: Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway company is one of the leading American roads, operating more than 13,000 miles of track west of the Mississippi river. Capitalization is modest, current position is strong, and earnings record impressive. Loss for the first nine months of 1933 was small and the company operated at a profit during all the depression years through 1932. These factors entitle the bonds, all issues, to a sound rating.

HOLDS FLAWS IN SECURITIES LAW DEFEAT PURPOSE

Accountant Sees Failure to Aid Investor.

Some of the provisions of the new federal securities act are so stringent that they may well defeat the provisions of the law—protection for the public in the buying of securities. This statement was made last night by George O. May, a well known authority on accounting of New York, in an address before members of the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants at the Union League club.

While asserting that the law has many merits, he said the wisdom of some of its provisions—notably those relating to the liability of underwriters, directors, officers, and experts—is open to serious question in the minds of those genuinely interested in the protection of investors.

Mr. May recalled the prohibition law, saying that as more teeth were put into its enforcement the more difficult it became to make citizens comply with it.

Cites Absurdities in Act.

"I cannot believe that a law is just, or can long be maintained in effect, which deliberately contemplates the possibility that a purchaser may recover from a person from whom he has not bought, in respect of a statement which at the time of purchase he had not read, contained in a document which he did not know to exist, a sum which is not to be measured by injury resulting from falsity in such statement," Mr. May said.

"Yet under the security act as it stands, once a material misstatement or omission is proved, it is no defense to show that the plaintiff had no knowledge of the statement in question or of the document in which it was contained, or that the fall in the value of the security which he purchased is due, not to the misstatement or omission complained of, but to quite different causes, such as the natural progress of invention, or even fire or earthquake."

Points to Acountants' Risks.

The speaker stressed particularly the risk the accountant takes in participating in the preparation of the information required under the act. He said the compensation which accountants receive for their work is in no way commensurate with the risk they are forced to undertake from future actions.

"Let me emphasize," Mr. May continued, "that in order to be subjected to liability it is not necessary that the accountant should have been fraudulent, or even reckless or incompetent. He may be held liable merely because of an error of judgment regarding the extent of the examination which he ought to make, or through honest error or oversight on the part of a competent and ordinarily reliable subordinate. And if he is held liable in an important case, the cost to him may easily equal the savings of his whole professional career."

O'CONNOR TELLS STATUS OF ALL NATIONAL BANKS

564 Yet Unlicensed; 377 Have Plans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—Nearly 61 per cent of all national banks in the country which were unlicensed on March 16, following the bank holiday, had been licensed, chartered, absorbed, or placed in receivership by Dec. 1, Controller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor said today.

Of the national institutions remaining unlicensed at the close of business Nov. 30 66.8 per cent had received approved reorganization plans. A total of 29.5 per cent of the plans were disapproved and 3.7 per cent had organization plans under consideration.

Shows Status of Banks.

Licensed national banks numbered 4,518 on March 15, while there were 1,446 unlicensed national institutions on March 16. On Nov. 30 882 of the unlicensed banks had been licensed, chartered, absorbed, or placed in receivership, while 564 remain unlicensed. Of the unlicensed institutions 377 had reorganization plans approved, 166 had reorganization plans disapproved, and 31 had reorganization plans under consideration.

Deposits in the 564 unlicensed national banks totaled $483,593,000 frozen and $35,648,000 unrestricted. The 377 banks with approved reorganization plans had $378,479,000 frozen and $27,785,000 unrestricted deposits. The 166 banks with disapproved plans had $81,841,000 frozen and $5,836,000 unrestricted deposits, and the twenty-one with plans under consideration had $23,273,000 frozen and $2,027,000 unrestricted deposits.

Data for States Given.

There were five states—Connecticut, Mississippi, Nevada, Rhode Island, and Wyoming—which did not have any unlicensed national banks on Dec. 1. Six other states—Arizona, Delaware, Idaho, New Mexico, South Carolina, and Utah—had only one unlicensed national bank each. There were only ten states which had fifteen or more unlicensed national banks at the close of November. They were Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin.

In all except fourteen states reorganization plans for every unlicensed national bank had either been approved or disapproved by Dec. 1. In ten of these states there was only one national bank with a reorganization plan neither approved nor disapproved.

WALGREEN SALES IN YEAR TO DATE ABOVE 1932 MARK

The Walgreen company yesterday reported that sales for November were 11.5 per cent ahead of the total for the same month last year and that for the first time this year total sales for the year to date are running ahead of the 1932 volume.

November was the sixth consecutive month in which an increase was shown over the preceding month. The November volume amounted to $3,871,255, as compared with $3,471,767 in November, 1932, an increase of $399,488.

For the first eleven months of 1933 sales totaled $42,094,383, compared with $41,731,785 in the like period of last year. This was an increase of $362,598, or .9 per cent.

The company had 474 stores in operation on Nov. 30, as compared with 470 at the end of November last year.

WESTERN RAIL WORKERS TO ASK 20 PCT. PAY RAISE

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Representatives of allied independent railroad labor organizations, said to comprise 78,000 shop craft employés of railroads west of Chicago, voted in an annual meeting here today to request a 20 per cent increase in wages.

The request for the increase will be made after Feb. 15, H. C. Kinney, Sacramento, Cal., president, said. Similar requests are expected to be made, Kinney said, by shop craft organizations on eastern and southern railroads.

GENERAL MOTORS OVERSEAS SALES SHOW BIG GAINS

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Overseas car and truck sales of General Motors Corporation in November totaled 10,280 units, an increase of 90 per cent over 1932, 70 per cent over 1931, and 24 per cent over 1930.

Sales for the first eleven months of 1933 were 54 per cent above volume for the corresponding period of last year and more than 50 per cent above the total for the entire year 1932.

ALDRICH CHARGES SECURITIES ACT CRIPPLES CREDIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—The new securities act is crippling the credit machinery of the nation and should be modified, Winthrop W. Aldrich, head of the Chase National bank, declared before the senate banking and currency committee today. He also criticized bank deposit insurance as an invitation to bad banking.

While he had no objection to the publicity and complete disclosure features of the securities act, Mr. Aldrich said a "genuine source of apprehension" exists among bankers, security issuing houses and business corporations because of uncertainty over the liability under the act.

"The ultimate success of the present reconstruction program will depend upon a revival of sound capital market. Practically all financing of new construction is today being done by the government. That is not healthy and it is a reflection of emotional paralysis or stagnation which affects the public security market.

Sound Capital Market Needed.

"We shall not have normal conditions in this country until enterprise can once again feel the stimulation of a capital market through which the public is willing to invest its savings in private undertakings. Experience shows that business revival in this country usually leans heavily upon construction activities."

"The present virtual stagnation in the long term capital market is partly, but not wholly, due to anxiety arising from the new securities act. I am compelled, however, to testify that since the passage of the securities act of 1933 serious apprehension has arisen in responsible quarters as to whether the actual effect of the act may not be to impede a revival of a normal capital market."

Chairman Fletcher of the senate committee said he understood that Roosevelt was inclined to modify the act, but it was made known at the White House today that no definite decision would be made until the subject received thorough study.

Opposes Deposit Guaranty.

Mr. Aldrich was equally direct in his criticism of the deposit guaranty provision of the banking act of 1933.

"There is very serious danger," he said, "that the deposit guaranty provisions of the act, as far as the permanent form of guaranty is concerned, will tend to drive banks out of the federal reserve system.

"The goal at which legislators and everybody else were aiming was to create a banking system so strong that deposit insurance in any form would be unnecessary. Dissemination of sound banking practices is more important than insurance of deposits."

Unlimited deposit liability, Mr. Aldrich asserted, "will breed distrust in the strong banks, create fears among the holders of bank shares, prevent the flow of new capital into banking and contribute to general financial distrust. I can not emphasize this too strongly. It encourages bad banking."

Long Denies McCain Aided Him.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long today denied that C. S. McCain, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank, had "given any assistance to the fight made by myself and several other senators against the Glass banking bill in the early part of the year." The statement was in reply to charges by Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] at the senate banking inquiry yesterday in Washington that McCain had been in constant communication with Senator Long during the fight against the banking bill.

STOCKS REVERT TO FORMER RUT; PRICES SEESAW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 6.—One day's hullabaloo sufficed to exhaust the stock trading community's enthusiasm over repeal, and today found the market languishing a new in the rut it had been following for weeks.

Sales volume fell off sharply, price swings narrowed throughout the list and that small element of the so-called public that allowed itself to be enticed from the sidelines by yesterday's demonstration cashed in on their profits and held aloof once more.

About the only attempt at sustained buying evidenced by the day's proceedings appeared in the railroad and building groups, and the net gains there were generally small. The liquor, mining, and motor shares finished below their previous closing levels in the main, and the utilities and oils were no better than irregular. Food issues got nowhere.

Trade News Is Cheerful.

Most of the important trade news of the day was "with" those committed to the constructive side. A sizeable list of dividend extras and increases pointed to growing confidence in the future of business, but the average trader has sunk so deeply in the mulligrubs here in these last six or eight weeks that nothing seems to move him.

Brokerage house comment indicated that some store was being placed on tonight's speech of President Roosevelt, although last week's dispatches from Warm Springs said that the address would be of a religious nature, being delivered to a church organization, and that so far as was known the President had no intention of touching on either politics or monetary affairs.

Railroad Shares Firmer.

Buying of railroad shares was prompted in some measure by the resumption of dividends by the Burlington. The declaration, coming on top of yesterday's news of Atchison's payment on its preferred, made the carrier group the most attractive of the list for the time being. New York Central, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, and Atchison were favorites, and most of them rose to new highs for the movement before being slowed down anew by realizing sales.

Declaration of a $5 a share extra by the United States Tobacco company was celebrated by a spurt of 6 points in the common shares of this corporation. G. W. Helme and American Snuff shares also perked up on news of dividend extras.

The failure of the RFC to make any change in the gold price had an adverse effect on the gold mining shares, Alaska-Juneau, McIntyre, and Dome mines reacting to easier levels.

BUTTER AND EGGS HIGHER

A somewhat firmer tone prevailed in butter and egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, butter gaining ⅛@½c and eggs ¼c.

While new selling was active at times in eggs and profit taking sales appeared on the advance the market maintained most of the day's upturn at the close. The unusually heavy deliveries of Tuesday did not bring out the heavy liquidation which had been expected in some quarters.

Butter was very dull. Offerings were light and a few sales sufficed to bring the gains. The four markets again showed a net increase in holdings and production was reported 4 per cent greater than last year and 5 per cent above the previous week.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Some sizeable bids were placed today for print cloths at a decline of ⅟₁₆c for delivery next year. Small sales of filling in lots were made. Quilt list prices were reduced 23 per cent by one large factory. The largest rayon producer began taking January-February orders at unchanged prices. Silk goods are firm but in moderate demand. Wool blankets are well under order for the next six weeks.

350 MILLION U. S. CORN-HOG PLAN GETS UNDER WAY

Control Payments Go to Farmers; Cost on Public.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today launched the latest new deal experiment in farm relief—a 350 million dollar campaign to control the production of corn and hogs by paying federal bounties to the producer.

The 350 million dollars, estimated cost of the program, will be provided in processing taxes on the citizenry in general and will be turned over to farmers who sign up with the government to reduce their acreage of corn and production of hogs in 1934.

Details of the contract which farmers will be asked to sign were completed today and the blank forms are being distributed as rapidly as possible throughout the country, Mr. Wallace stated.

Print 1,500,000 Contracts.

Although officials of the AAA would not predict how many farmers may sign, initial orders for 1,500,000 contract blanks have been placed with the government printing office, it was said.

Benefit payments on corn, under the program, will be at the rate of 30 cents a bushel for each bushel the farmer agrees to withhold from production in 1934. The payment will be based on the average yield of the contracted acreage during the previous five year period. One-half the payment will be made to the farmer as soon as his contract has been approved, the other half when he has fulfilled the terms of the agreement.

In return for the farmers' agreement to curtail hog production the government will pay $5 a head on 75 per cent of the average number of hogs marketed or to be marketed from litters farrowed by the producers' sows in the last two years.

Payment Divided Over Period.

Of the total $5 hog payment, $2 will be paid immediately, $1 about Nov. 15, 1934, and the remaining $2 about Feb. 1, 1935, when it is ascertained that the hog producer has complied with the agreement.

In return for the payments the corn-hog farmer must agree, under the contract, to the following measures of production control;

1. To reduce the corn acreage on his farm in 1934 by not less than 20 per cent below the average corn acreage in the two preceding years. He can, if he desires, reduce the acreage more than 20 per cent of the two year average, but benefit payments will be made only up to a 30 per cent reduction.

2. To reduce in 1934 the number of litters of pigs farrowed on the farm under contract and farrowed by hogs owned by him by not less than 25 per cent below the annual average number of litters owned by him when farrowed in the two previous years.

The producer likewise agrees not to increase his 1934 total crop plantings of commodities classed as "basic agricultural commodities" under the AAA over the peak planted in the preceding two years; nor to increase his previous two year plantings of feed crops.

PENNSY PLACES BIG RAIL ORDER WITH 4 MILLS

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 6.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad in a statement today said that the 100,000 tons of steel rails it recently announced would be purchased for delivery next year would be distributed among four steel companies.

Bethlehem will receive orders for 44,000 tons, Inland 6,000, Illinois 8,000, and Carnegie 42,000. In addition the Bethlehem company will receive an order for 350 tons of girder rails used in city streets.

Resume Chicago Trading in Grigsby-Grunow Stock

Trading in Grigsby-Grunow company stock was resumed yesterday on the Chicago exchange following a temporary suspension because of discontinuance by the company of the Chicago transfer agency. Arrangements have been made, it was announced, for the transfer and registering of the stock by the company itself. Transfers will be handled at 43 East Wacker drive. A fee of 10 cents for each certificate canceled and 40 cents for each certificate issued will be charged stockholders seeking transfer.

FAIR TRADING IN LARD, BUT PRICES MOVE DOWN

Volume of trade in lard futures was only fair yesterday, while cash business in both lard and meats was about seasonal. The south is in the market for bellies and prices for cash lots held steady at 5.50 cents. Futures were unchanged for December and 10 cents lower for the more deferred months. Lard futures were 7½ cents higher to 7½ cents lower.

GRAINS FIRMER; U. S. LOANS CUT CORN SHIPMENTS

Fractional Gains Shown in Most Cereals.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The government plan to loan 45 cents a bushel on corn in farmers' cribs has apparently become so general in the large commercial producing areas in the west that the movement to terminal markets has become a trickle. At this time of year it is not unusual for the receipts at Chicago to average over 500 cars a day. Arrivals yesterday were only 53 cars.

"Selling corn to the government," was the phrase coined by an Iowa farmer in referring to his application for a loan.

Holding back of corn on the farms has commenced to have some effect on the market, as is shown by the advance in the basis for the cash grain as compared with the December delivery. New No. 2 mixed and yellow grades in the Chicago market are selling at a substantial premium over the future, but traders differ as to whether the holding of corn off the market at this season will be a bullish or a bearish influence later.

Sees Loans a Market Factor.

In a long summary of the government's plan to make loans on corn, the Bartlett Frazier company said the immediate effect of the plan, the loan being higher than the market price, should be small receipts from first hands, and this for the time being, at least would suggest higher prices.

The present visible supply of 62,000,000 bushels, they point out, compares with a total primary movement during the crop year just closed of only 148,000,000 bushels and is by far the largest ever held at this date. It furnishes a volume sufficient to provide for all the usual industrial needs for a considerable period of time, and may meet the primary consumptive needs up to or past the time when the menace of stocks damned up on the farm will become a major price depressant.

Grain Prices Mildly Higher.

Grain markets yesterday failed to show the snap on the buying side which characterized Tuesday's trading. An early bulge was followed by a reaction when scattered longs attempted to take profits, and there was also liquidation of a line of long December wheat.

Wheat held within a range of around 1⅛ cents and closed unchanged to ¼ cent higher with December at 84⅛ cents and May at 87 to 87⅛ cents. Corn was ⅛ cent higher to ¼ cent lower with May, 52⅜ to 52⅛ cents. Numerous export bids for corn within 1½ cents a bushel of sellers' views were reported at the seaboard.

Oats finished ⅜ to ½ cent higher with May 37 cents. Rye was ¼ to ½ cent lower, May being 60⅛ cents. Barley gained ⅜ to ⅝ cent and closed with May at 47¾ cents. Winnipeg wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent higher in Canadian funds, and Liverpool gained ⅝ to ¾ cent in American funds.

U. S. LAND BANKS' LOANS ON FARMS PASS 100 MILLION

Over Half of Total Is Loaned Last Month.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—(AP)—The twelve federal land banks passed the $100,000,000 mark in farm loans during November. Loans made last month set a record monthly total at $58,352,565.

The farm credit administration today placed the November total at more than twice that of October, when only $28,091,726 was loaned. Last month's figure included $20,744,755 in loans from the land bank commissioner's fund of $200,000,000 for refinancing farm indebtedness, usually on the security of second mortgages on farms.

Regional agricultural credit corporations increased their loans by about $5,000,000 during November, most of them being emergency loans, and brought the total outstanding on Nov. 30 to $142,504,048.

Credit Banks Expand Loans.

Demand for credit through the federal intermediate credit banks continued during November, with loans and discounts totaling $39,588,219, bringing the total of loans outstanding by the credit banks on Nov. 30 to $136,861,444. This total included loans and discounts for the regional agricultural credit corporations and production credit associations.

Crop production loans declined materially from the October total of $373,601 to $146,775 last month. The total of outstanding loans by crop production loan offices on Nov. 30 was $91,824,563.

Coöperative Loans Increased.

The central bank for coöperatives loaned $6,285,860 during November and regional banks for coöperatives $330,923. Loans to coöperative marketing organizations under the agricultural marketing act were $484,011 during November, a decline from the October total of $695,093. The total to coöperatives outstanding on Nov. 30 was $141,107,605.

During Thanksgiving week the federal land bank of St. Paul broke its all time high record by lending more than a million dollars in one day.

U. S. SHIPPING POLICY ASSAILED BY BRITISH STEAMSHIP LINE HEAD

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 6.—An attack on the American shipping policy was delivered today by Alexander Shaw, chairman of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation company, at the annual shareholders' meeting.

Shaw complained of the inroads that subsidized American ships were making on a "purely British" trade route. He demanded retaliatory action by the empire governments, especially in the Australia-New Zealand trade, where, he charged, American ships were almost driving the British lines out of business.

He was angrier over the British government's "attitude of placid acquiescence" in failing to take offensive measures. He compared the American practice of shutting out all foreing shipping from the California-Hawaii trade with Britain's free and open shipping policy between Australia and New Zealand.

"It is difficult to resist the conclusion that British shipping may gradually be driven out of that purely British trade simply because its slender private resources can never compete against the unbounded wealth of foreign taxpayers," he said. "You might as well expect a fishing smack to contend with an armed cruiser as to hope that British shipping can hold out indefinitely against a formidable attack which already in some cases is exhausting its ability to live."

MAIL QUIZ BARES SHIP LINES' DRIVE FOR U. S. POSTS

Sales of Federal Built Vessels Held Up.

Interoceanic line, operating a fleet of seven ships between gulf ports, Spain, Portugal and North Africa, has received in the last four fiscal years $1,127,382 for carrying the United States mail to those parts of the world. Had the mail been carried on the poundage basis, the cost would have been about $141. The cash loss to the government under the transaction, Senator Black said, was $1,127,241.

Lykes Lines Under Question.

The hearing today was a continuation of the inquiry, started yesterday, into the operation of the various steamship lines operated out of gulf ports by the Lykes interests of New Orleans, Houston, New York and other ports. J. M. Lykes, president of the Lykes Brothers Steamship company, and also of the Lykes Brothers Ripley company, was in the witness chair most of the day.

The Tampa Interoceanic lines is a Lykes subsidiary and its vessels are Hog Island ships acquired from the shipping board constructed at a cost of $13,442,000 and sold for $880,000.

In the course of the inquiry the campaign contributions of William L. Lykes and his brother, Joseph T. Lykes, were brought into the record. Neither recalled the amount of his contribution, but William gave to the Democrats and Joseph to the Republicans. William said he received from the Democratic national committee, "a nice colored certificate," while Joseph remarked: "I got no return."

Chicago Exchange Seat Price Falls to $3,000

A membership on the Chicago Stock exchange was sold yesterday for $3,000, a decline of $7,000 from the last sale in September. There was a boom in seats in September when prices rose from $6,500 to $10,000 in three days when New York City trades became interested in Chicago memberships.

U. S. RE-ENTERS HOG MARKET TO BOLSTER PRICES

The government, working through local packing houses, again entered the hog market yesterday in the rôle of buyer to bolster sagging prices and to obtain pork for the needy. It could not be determined to what extent the government was buying, but those representing this interest in the market were the most aggressive and carried orders large enough to swing the market from a weak to slightly lower basis into a 5 to 10 cent higher position before the end of the session.

The top for the day at $3.50 remained unchanged, but the general average at $3.40 showed 5 cents gain. Opening weak to 10 cents lower, the trade suddenly turned about with the appearance of packer buyers known to be working on government orders.

Buying Distributed.

It was said that the buying orders of the government will be distributed so as not to interfere with the normal operations of packing plants or cause any unwarranted upset of market quotations. Buying is expected to expand with each dip in prices, such as the market experienced at the close last week.

Packers with government orders were paying the same prices they paid for hogs intended for the regular trade channels yesterday, mostly $3.25 to $3.50 for 160 to 220 pound butchers, but buyers pointed out that stock purchased for account of the government was free of tax. Consequently the gross price paid by the packer for hogs for his own trade is $1 above what the government invests for hogs.

It was not learned what the government was paying the packers for the job of buying the hogs or of processing the meat, as the method of handling the hog entered into the deal and bids varied a great deal.

Cattle Prices Irregular.

Another two-way market for cattle developed yesterday. Light steers and yearlings were wanted by all buyers at prices 15 to 25 cents higher, but the extreme weights and the lower grades of stock were weak to slightly lower. The strike of boners and sausage makers again worked a hardship on the inferior kinds of cattle of canner and cutter quality.

Fancy 947 pound yearlings topped the market at $6.70, the highest sale of the week. A scattering of steers and heifers, all under 1,000 pounds, sold at $6.35 to $6.50, while only a small share of the cattle exceeding 1,200 pounds in weight was eligible to more than $5.75. Several loads of 1,500 to 1,600 pound steers went at $4.25. One lot of 15 head averaging 2,030 pounds sold at $3.75, the heaviest cattle seen here in some time.

Lambs recovered some of the previous day's sharp decline, selling strong to 25 cents higher. Trading was slow on the rise, however. Packers bought best grades of wooled lambs at $7.25 and under.

U. S. Engineer Office, Rock Island, Illinois. Sealed bids, in duplicate, will be received at this office until 2:00 p. m., January 3, 1934, and then publicly opened, for furnishing all plant, labor and materials, and performing all work required for the construction of Lock No. 18, Mississippi River, approximately 7 miles upstream from Burlington, Iowa, along the Illinois shore. Further information on application.

STEEL INDUSTRY AIDED BY RAIL AND PWA BUYING

Demand from Auto Men Light, Iron Age Says.

The steel industry has been encouraged by the Pennsylvania railroad's purchase of 140,000 tons of rails and other finished products, and by the sizeable tonnage which public works continue to provide, reports the Iron Age.

On the other hand, forward buying of steel by automobile builders remains light, and automotive production has met delays.

While at the beginning of the week the schedule of steel output was reported at 28.3 per cent, compared with 26.8 per cent in the preceding week, by the American Iron and Steel institute, actual operations on which the Iron Age has information are lagging somewhat, averaging 27½ per cent, against 28 last week.

Changes by Districts.

At Pittsburgh operations rose 1 point to 22 per cent of capacity, and in eastern Pennsylvania, 1 point to 19 per cent. The rate is 2½ points less at 24 per cent in Chicago, 3 points less at 39 in Cleveland, and 13 points less at 22 in Buffalo. Elsewhere operations are practically unchanged.

Five additional open hearths are to be fired in the south, augmenting the 25 per cent of capacity production rate which has been maintained since early last month. In addition, two more southern blast furnaces have resumed operations since Dec. 1, so that the total number of active stacks is now ten, a number which has not been attained in 1933 save for a short time in August.

Structural Awards Rise.

Public works account for the greater part of the structural steel awards, which total 22,300 tons, against 12,530 tons in the preceding week. Federal construction has also increased the demand for wheelbarrows, picks, shovels and road scrapers.

The delays in automotive production are attributed to both the tool and die makers' strike and the difficulties entailed in introducing new front-end spring suspensions, according to the review.

The Iron Age finished steel composite has risen from 2.015 cents a pound to 1.026 cents and the pig iron composite from $16.61 to $16.90 a gross ton. The scrap composite is unchanged at $9.92 a ton.

COTTON PRICES LOWER; TRADERS CLOSE OUT LINES

Evening up of cotton trades preparatory to the government report on Friday is furnishing most of the business in cotton. Until there is something new to trade on operators do not expect the market to show much animation or price change of consequence. The government report is expected to show little change from recent estimates.

Prices moved within a narrow range and closed around the bottom, with losses on futures in Chicago of 5 to 10 points, with other markets off 4 to 10 points, New York being especially weak. Spot prices in New York dropped 5 points to 10.15 cents, while New Orleans was unchanged at 9.90 cents and Houston dropped 10 points to 9.80 cents and Galveston remained unchanged at the same price as Houston. BY ACTING TODAY YOU MAY LAY A DEEP, STRONG FOUNDATION FOR YOUR 1934 SUCCESS AND NOT DEPEND ON ANY TEMPORARY LIFT OVER A BAD SPOT! THIS ANNOUNCEMENT RELATES TO PERMANENT SUCCESS!

When your friends call, "Happy New Year!" is it going to be a slap in the face or a slap on the back? The time to stage a come-back is not when the ranks are so nearly filled that they go scouting for one more to fill-in. Here is an opportunity of beating the clock and the calendar on the return back to success—without waiting for the old job, position, business or profession to revive. Men here are making $100.00 and more weekly who started in past bad years—when friends told them that no business could be done. Job, the most miserable man in history, would have done much better except for his woeful friends. Here is an aggregation of men who keep their faces to the sunrise and their backs toward the shadows!

If you are acceptable in our personal interview Thursday, then during December you will be making money—and as time passes, more and more. You will enter 1934 with your chin in the air and your feet on the ground, and with a clear idea of what relationship the proverbial both ends will have to one another for the next twelve months and years beyond. You will meet men here who have learned this independence—who know that they make their own pay-raises, and always have the money—that they neither invest nor deposit, nor do they buy anything here. Their work is permanent and capable men train them. This is a good business and a big business. It is not experimental and it serves and does not exploit the public.

The men selected here must be triers and not criers, reapers and not weepers, and smart enough to learn what successful men teach them about a very successful business—rounding out its fourth consecutive record sales year. Past experience amounts to nothing here—but character and determination mean everything. Come with that mental equipment and be here any time between 9:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. Thursday, Dec. 7, Room 910, at 222 N. Wells-st.

TODAY

we will select several men over 30 years of age, married preferred, for personal contact work of an unusual nature; position perm. A pleasing personality, good character essential. Will discuss pay at personal interview. Apply 2225 W. 39th-st, 3036 N. Lincoln-av., 2656 W. North-av.

MAN—AT ONCE, 25-45, WITH TACT AND good appearance; old est. sales org., but no sales experience req. for this proposition; immediate earnings; good future; not an investment; references. 75 E. Wacker-dr., Rm 1005. Interview will be granted Thursday, 11:15 a. m. NO OTHER TIME.

MEN IF YOU ARE BROKE AND BELIEVE there isn't a decent job in these ads for you, see us and our full line of food products. Salary to cover expenses while learning. 1924 W. Madison-st.
